Death Toll In La. Train Accident Increased To 11

FIRE RAGES IN TRAIN WRECKAGE

Smoke boils up from the burning wreckage of a streamlined passenger train and a Marine troop train which collided head-on near Simmesport, La., Friday. At least 11 persons were killed and more than 60 were injured. The passenger train, Southern Belle, was bound from Kansas City to New Orleans. The collision occurred on tracks of the Texas and Pacific Railway but both trains were operated by the Kansas City Southern Railroad. (AP Wirephoto).

Simmesport, La., Aug. 11—(AP)—The death toll of the head-on collision of a Marine troop train and a passenger streamliner rose to 11 known dead today.

Eight victims of yesterday's crash, which injured at least 60 persons, had been identified before rescue workers cut through the twisted wreckage today and found three more bodies, one of a marine.

State police reported a total of five bodies were found today but later said this was incorrect and that only three bodies were cut free of the debris. Col. E. P. Roy, State Police Chief, said a miscount was made at the scene due to the condition of the bodies.

Salvage crews continued to hunt through the wreckage for the bodies of other possible dead or injured. Officials of the Kansas City Southern Railway, which operated both trains, said they believed all bodies had been recovered but did not discount the possibility there could be more.

The bodies found today were charred beyond recognition, coroner J. C. Roberts said. Lipa's body was identified by an identification tag around his neck. He had been reported dead last night by Marine Corps headquarters in Washington, D.C., but at that time his body could not be found.

The coroner said one of the other bodies was that of a Negro woman, Marcia McDonald Fenelon of Baton Rouge. He said identification was made by the woman's husband who recognized pieces of charred

Allied Warplanes Smash At Communist Supply Routes, Centers In N. Korea

U. S. Eigth Army Headquarters, Korea, Sunday, Aug. 12 — (AP) — Allied warplanes smashed again Saturday at Communist supply routes and centers in North Korea.

Hungnam, on the east coast, was hit hardest.

Only patrol action was reported along most of the battlefront.

Mud has hampered operations on the western and central sectors, but there was heavy local fighting in the east Friday for control of three hills southwest of Kansong.

Supply dumps at Hungnam were bombed by 15 Okinawa-based B-29 Superforts. The air force reported more than 2,000 one-hundred pound bombs were aimed by radar at the targets.

Fifth air force fighters and light bombers ranged over Red territory, pounding Communist vehicles and bridges. Pilots reported spotting an estimated 2,000 vehicles Friday night. Flares were dropped to illuminate the targets, but bombing results were not reported immediately.

The fifth air force estimated it had destroyed 296 Red supply vehicles and damaged 500 in the week ended Saturday. Of 2,700 sorties flown during the week, 385 were aimed at rail and highway routes.

On the eastern front, Allied troops gained control of one of three hills dominating the road north of Inje toward the Red-held port of Wonsan.

A Red counter-thrust forced the United Nations forces to withdraw from a second hill in the area. Control of a third ridgeline was in doubt early Saturday.

Allied, Communist Truce Teams Meet For One Hour And 40 Minutes, Slate Another Armistice Session For 11 A. M. Monday

By Don Huth

Munsan, Korea, Aug. 12—(AP)—Allied and Communist truce teams met for one hour and 40 minutes today on the stormy issue of a buffer zone for Korea.

The delegates adjourned at 12:40 p.m. (9:40 p.m. EST Saturday.) Results of the meeting were not disclosed. Another conference was set for 11 a.m. Monday.

They met in the shadow of harsh words traded yesterday by the chief delegates.

North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il accused the United Nations team of "deliberately covering up the absurdity and wildness of its proposal." Peiping radio quoted Nam as saying the U.N. team was demanding a buffer line "deep in our territory."

U.S. Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy accused the Reds of playing politics in refusing to discuss any other line than parallel 38.

The meeting today was the 22nd since talks opened July 10. It was the 12th given over to the problem of drawing a demilitarized zone across Korea.

Joy told the Reds they had "slammed the door on every attempt to make progress." He added:

"You did not come here to stop the fighting. You did not come here to negotiate an armistice. You came here to state your price — your political price for which you are willing to sell the people of Korea a temporary respite from pain."

Saturday's two-hour, 20-minute 21st session broke up without any agreement, except to meet again today at 11 a.m., (8 p.m., E.S.T., Saturday.)

U. S., Allies Agree On Moves In Korea

By John M. Hightower

Washington, Aug. 11—(AP)—Diplomatic Authorities said today that United States, its Allies and the U. N. Command in Korea are firmly agreed:

1. To stand fast on rejection of the Communist demand for a truce zone along the 38th parallel.

2. To continue the negotiations at Kaesong just as long as the Reds will go to the conference table.

Barring some Communist military trickery which could upset the whole situation, one highly placed informant said today that despite the increasing tensions in the Kaesong sessions: "We will not break off." He added that "of course we don't know what the other side may do."

Actually there is not much expectation here that the Reds will destroy the negotiations, though they might break them off temporarily. It is believed that communism's Soviet leaders in Moscow would like very much to end the Korean fighting provided they do not have to pay an excessive price.

Some American officials think that the Red leaders may seek to set a price of their own in connection with the Japanese peace conference at San Francisco beginning Sept. 4. There is a feeling that the Kremlin would like to wreck that conference and may try to use the Korean situation to that end.

One speculation is that they might arrange for the Korean ne-

Spaht Gains Long Support In La. Race

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 11—(AP)—Gov. Earl Long today endorsed the candidacy of Judge Carlos Spaht for governor of Louisiana and said, health permitting, he would work for election of the Spaht ticket.

The governor, who is prevented by law from succeeding himself, coupled with his announcement a review of his administration.

"I believe I have come nearer fulfilling the platform I was elected on than any other governor in the history of the state," he said.

His support for the Baton Rouge district judge, one of 10 candidates for governor in 1952, has been expected. He was known to favor Spaht.

The governor's announcement places him squarely behind one contestant, while his nephew, U. S. Sen. Russell Long (D-La), is actively backing U. S. Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans for the executive office.

In his prepared statement, Gov. Long said of Spaht:

"Several months ago, I said the man I supported for governor would be a person of unquestioned integrity, sincerity and ability. I am convinced that Judge Carlos G. Spaht of Baton Rouge, who recently announced his candidacy for governor, is such a man.

"He is one of the few men I have known that I never heard one person make an uncomplimentary remark about. I have studied carefully his background and record."

Long spoke of Spaht's loyalty

OIL TALKS NEAR CRUCIAL STAGE

British Negotiator To Make Definite Proposal To Iranian Government

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 11.—(AP)—British - Iranian oil talks neared the crucial stage tonight with the announcement by British negotiator Richard Stokes that he would present a definite proposal tomorrow for joint operation of the oil fields.

Earlier, signs were seen that a hitch had developed in the week-long negotiations. A sub-committee of negotiators, scheduled to discuss a temporary arrangement to get oil shipments resumed, postponed its meeting.

W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's special envoy who has remained aloof from developments all week, also went to see the Shah and Premier Mohammed Mossadegh in an apparent move to speed up the talks.

These developments followed the Soviet Tells Germans West Driving For War

By Thomas A. Reedy

Berlin, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Communists hoisted a new trial balloon for German unity talks today, on the eve of a giant world youth "peace march" in east Berlin. They played upon German war fears.

Moscow-trained men who run East Germany's government told newsmen the United States and its North Atlantic pact partners are driving toward war and are recruiting West Germans to hold the line.

They said tragedy can be averted for twice-beaten Germany only if the East and West Germans get together and, through unified action, force the Big Four to conclude a peace treaty.

Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl and Communist Boss Walter Unbricht, his deputy, were the star performers, repeatedly applauded by a hall full of picked Communist party workers.

Grotewohl said East Germany's militarized People's Police were not formed for military use, but "to combat spies and saboteurs."

The spade - bearded Ulbricht shrilled:

"We Germans need no army.

Quiet Check Of Academy Is Expected

Washington, Aug. 11 —(AP)—Senators said today that they expect a quiet check to be made into the situation at West Point after the present furore about moves to oust 90 cadets for cribbing has died down.

Senator Ellender (D-La.) told a newsman the checkup can be made by the official "board of visitors" to the West Point and Annapolis academies.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the senate armed services committee, in a separate interview, agreed wih Ellender that "this probably is the best way to look into the situation."

Some legislators believe the boards of visitors may be what President Truman had in mind this week when he told a news conference he was having a check-up made.

Ohers say the president was making an independent probe, with emphasis upon recruiting of athletics.

Official "boards of visitors" to the officer training centers have existed for more than 30 years, although congress spelled out their duties by law three years ago.

They consist of four senators, five house members and nine ci-

General Ike On German Vacation

Fuerstenfeldbruck, Germany, Aug. 11. —(AP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower came to Germany today for a nine-day vacation and inspection of American defense forces facing the east.

Accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, the Atlantic pact commander flew first to this big U.S. jet air base, from where Nazi fighter planes once took off to combat Allied bombers.

Five hundred members of the U.S. 36th fighter bomber wing and their families cheered the smiling, sunburned general as he stepped from his silver C-54 — the "Sunflower II."

Leaders of American air forces in Europe including Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, their commander in chief, were also on hand to greet him.

"The last thing I'm going to do is to spoil such a good show with a speech," Eisenhower said after being introduced by Col. Robert Scott, the wing commander.

"I have seen American fighting men in all parts of the globe. But I have never seen a base more attractive than this one. I am not young, but if I were I would like to be an airman on this field."

Eisenhower toured the field and chatted with several airmen.

WEST MONROE TO GET MORE WATER

Mayor Bell Says Supply To Be Increased When New Main Laid

Mayor C. C. Bell yesterday urged West Monroe citizens to be as sparing as possible in the use of water during the late afternoon hours for the duration of the current hot weather siege and promised a greater supply of water as soon as another main could be laid from the source of supply.

Most residents of West Monroe, especially in areas supplied by the branch feeder lines, have had to contend with annoying low water pressures during the late afternoon and early night.

The mayor explained that conservative use of water would help to keep the pressure up. However, he said that no one was being asked to give up daily bath nor stop using water normally used for household purposes.

Mayor Bell, being more specific, pointed out that a great deal could be done to alleviate the afternoon

Demand For Release Of Oatis Urged

Washington, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Senator Cain (R-Wash.) today urged President Truman to make "an outspoken demand" to the Czech ambassador for the release of Associated Press Correspondent William Oatis.

The ambassador, Vladimir Prochazka, arrived in this country yesterday and will present his credentials at the White House soon.

Cain wrote Mr. Truman that this arrival offers "a dramatic opportunity" for the president "to confront the Czech regime with an outspoken demand for the immediate release from a Red prison of Mr. Oatis."

"You would inspire thereby, in the heart of every American, renewed hope in the determination of our government to speak out against the growing practice of Communist traps of abusing innocent Americans as a regular feature of Red roman holidays," the letter said.

Another senator, O'Connor (D-Md)., proposed a six-step program to try to win quick freedom for the 37-year-old foreign correspondent.

However, O'Conor said in an article in the magazine, "Parade", there was no Hollywood - happy ending method by which Oatis could be freed.

The newspaperman has been imprisoned since July 4 on what O'Conor termed a "false conviction"

YOUTHS TO LEAVE FOR BOYS' STATE

Seventeen Boys From Monroe, West Monroe Will Participate In Program

Seventeen Twin City boys will leave the Monroe City Hall at 7:30 a.m. Monday for the twelfth annual Pelican Boys' State to be held on the Louisiana State University campus. They will be part of the more than sixty to represent the Fifth district of Louisiana.

Three other Monroe youths, who attended last year's session, will make the trip this year as junior counselors. Thomas Ellioff, Pat Jenevein and Tommie Trawick were honored because of their outstanding records in activities during the ten-day session last summer.

Pelican Boys' State, which is sponsored by the American Legion, will begin Monday and continue through the Aug. 21. Sam A. Orechard, Monroe, one of the two committeemen for the fifth district, pointed out that the primary object of Boys' State is to instill in each boy a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation. Each boy learns by actual participation the principals and mechanics of government. Fundamental laws of Boys' State are based on the Constitution and statutes of the State of Louisiana, he said.

Citizens of Boys' State are required to perform the same duties in city, parish and state government as the real office holders. They choose their own officials in regular election procedures, introduce and argue their own bills in a legislature and administer through their own law enforcement agencies and courts any violations of justice.

The entire program for Boys' State is non-partisan and totally free from any political propaganda. "Political" parties in Boys' State are called "Federalists" and "Nationalists." Every youth who enters Boys' State is expected to campaign for election to either state, parish or city office. Choice of the office depends entirely upon the youth. Often agreement among groups will be a determining factor in many of the elections, just as in real politics.

DATE ANNOUNCED FOR RODEO HERE

Seventh Annual Event To Be Conducted Sept. 5-9 At Gentry's Arena

The North Louisiana Rodeo Association announced plans yesterday for northeast Louisiana's seventh annual championship rodeo which will be staged at Gentry's arena in West Monroe September 5-9, inclusive.

The north Louisiana rodeo was rated tenth in the nation last year by the Rodeo Cowboy Association's scuckboard and plans for a more spectacular rodeo are now being completed.

Rodeo Producer Lynn Buetler, who produced the rodeo here last year, will also produce the fall show.

Stephen Early Succumbs To Heart Attack At Washington Hospital

Washington, Aug. 11—(AP)— Stephen T. Early, who served as press secretary to Franklin D. Roosevelt all the 12 years of the new deal, died today of a heart attack at the age of 61.

Death came to Mr. Roosevelt's good friend and close advisor at George Washington University hospital. It was announced, fittingly, through the White House where he had served until he left a few months after Mr. Roosevelt's death in 1945.

Mrs. Early and their three children, Stephen T., Helen Virginia and Thomas Augustus, were present when Early died. He had suffered one heart attack last Tuesday and another one late this morning, dying a half hour later.

President Truman, in a statement, paid tribute to Early as "a true patriot" who "was always at the side of President Roosevelt as secretary, friend and sagacious adviser."

For himself, Mr. Truman said, "I shall hold his memory in last gratitude and appreciation" for what he did to help Mr. Truman in temporary White House service and as deputy Secretary of Defense.

The president said Early gave the best years of his life to the vindictive and always just — he public service, and he summed up:

"Honest, honorable, forthright — irascible sometimes but never had vision as well as courage and a rare faculty of seeing all things in due proportion and through to their logical sequence."

Secretary of Defense Marshall said "he served his country faithfully for many years" and "we owe him a debt of gratitude for his contribution toward the unification of the armed services" when he was the no. 2 man in the Defense Department.

In recent years Early had been vice president of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Company.

He had worked hard all his life and under what he called the "hellish pressure" of his White House job during the crisis years of depression and war, he gave outward appearances of being hard-boiled.

However, his friends—and he had many among leaders of the world as well as working newspapermen—knew him as warm hearted, cooperative, and efficient. He loved to hunt and fish, play poker and golf.

While he came to be on close terms with the great and near-great, and knew as much of the "inside" of Washington as any man, he steadfastly refused to

Reds Say Allies Are Rash

Tokyo, Sunday, Aug. 12. —(AP)— Peiping radio today called Allied refusal to discuss the 38th parallel as a buffer line in Korea "rash and irresponsible."

The Chinese Red radio said North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il reproached the United Nations truce team at Saturday's Kaesong meeting for failure to make clear to the world the UN buffer line demands.

The broadcast quoted Nam, chief Red negotiator, as saying the Allied team was asserting "that its proposal was based on . . . the general area of the present battleline," though, in fact, still insisting on fixing the military demarcation line north of the 38th parallel and deep into the positions of our side."

Sees Hope That Gen. Dean Is Red Prisoner

San Francisco, Aug. 11. —(AP)— New hope that Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, missing since the early days of the Korean war, may be alive in a Red prison camp was offered today by one of a trio of top U. S. leaders back from the fighting front.

Lt. Gen. Frank W. Milburn, U. S. First corps commander who arrived here today for reassignment, said "it is very possible Dean is a prisoner of war. Several Chinese captured recently said they had seen Dean and that he is a prisoner."

The 51-year-old Dean, commander of the U. S. 24th infantry division, was last seen July 19, 1950, when he set out to round up stragglers as hard-pressed U. S. forces retreated from Taejon, Korea.

The next day, as North Korean armored forces pushed U. S. remnants back toward the Pusan beachhead, there were reports Dean had been ambushed by a Red column.

Since then, there have been periodic reports he had been slain, others that he was a Red prisoner of war.

Although freed UN prisoners reported they had been told General Dean was a Red captive, the only tangible evidence to his fate was turned up last March, when a UN graves registration team found a helmet liner believed to be Dean's in the area he disappeared.

The helmet liner, bearing the two stars of a major general and the insignia of the 24th division, was found four miles south of Taejon. The liner had been broken by a bullet.

Southern Bankers to Start Classes at L. S. U. Monday

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Bankers from nine southern states begin classes here Monday to absorb the finer points of their trade in two weeks of hard classroom study.

The "School of banking of the south," held in cooperation with Louisiana State University, is expected to attract some 80 second-year students and more than 60 newcomers.

The course, offered last year for the first time, is a postgraduate course in banking.

In addition to the two - week course, during which lecture classes lasting six and a half hours and seminars featuring outstanding bank leaders will be presented, students also are required to do correspondence work.

Banking associations of Louisiana, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississsippi, South Carolina and Tennessee are participating.

Students will begin registering here tomorrow. The school is patterned after a school of Rutgers University.

Students are carefully screened, and courses are limited to bank officers or others in executive posts.

The school was initiated in the spring of 1950 at L. S. U. with 100 students. Bank officials and L. S. U. administrations have spent much time in organizing it.

Instructors for the lecture courses are experts in their fields of banking, law and other subjects related to banking.

The program is planned as a three-year course, with subjects covered in the first and second years including basic banking and bank credit, investments, real estate financing, foreign trade, international finance, agricultural economics and agricultural credit.

The school director is Vice-President Orrin H. Swayze of the First National Bank of Jackson, Miss. The chairman of the board of Trustees is Banker Walter V. Schroeder of New Orleans. Active participants include L. S. U. Dean James B. Trant and R. Irby Didier, secretary of the Louisiana Bankers Association and registrar of the school.

Seminar speakers will range from a Mississippi editor and publisher, J. O. Emmerich of the McComb, Miss., Enterprise-Journal, who will speak on "Community Cooperation," to New York banking experts such as Dr. R. L. Reierson, vice-president of the Bankers Trust Co. of New York, who will talk on "The Field of Economics."

Blind Boy Gets Seeing-Eye Dog

Los Angeles, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Little Bobby Vargas, who is almost three, has been blind since birth but today something new and joyful was added to his life — a playful boxer puppy that will be his guide dog when they both grow up.

The unusual thing about this is that Bobby is much younger than most blind children who have been given dogs for such purpose. However, dog training experts considered the case and decided that the use of a boxer puppy with such a young child was worth the experiment.

Bobby broke out into a laugh of delight at their meeting today when "Blondie," the boxer, nuzzled his face. The puppy was given to Bobby, son of Mrs. Alice Vargas, by 12-year-old Joe Nielsen of nearby Burbank. Several weeks ago Joe announced that he wanted to give one of his eight puppies to some deserving blind child.

Va. Ship Berth Is Dangerous

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Ships anchoring in Lynnhaven Roads here will have to stay clear of berth seven — until December that is.

By that time the 40 pounds of TNT resting on the bottom will be so far down in the mud that no ship's anchor could possibly strike it.

Navy "frogmen" of an underwater demolition team accidentally dropped the explosives as they were being transferred from one boat to another. Immediately the "frogmen" sent divers down to retrieve the box but could not find it.

An ship whose anchor struck the box would probably experience a rude jolt, the navy said.

Driver Sets Accident Record, Is Arrested

Miami, Fla., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Donald L. McCarthy, 22, was arrested for reckless driving today after he set some kind of accident record.

Patrolman C. A. Mays said McCarthy really had only three accidents but that seven automobiles were damaged, including his own.

Mays reported McCarthy's car struck a parked auto and bounced it into another. A short distance on he hit a second and bounced it into a fourth.

McCarthy then pulled into a parking space, hit a fifth and rammed it into a sixth.

JAMBOREE GIVEN SHOW BY YOUTHS

Americans Delight Thousands At World Scout Meet With Scout-o-rama

Bad Ischl, Australia, Aug. 11—(AP)—American youths delighted thousands of spectators at the world boy scout jamboree today with a scout-o-rama.

Some 700 strong, they flashed tomahawks, bowie knives, bows and arrows, whips and lariats in acting out colorful scenes from Indian days to the present.

J. Harold Williams, scout executive, of Providence, R. I., directed the panorama through the periods of "Indian days," "pioneer days," "growing days" and "days of friendship."

The first episode of the scout-o-rama, named "Indian days," showed 70 boys from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri dressed as Indians taking over new territory.

After setting up tepees and totem poles, the Indian tribe whirled through an impressive war dance to heavy applause.

Lads from New England, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Ohio demonstrated "pioneer days." Pilgrims and early settlers in tricorn hats chopped down forests. Then Daniel Boone pioneers in fur hats and forty-niners in dungarees and colored shirts took over.

The wild westerners stirred the crowd with whip-cracking, rope-twirling and lassoing. This group included boys from California, Arizona and Texas, and mavericks from New Jersey.

George Thomas of Eagle Lake, Tex., got a big hand for cracking a 20-foot bull whip.

New Jersey boys also demonstrated a square dance.

Boy scouts from Europe and Arabia took part in "growing days." They carried flags of all the nations represented here into the arena and shook hands with "Uncle Sam," played Bill Zierd of Harrisburg, Pa. He is living temporarily in Heidelberg, Germany.

In the finale, named "days of friendship," 150 boys rushed into the arena and formed the Austrian flag while a band struck up this country's national anthem.

James Adams of Burbank, Calif., then gave Franz Pospischil of Vienna a United States flag.

WATER FOR THIRSTING SEAMEN

Crew members of the Italian freighter Taurinia get welcomed drinks of fresh water put aboard their ship by the Coast Guard soon after the vessel anchored at Charleston, S. C. Editorials and Comment

A Good Start

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday announced a program devised to aggressively pursue possibilities of industrial expansion of the Northeast Louisiana area, and named nine business and professional leaders as members of a committee which will direct the industrial plan here. The program includes the employment of a full-time director and is both workable and timely.

The plan has worked successfully in other cities—both larger and smaller than Monroe. The project was first suggested by Slade Brown, an executive of the Brown Paper mill and a native of Orange, Texas, where a similar plan proved most effective. The Jaycees have spent several months working out details for the local program and will "kick-off" with a banquet later this month.

The World has pointed out in previous editorials the trend toward decentralization of industry and the resultant movement toward the South. As further impetus to this trend (which will provide even more incentive to Monroe's committee), President Truman Friday ordered an "industrial dispersal policy" designed to spread out industrial plants against the danger of concentrated atomic attacks.

Southern congressmen, elated with the presidential order, said it gives the South almost the same advantages sought in amendments to the price-wage control bill. These amendments were defeated by Northern and Eastern votes recently.

The policy does not call for dispersal of existing plants, but it does say that manufacturers wanting government aid in new construction will have to go into a non-congested area safe from atomic attack if possible.

In this connection, a quote from a Washington newsletter by Howard Suttle is interesting. Suttle, who, incidentally, used to live here, says:

"The South is leading all sections of the nation in the expansion of defense plants. The expansion projected for this year and next year will run into hundreds of millions of dollars. In addition to defense expansion, the normal peacetime activities in Dixie are great. . . . Still a greater expansion is proposed."

As we have pointed out before, however, we cannot expect to sit still and have these industrial plants drop into our laps. That's where the projected Jaycee program enters the picture. They have a sound, workable plan to submit to the public. They've made a good start, but from here on out, it will depend upon you, the people of the Twin Cities. Neither the Junior Chamber of Commerce nor the committee of business and professional leaders they have chosen to comprise their industrial committee can go it alone. The cooperation of everyone is necessary if we are to make the most of the opportunity which confronts us.

Hail, Our Little League Champs!

Monroe's Little Leaguers, playing their first year, Friday night defeated Clarksdale, Miss., and thereby copped the Louisiana-Mississippi district championship. They had previously defeated Natchez and Jackson, Miss., and now will go to Houston for the Region Seven title series.

Thus another Monroe athletic team has brought honor to the Twin Cities and the boys who have worked so hard all summer as well as Recreation Director Jack Hesketh and his committee which directed local league play, deserve the plaudits of the entire community.

Little League members play baseball, these kids will have you know, and not softball. The plan was advanced because of the alarming number of youngsters who have been turning to softball during recent years, with the resultant scarcity of college and professional baseball prospects. Those of us who grew up thirty and forty years ago knew nothing but baseball when springtime rolled around; softball was called "indoor baseball' and was played in a gymnasium. But times have changed rapidly—and alarmingly to baseball people—in the early 30s. The American Legion Junior baseball program was sort of stopgap to the mushrooming softball boom, but that didn't take care of the little fellows. Judging from the success of this year's Little League project, the pendulum is swinging again toward "hard ball."

The Little League program was launched 11 years ago in Williamsport, Pa., with three four-team leagues. Figure fanatics close to the situation tell you that, including similar non-affiliated circuits, 5,000 teams played Little League baseball this summer. That means 90,000 boys, supervised one way or another by 22,000 adults, including 1,500 women.

Branch Rickey calls Little League baseball the most exciting development in his lifetime, and the Mahatma has been around for quite a spell. "It is organized baseball's salvation," says Cleveland's Hank Greenberg. "It catches kids in the formative years," asserts Hall-of-Famer George Sisler.

From the game's point of view, that is by far the most important item. A lot of veteran observers will tell you they never saw a great player who didn't monkey around with a hard ball at nine or 10. Bob Feller is a striking example.

Win or lose, it's great for the young kids. And it's quite an accomplishment, a feat of which the kids and their tutors can be proud, that we've got a championship team the first year out.

Just Another Hearing

A senate subcommittee, listening to complaints about the high cost of living, promises to conduct an investigation. That's one thing that can be depended upon—there will always be a probe, an investigation or a hearing.

What prompts this latest move is the recorded drop of 13 per cent in farm prices during 1949, and a reduction of only 4 per cent in the cost of living in the same period. Presumably the committee will seek to ascertain why the farmer had his prices cut 13 per cent and the consumer benefited only to the extent of 4 per cent.

This would seem to put the blame on that often maligned character, the middleman. He had a 13 per cent reduction in his prices but passed on only 4 per cent to the consumer. What happened to the other 9 per cent? The so-called middleman didn't put it in his pocket.

The spread was absorbed by the fancy tastes of the shopper, who has become more exacting as to what she buys and how it is processed. The nation's housewives will never go back to the old system of food purchasing. What she takes home from the food market must be carefully and attractively packaged if not frozen, and all waste removed.

Furthermore, wages of food handlers have increased, taxes and rents are higher, investments greater. There never was a period in American history when the people were better served, had more to eat made available through modern merchandizing methods which guarantee its purity and wholesomeness.

All this will be brought out in the proposed hearings, congress will get a chance to let off a little steam, and that will be that.

The Question

Most discussions of the defense of western Europe now being organized conclude with the expression that the military force which General Eisenhower is to direct is yet to be built.

How it will be composed is not clear. General Marshall says the United States will send 400,000 men as its contribution to an armed force planned to total 2,840,000 men by the end of 1952. To that end the proposed $8,500,000,000 congressional appropriation for foreign aid includes $6,300,000,000 for military assistance to western Europe.

Britain, Canada, France, Belgium, Holland, Italy, Portugal, Norway, Denmark and Luxembourg are all supposed to contribute divisions. It is hoped there will be 10 or 12 divisions from western Germany. Franco Spain boasts it can dig up 2,000,000 fighting men after the United States has rehabilitated Spain economically, but the U. S. would be expected to arm them.

Everything seems to be in the yet-to-be stage, except that this country, which was to supply 200,000 men, now seems to be down for 400,000.

Eisenhower conceivably can get a western European army whipped into shape by 1953 or 1954 if the European nations aren't too reluctant. Will Russia wait? The Soviet today has an estimated 175 trained and equipped divisions.

'Your Slip's Showing'

American women will not be too well pleased with an appraisal given them by Ann Kamstra of Amsterdam, editor of Holland's largest women's magazine. She is spending 10 weeks here, studying American women, at the invitation of the state department.

The Kamstra dame expresses amazement at the freedom of American women and the manner in which they are treated by men, especially their husbands. In Holland, she says, no women work but remain at home, where they do their husband's bidding and seem to be entirely contented.

As for marriage, the men in Holland do not first play the part of an ardent lover. If they see a woman who appeals to them an introduction is arranged through mutual friends or some club. "Then it's a click—a snap of your fingers—it's just like that," according to the Dutch editor.

Miss Kamstra hops on American women for the manner in which they dress, too, although she doesn't come right out and declare they should wear wooden shoes. "I always thought the American women would be so well groomed," she declares, "but I've never seen so many slips showing. It's not so bad in the midwest, but in the east it's terrible. Just terrible."

When women stay at home everybody is happy and there are fewer divorces, she says. By the way, why isn't she at home instead of gallivanting around in this country?

ON BROADWAY

The West Point scandal has been discussed from every angle—except one which strikes me forcibly because of the recollection of an incident I witnessed when I was a young reporter.

My "territory" was a 100-mile area in a state near Chicago.

We had an edition with special emphasis on that state, so happenings which would not otherwise get into the columns of a metropolitan daily were covered as news.

In one smallish burg, a local celebration had been whipped up. The big event was to mark the departure of a young resident for West Point.

He had been appointed by the congressman. He had passed his physical and academic exams. Now he was going forth to be a cadet, to become an officer — perhaps a general.

At the depot, a wooden shanty, the town and county officials and most of the citizens had gathered. There was a bonfire. The high school band played. The Stars and Stripes were unfurled. The officials made corny speeches. The lad was presented with brand new luggage and an engraved "toilet set," including what were then known as "military brushes."

The train puffed in. To the cheers of the assemblage the shy, embarrassed youth waved from the vestibule as it clunked out.

And he was on his way. To West Point!

What I want to demonstrate is that this cadet might have been broken.

Can you visualize what it would have meant to him to come back to that little burg, after that send-off, ignominiously cashiered?

He could never have lived it down. Whatever he would have done in the future, he would always be the fellow who was kicked out of West Point, out of the army. He would occupy about the status of an ex-convict.

Now, had he passed his exams or otherwise qualified for Siwash or even Harvard, what would be made of it?

Just another kid whose parents were able to send him to college, going there to do his four years and come out with some kind of a paper.

There would have been no excitement. It wouldnt have been news for me.

And, had he dropped out later —voluntarily or any other way— what about it? A situation in which he couldn't afford to keep up his studies. Or some boyish prank which got him booted. So what?

I should guess two-thirds of the Pointers come from little communities. Maybe most of them do not leave in the glare and blare of such elaborate ceremonials as those I have described. But entering West Point is always an event, not just another step in the conventional life of a growing young man.

Therefore, if one does not finish—even if he is flunked because he falls behind in trig or analytical chemistry—he will forever be the guy who got his big, glamorous opportunity and couldn't make good.

How much more severe will his neighbors be on him if he has been drummed out with a blue ticket?

And how far worse if he has violated that intangible, high-sounding factor called 'honor!"

There can be no arguing against the fact that military life must be based on honor and on discipline.

But there must also be a realization of human frailties under

BASCOM TIMMONS

Not since the days of the late Charles G. Dawes as the first director of the federal budget has the proposition of cutting federal expenditures by riding herd on appropriations, instead of asking for them, been so vigorously advanced as by Sen. John L. McClellan (Dem.-Ark.) in his proposal for a joint committee on the budget.

Possibly that would not have interested many readers 15 years ago when the country was embarking on its big spending spree, but that splurge has now reached a point where the outpouring of federal appropriations effects every citizen, for economists are convinced that the inflationary price rise will not end until some check is put on government spending to reduce it by at least several billion dollars.

Dawes got what he wanted by his whip cracking method of approach, which drew publicity and centered public attention on his program, which was immediately popular, because the nation was aghast at the cost of World War I and people were really paying income taxes for the first time.

Senator McClellan does not use Dawes slashing approach, but he has a persistence which will get him attention and eventually concentrate a larger measure of public attention upon his objective.

What he proposes, briefly, is a joint committee of ten members of house and senate, equally divided, who will screen appropriations through a working staff of 25 to 30 qualified, experienced people who can find out how much money is needed, as compared with how much the various divisions of government ask.

The budget bureau has over 500 employees working the year around at a cost of $3,412,000. As Senator McClellan says;

"That is the agency of the executive branch of government that asks us to make appropriations . . . along with the officials in charge of the affected departments and agencies . . . who give the testimony before the committee. . . . We have nothing as a rule, no evidence on the part of the legislative branch or on the part of the public, to refute any testimony presented to us."

He summed up a situation of which every member of congress is aware, but about which only a few profess to be alarmed. Those who have protested the slipshod methods of appropriating money, with committee members often having but a vague idea of what an appropriation is to be used for, finally decide that "nobody gives a hoot" and turn to more productive fields.

Instead of a bureau to keep government expenditures under close control by the president and the executive branch of the government, as worked out by Director (later Vice President) Dawes, the budget has literally slipped to the status of an agency to push appropriations desired by the department and agency heads. It coasted to that status during World War II, when most any expenditure was justified as contributing to defense and the winning of the war.

When Frank Pace, now secretary of war, was director of the budget, it had a resurgence of its old identity, carrying out a fairly rigid economy program, but with his promotion and the new "emergency," the bureau became a justifier, rather than a critic of most appropriation estimates.

On that record, Senator McClellan and most of the committee on expenditures in the executive departments, which he heads, have decided that what is needed is a pre-screening of the government budget by people who will be working under direction of congress, rather than the president. It ought to be an opportunity for young able graduates of such schools of training — including the armed services — as know something about government functions and are willing to learn more.

So far in this administration, attempts to cut expenditures have been a farce, and the tremendous outlays for foreign aid have so many public officials actually scared, but afraid to say so, that the McClellen proposal should have support, not only in Washington, but generally.

But Still A Gentleman—

Democratic Representative Charles B. Deane called the attention of the speaker to the Congressional Record showing that Deane had been recognized as the "gentleman from Georgia."

Deane explained that he has no objection to being recognized as a gentleman, but he emphatically did not want to be recognized as the gentleman from Georgia, because he's from North Carolina.

DOWN SOUTH

THE JIHAD INTENSIFIES

Lenin once said that if he could control a country's money he could destroy its civilization.

It would be interesting to speculate how the followers of Lenin's economic theories would proceed if they obtained control of the monetary system of a free nation like the United States of America.

The first necessary step, of course, would be to abandon all intention of making the currency vertible into gold, or any other real value, and thus leave the way clear for inflation. This would cause prices to rise and would give an excellent excuse for the control of the whole economy.

(This first step was taken in the United States in 1933.)

It would then come about that thousands of officials, dependent upon government policy for the continuation of their jobs, would be employed to control our production and exchange. All prices would be controlled and punishment would be administered to all those brave enough to follow the natural inclination to receive the market price for their goods or services.

(Heretofore, we have only seen this happen in time of war; we are now seeing it happen in time of peace.)

As inflation got more fully under way, so that prices rose beyond endurance, this would give the rulers a good opportunity to disrupt the social system by the infusion of class hatred. The whole rise in prices would be blamed upon the commercial classes, against whom could be declared a jihad, or holy war.

(We are not awake if we do not see this happening in the United States at the present time.)

Ignoring the fact that the inflation of the currency was the real cause of the excessive prices, the chief executive could announce that hereafter all prices and profits would be determined in the executive offices.

(President Truman did just that a few days ago in transmitting his mid-year economic report to congress, when he announced that profits in all lines of business must be limited to what he and the administrators he appoints regard as "fair and equitable.")

No longer, under such circumstances, would natural economic laws and the combined judgment of all the people determine the fair prices in the market, but the "omnipotent" judgment of the executive and his administrators.

There is then just one thing left that the rulers would have to watch: As the people become poorer and poorer, their anger slowly rises. It is essential that this rising anger shall be directed

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

THE LAW AND THE REDS

The law of libel is whatever a jury of 12 citizens says it is and rarely can a lawyer advise a client on the subject, in advance of publication, how a jury will react when a case may come to trial. The lawyers therefore play safe on the dictum: "When in doubt leave it out."

If journalists or radio commentators were to accept the safe advice of the lawyers, nothing could be published against Communists, traitors, gamblers, racketeers and such until after a case had been tried in a court. As a matter of fact, it is usually the proddings of courageous reporters that finally force public action against those criminals and subversives who have found sanctuary in the rules of evidence.

Judge Henry Clay Greenberg of the New York supreme court makes this point:

". . . Some newspapers announce in big type that an investigator has called someone a Communist. Then some days later, if at all, these newspapers print a reply, perhaps on an inside page. Reputations are destroyed without the grant of an adequate defense. People are tried in a diabolical sense without due process of the law. This is not true of most newspapers, but papers are in essence a daily, current, hurried reporting instrument. They have no leisure . . ."

This is nonesense. I should like to see Judge Greenberg's list of those whom the newspapers called "Communists," who were, in fact, not Communists.

Actually, the press has been more accurae, more careful, more thorough in its investigations than any other agency, including the department of justice, in ferreting out these agents of Stalin, however they may be hidden. I cite my own articles on the "Amerasia Case" which have proved to be correct and which literally took years of work, involving checks on material going back to 1934—before there was an "Amerasia" magazine.

I also cite the work of Frederick Woltman, Howard Rushmore, Victor Riesel, Frank Waldrop, Westbrook Pegler, Bert Andrews, John O'Donnell, Ogden R. Reid, Victor Lasky, Ralph De Toledano, Freda Utley, Irene Corbally Kuhn, Frank Hanighen, Frank Chorodov, and many others I could include, particularly the editors of "The Freeman' magazine. Such careful investigators have opened the door to evidence against those who sought to destroy our country in the interest of Communists.

When the judge says, "They have no leisure," he talks nonsense. Most of us who are employed to write on such matters are given ample time to do a thorough job. I have held onto one 700 word story as long as a year, checking for accuracy and finally getting the facts. I published long ago some of the data which is now being brought out at the McCarran hearings. I do not say that in self-praise or in self - defense or to prove an exception.

I simply want to make the point that judges, sitting on high benches, in black gowns, in the aura of the sacred, do not always know what they are talking about.

For instance, most of us in this profession are constantly being pestered by house-lawyers, who check on libel, because of an obiter dicta by Judge Stanley Fuld, to the effect that to call a man a Communist, unless he has declared himself, is libel per se. To this they add, "Do you know that he is a Communist now, today when you say it?"

They have some theory about a Communist party card because somewhere they read or heard that the Communist party issues such

New York Day By Day

New York — Canadian Pacific Airline executives hope to be first with transoceanic jet transports. Their forthcoming DeHavilland Comets will be based in Honolulu for the long jump to Sydney, chopping 16 hours off current U. S.-Australia timetables . . . A nattily dressed young Tarzan of Manhattan startled other midtown pets into howling more strangely than the dogs in "Dracula" the other sundown, when he strolled the hotel area exercising on leash a fair-sized baboon . . . Harold Talbot most important G. O. P. fund-raiser and heaviest bet - loser in 1948, was hospitalized on the verge of collapse when candidate Dewey lost. Now he's energetically whooping up support for the stop - Taft - draft - Ike scramble.

Cops and capers — Dagmar was lucky she lost only her license plates during the fan - mobbing that attended her autoing to the premiere of Gotham's newest Food Fair. Buttons and jewelry usually disappear in such souvenir grabs. The bulging beauty didn't realize she was law - breaking until overtaken by a motorcycler for homeward driving without numbers . . . Tom Earey, a former marine who waves vehicles on their way from a busy waterfront corner, was tossed a deck of cards by an unidentified goof who rolled past. Now he has alerted all brass - buttoned buddies to watch for a repeat performance. Cards in the pack were pornographic . . . The highway speed trapper who snared Mark Klauser, charity-working ad chief of Ohrbach's asked what Mark did for a living. Klauser too briefly declared he raised "funds and influenced public opinion." Grinning as he penned a summons, the officer neatly summarized: "This should prove we are both engaged in similar enterprises."

Sights and sounds—Connie Mack, baseball's No. 1 octogenarian, has consented to another of his infrequent showcase exposures. Will appear on the Babe Ruth Memorial program to be telecast next Thursday . . . Gertrude Lawrence's glib radioing with comic Jack Leonard via Luncheon at Sardi's was more exciting than the shows Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner have been staging . . . Tessie Veruccio has the right initials for a gal who handles fan mail for R. Q. Lewis . . . Video executives are still sizzling over the backhander subtly delivered by Jimmy Dunne. When Mrs. Arthur Murray asked him what he thought of her TV program, Jimmy needled: "I love it. Some day it might even take the place of entertainment."

Once over shaggily — Free haircuts and shaved tops in the Bowery's barber colleges are as rare as nickel hamburgers . . . Most "students" now charge 25 or 35 cents and they decide what trim fits your face and their mood . . . Only shaky neophyte tonsorial artists take a cut at volunteers without charge, since this is still considered a hazardous mission that requires equal daring on either end of the shears.

Amazing granny — Harold Stassen was cornered at a party recently when a grandma addressed him: "Mr. Stassen, I think the middle west and New England have a great deal in common, don't you? After all, many of the middle westerners originally lived in New England. The two should get together for the 1952 election. I was a very, very active supporter of Theodore Roosevelt in his campaign and I was very active in Mr. Taft's campaign." She nodded and summarily departed . . . There was only one question in Mr. Stassen's mind — which Mr. Taft?

Sharps and flats — Hollywood is strangely quiet concerning Ezio Pinza, the Met Opera and "South Pacific" star. After chartering him for a fabled fee, and flopping him in a tuneless film, it looks as if the booming basso has been pianissimo - ousted . . . Illustrator Russ Patterson's wife Ruth is more than a luscious model, according to Nancy Carroll, huckster Sky Kudner and other Ridgefield Inn diners who coaxed her into playing her latest composing, a blues ballad entitled "A Real Old - Fashioned Sunday." . . . Henry Miller, who used to bake rye loaves for Stuhmer's ovens, has kneaded a rumba out of his parlor keyboard that sounds dough - raising, "Pumpernickel Pete." . . . Three of our ten top tunes are "Because," "Because of You" and "Because of Rain" — probably "because" tin Pan Alley is trying to explain things in a cloudy world.

Fourth estate —Faye Emerson started gazette "morgue" filers dashing to city editors with recent photographs of her posed in voluminous summer coats she trunked home from Paris. But Faye insists they are more mode than maternal . . . Tom Pryor of the Times N. Y. staff isn't only vacationing in Hollywood. He's preparing to launch a new movie column . . . Al Perkins, former executive editor of "Sport," found a large dose of bitter accuracy in a typographical error in his vacation resort's journal, which described him as "ex - editor" instead of "executive." Discovered on returning to his office that he had lost his title and desk. . . . A suds brewer is crying in his lager over a N. Y. editor's makeup. His full - page beer ad this week appeared directly opposite a splash article on the ravages of alcoholism.

In Hollywood

Hollywood —(NEA) — Movies without popcorn:

The playback machine is spinning away on the big sound stage at Warners that houses the "Starlift" troupe and a trim, curvy Jane Wyman is matching her lip movements to a song she has recorded a day earlier.

Extras garbed in red robes and pajamas move around the army hospital set or lend an ear to Jane's warbling from their beds.

When the number is finished, I stroll around the stage looking at the pin-ups near each cot. Suddenly I stop in my tracks.

Some extra with a sense of humor, or maybe it's just a sense of plain adoration, has pinned busty Dagmar's picture on the wall.

Shirley Yamaguchi, the fancy dish from Japan, is emoting with Don Taylor and James Bell in "East is East." It's the scene in which Don, as an army officer, introduces Shirley, his Nippon bride to his father. Tiny Shirley goes through her Hollywood paces without a hitch and afterwards I say to her:

With all the yen you're going to make in this picture you'll probably be able to afford a swimming pool back in Tokyo, huh?"

"Oh, you make me to laugh," Shirley laughs behind her fan. "Japanese movie queen can not swim."

I don't think that Arelene Dahl will be visiting any movie sets that Shelley Winters happens to be working on in the future. Or maybe it's just my imagination.

Arlene of the flame-colored tresses is an onlooker as Shelley goes through her paces with actor Raymond Burr in UI's "Meet Danny Wilson" and the air is charged with enough female electricity to light up the Arizona wastelands.

Shelley, playing a bedroom scene in a filmy, droopy-necklined negligee, keeps peering nervously beyond the blazing studio lights toward Arlene. And everything's going wrong for Shelley.

Better Nose

She decides that she's violently ill and her wordage doesn't come from the script. She smells leaking gas and looks baffled when she's told that nobody else has whiffed it.

Then Shelley's hand goes to her head dramatically and she demands to know why it's necessary for the crew to keep the hot lights focused on her during a mere rehearsal.

I turned to watch Arlene's action, but there's no Mrs. Lex Barker around. The smart cookie has raced for the nearest exit."

Fact and fiction are merged at Fox, where Susan Hayward is playing Jane Froman in "With a Song in My Heart" and David Wayne is pretending to be Don Ross, Jane's first husband. The background is a radio station and Susan is telling David why she—I mean Jane Froman—can bring a special feeling to popular songs.

Suddenly Director Walter Lang calls out:

"Susan's lips are definitely too hot."

This, gentle readers, does not mean that Susan's pucker-uppers have become too sexy. Lang is referring to the light shining on her lipstick. A few strokes of the make-up man's brush and Susan's lips are no longer torrid.

It's women, women, women everywhere over 200 of 'em, on the set of "Westward the Women" at MGM. Pike-bonneted and long-skirted, they sit in a spacious courtroom waiting to be interviewed by John McIntryre and Robert Taylor for a westward trek to California. A sign on the wall reads:

"Ladies, Come to Calfornia. A Great Country for Marrying."

The distaff-siders knit quietly as Denise Darcel states her reasons for wishing to join the wagon train and find a husband.

When Denise has delivered her dialog, I overhear a blonde extra say:

"I wish I had lines. I'd walk right up there and tell them that I want to get married, too. And when they asked me my name, I'd say Peggy Hopkins Joyce."

Strong Man

The background is a small modiste shop and Director John Reinhardt is having his woes with young Gordon. The script calls for the moppet to attempt to break away from Judy, but Gordon doesn't know his own strength.

"Carefully, sonny-boy," yells Reinhardt as 9-year-old Gordon almost breaks Judy's arm. "She's only a grown-up woman."

temptations to the very young, and not under fire.

It is my experience that men do not attain their full mental or physical properties until they are about 25.

Of course, officers in training must be young.

Were there too much forgiveness because of youth in the service academies, there could be no discipline at all.

But the wind could be tempered, as it usually is in other walks of life, with consideration for immaturity.

Cheating need not be condoned. There are penalties which would bring home to the men the severity of their sins without marking them for the rest of their lives, excepting if they committed heinous offenses.

Haven't we all cribbed, one way or another?

Haven't many of us recalled such things as manifestations of our school years, of our callow periods?

I feel that taking all privileges away throughout their cadet lives from those who violated the code would have been severe enough; none of them could have ever forgotten it.

That would have haunted them. But they would not have been disgraced and branded, exposed to ridicule and contempt.

It would probably have made them better officers, instead of bewildered, embittered outcasts.

not against the government that is responsible for the growing misery, but at any possible resistance to its power.

Therefore the business man, the most active and coherent portion of the middle classes, must become the scapegoat. All the price rises must be blamed on him. At all costs, hatred and envy must be stimulated to destroy any opportunity he may possess to restore a free society.

(We have seen this happening in Great Britain under their socialist government for the last six years; all outbursts against low wages or high prices have wound up as complaint against profits. We may take it that Mr. Truman's "fair and equitable" statement is the cue for the beginning of an effort in this country to turn popular anger against high prices toward the business man and place the blame on the profits he makes, ignoring the fact that the whole American economy is based on the profit system.)

When this point is reached, the traditional civilization of the nation will have been destroyed.

(We had better be on guard against the fruition of all these steps in the United States and the consequent destruction of the free enterprise system which has made our nation great. It is quite clear that the socialists in this country are about to turn on the heat, that the jihad against the business man is about to be intensified.)

STOLEN DRINKS

Fresno, Calif., Aug. 11—(AP)—Officers last night arrested four youths, age 15 to 18, who had removed the caps of pop bottles which were still in a vending machine, then absorbed the contents through straws.

documents, but do not know that the Communist party ceased to issue such documents.

The Communists naturally take full advantage of the timidity of the lawyers and the general fear of law suits. Radio networks are particularly frightened and therefore substitute murder stories and so-called humor for what they call controversial commentators. The Communists are thus given a weapon by our courts and lawyers which they use against us all the time.

Never was this better demonstrated than in the Alger Hiss case or in the present difficulties of Frederick Vanderbilt Field. The lawyers feel that under the Fuld obiter dicta their clients may get into trouble if the truth is published in advance of its becoming "privileged" or established by a decision in the courts.

When our newspapers are run by lawyers, we shall have no news. We shall have qualifying phrases and meaningless adjectives.

The whole question before American newspapers and even radio is whether the people are entitled to the truth or must we suppress the truth until the lawyers find it convenient for us to tell it.

WRIGGLES HALF-MILE

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 11—(AP)—A middle aged farmer told police today that robbers tied his hands and feet with rope but he wriggled like a snake for half a mile through a corn field to get help from a neighbor.

Joseph Glaser, of near Evansville (exact age unavailable), said two robbers overpowered him at his doorstep last night, took $390 from him, and left him, bound and alone, on the front porch of his farm house.

Old Maids Day Slated In Texas

Denton, Tex., Aug. 11. —(AP)— Wednesday's the day all the career girls, bachelor girls, "unclaimed blessings"—or whatever you call them—have their day in Denton.

Aug. 15 is Old Maids Day.

No fancy name for it"let's don't gild the lily," said Miss Dorothy Babb, who dreamed it up.

Letters from 32 states have come to Miss Babb and Denton's Mayor Mark Hannah from the unmarried lassies who want to participate.

There are no limits on who can participate — just any woman who'll admit she's an old maid. Age doesn't matter.

The men have made big plans for Wednesday. A tea, free movie and stage show, corsages, a baseball game—and gifts are ready for the old maids.

The gift idea was what started the whole thing, Miss Babb admits.

She got to thinking about all the money she had spent on gifts for weddings, babies, mother's day, father's day and anniversaries of other people. And—all in fun—she suggested that old maids ought to have their day.

"Old maids don't even get birthday gifts; they don't have birthdays," she quipped.

That was last year. Her quips got spread around at North Texas State College in Denton where she is an instructor. They got published, and so on Aug. 15 last year, old maid's day was proclaimed by Denton's mayor.

It grew this year. Chamber of commerce members are receiving daily queries from out-of - state spinsters who want to attend the Denton celebration. They're all being answered.

More women have written they can't come but they want to join "the gang."

Miss Daisy E. Davis, 76, of Pears Island, Maine, has been the oldest one to write.

Urges Reduction In Alcoholism

Boston, Aug. 11. —(AP)— The president of the national woman's Christian temperance union today urged a world convention to prepare an international agreement "for the reduction and prevention of alcoholism."

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin of Evanston, Ill., made the proposal at the 77th annual convention of her organization and said a "minimum agenda" for the world assembly should include steps "to uniformly outlaw practices of the alcohol beverage trafic that promote drinking."

She suggested the convention be called by the world health organization and that it have a delegate body comprised of representatives of health and police departments and established temperance organizations of United Nations member countries.

Mrs. Colvin said the agenda for an international meeting should include the outlawing of alcoholic beverage advertising and sales promotion in all forms and provide for the teaching of the effects of alcoholic beverages in the schools of all countries.

Frees Woman Booked For Speeding

Youngstown, Ohio., Aug. 10 —(AP)— Jailed for nearly 24 hours for speeding at 70 miles an hour Mrs. Mary Ellen Kopko was set free today and joyfully rejoined her three small sons.

Mrs. Kopko was sent to jail yesterday by municipal Judge Robert B. Nevin for five days. Since there was no one to care for her children, they were turned over to Mahoning county juvenile authorities to await her release.

But this afternoon, juvenile court Judge Henry P. Beckenbach, angry over Judge Nevin's action, issued an affidavit of dependency, which permitted her to get out before the term expired.

Immediately, Mrs. Kopko, 27, piled her children into her 1950 Hudson and drove home to Shamokin, Pa. Judge Beckenbach told her to come back Wednesday.

Earlier this afternoon, Mrs. Kopko appeared in common pleas Judge John W. Ford's court and asked him to let her out on grounds she had been arrested outside the city limits. He said he had no authroity to reverse Judge Nevin's decision.

So back behind bars she went, and her sons, Timothy, 6, and Williams, 4, returned to the juvenile detention home. The third and smallest, David, 17 months, was turned over to a private home by Mahoning authorities.

Mrs. Kopko's husband, Michael, works in a Detroit auto plant. She said she advised him in a telephone call not to come for the children for fear he would "lose his new job."

Mrs. Kopko was returning to her home in Shamokin, from Detroit when Patrolman Metro Darko arrested her and another speeder, Louis Iorio, of (29 Henshaw St.) of Springfield, N. J.

Both of them were caught just a week after Judge Nevin had announced a new policy of jailing speeders. They pleaded guilty.

Juvenile Court Judge Henry P. Beckenbach complained that Judge Nevin's decision was too harsh and telephoned him today in an appeal for "leniency."

He said Judge Nevin told him he was not interested in the children and then slammed the phone on the hook. Judge Nevin told reporters he had no further comment to make.

When a number of private citizens heard about it, they telephoned their protests both to the police and the judge.

Mrs. Kopko said her principal concern was whether the children would be cared for properly.

She also was worried over whether there would be enough diapers for the baby.

FBI ARRESTS 2 CONFIDENCE MEN

Pair Poses As Oil Operator, Sportsman to Swindle Rich New Mexico Widow

New York, Aug. 11. —(AP)— The FBI said today it had arrested two confidence men who posed as an oil operator and a sportsman and swindled a wealthy New Mexico widow out of $48,000 after she married one of them .

The arrests came as they were preparing to victimize a multi - millionaire and his daughter who were sailing for Argentina, the FBI said.

The men, taken into custody at a hotel here, were identified as Victor Emanual Pereira, 33, of Columbus, O., and Eugene H. Brading, 36, of Dallas, Tex.

They were held in $50,000 bail each on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy to transport stolen property from Mrs. Gertrude Joyce, 55, of 401 West 11th street, Roswell, N.M.

The FBI told this story:

Pereira and Brading met Mrs. Joyce and her sister at the Del Monte Hotel in El Paso, Tex., last April 19, with Pereira posing as a wealthy sportsman and Brading as an oil land operator.

They began paying court to the women and were invited to Mrs. Joyce's Roswell home. Pereira married Mrs. Joyce in Kansas City on May 25. Brading became engaged to the sister, unidentified by the FBI.

Pereira obtained $5,000 from Mrs. Joyce by telling her he needed the money for a business deal and was temporarily without ready funds.

Shortly after the wedding, Mrs. Joyce also gave Pereira a $6,900 convertible automobile.

Later, Pereira and Brading told Mrs. Joyce they had an option to buy the Washington hotel in Greenville, Tex., "for a song" and needed $35,286.78 to effect the deal. She gave them the money by check. They cashed it in an El Paso bank in $1,000 bills, then fled.

The FBI said Pereira had been married three times previously and had turned the automobile over to one of his former wives. They said he claimed to have lost the money in a Juarez, Mexico, gambling house.

Both defendants have criminal records, the FBI said.

The FBI said the suspects were arrested shortly after they bade farewell to the millionaire and his daughter, who was receiving the attentions of one of the men.

The millionaire and his daughter were not identified.

UNITY IN FRENCH GOV. IS SEEN

Conservative Group Buckles Down To Putting France In Forefront

Paris, Aug. 11. —(AP)— A new French government, one of the most conservative since the war, won what amounted to a vote of confidence today and buckled down to the immediate task of putting France in the forefront of western defense.

Rene Pleven, tall, soft - spoken businessman, is the new premier. It was Pleven who, when premier last winter, flew to Washington to see President Truman and assure him of France's determination to do her part in the Atlantic pact.

It was Pleven who launched the plan to create a unified European army, composed of units of western European nations, as a solution of the problem of putting rifles back in the hands of Germans.

Pleven introduced something new in his cabinet — two vice - premiers who might be called Atlantic ministers.

One is Rene Mayer, former finance and justice minister, who was named vice - premier and minister of finance and economics. Mayer will handle a team of nine men who will be ministers of the budget, industry, commerce and foreign trade, agriculture, labor, and reconstruction, and secretaries of state for economic affairs, commerce and agriculture.

Mayer's main job will be to prevent the rearmament burden from causing any economic upheavals.

For the first time in a long time, there are no Socialists in the new cabinet. They decided not to be represented. Neither are there any Communists or De Gaullists.

The new cabinet actually is a minority government. The men in it are from parties which control only 275 of the assembly's 614 seats. But the socialists have promised him the support that will assure him a majority.

Most of the key ministries went to the Catholic popular Republican movement (MRP). Several other key jobs went to the Radical Socialists, a moderate party which gets most of its support from small business and farmers.

The rest went to independents and Pleven's own right-of-center socialist and democratic resistance union.

It's a question how long the Pleven cabinet, formed after a month-long crisis, can stay in office.

He will need the constant support of the socialists. Should they vote against him on any key issue down he will go. The Socialists backed him today in the assembly vote to postpone a debate on the composition of the cabinet. The vote was 390 to 222.

The assembly then voted to take a vacation from Aug. 31 to Oct. 21. It seemed likely that Pleven would stay in office at least until after the recess.

The deputies were in good humor. They have voted themselves a raise of 8,000 francs ($23) to 125,000 francs ($360) monthly.

Trouble may sprout for Pleven when he starts to carry out his promise of wage boosts for labor in September. Labor is resistive because of a 20 per cent rise in the cost of living in the past year. The Socialists, who compete with the Communists for the labor vote, are likely to go all out to get as much for the workers as they can.

Leaving the Socialists out took one of the key men in defense from the cabinet. He is Jules Moch, retiring defense minister, who worked hard to fulfill France's promise to have 10 divisions ready for Gen. Eisenhower's command by the end of the year.

But Robert Schuman (MRP) stays on as foreign minister, a job he has held for three years.

Other popular Republicans in the new cabinet are: Bidault; Jean - Marie Louvel, industry; Pierre Pflimin, commerce; Paul Bacon, labor; Robert Buron, information; Pierre De Chevigne, secretary for army; Jean Letourneau, overseas territories, and Maurice Schuman (no relation to the foreign minister), secretary of state for foreign affairs.

Radical Socialists include Mayer, Charles Brune, interior; Edgar Faure, justice; Henri Queuille, outgoing premier, minister of state; Maurice Bourges - Maunoury, assistant defense minister; and Andre Marie, a former premier, education.

Independents got nine posts, most of them secondary. But two of them are Jacques Gavini, secretary for the navy, and Pierre Monte secretary for the air force.

Queuille and his cabinet resigned July 10 as the result of the June 17 elections.

Body Of Young Boy Found Burried In Sand Pile

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 11. —(AP)— The crumpled body of little Douglas Davis was found late today, deep under the pile of sand in which he was buried Friday.

The body was discovered at 3:50 p. m., ending a search of nearly 28 hours in a huge gravel pit near here.

It was at the bottom of a pile of sand that more than 100 volunteer workers had tossed aside in a frantic search for the tawny-haired eight-year-old.

He was trapped by a cave in there Friday, while tunnelling with two young companions.

YOUTHS WAYLAY U. S. EMPLOYEE

American Woman Stopped Molested By Communist Youths In Germany

Vienna, Austria, Aug. 11—(AP)— Mrs. Patricia Moore, U. S. State Department employee in Vienna, told tonight how a small band of Communist youths waylaid her Wednesday night in the Russian zone of Austria.

Mrs. Moore comes from New York City. She was traveling to Vienna from the American zone airport at Tulln, 30 miles west of this city. She is one of at least five Americans whose cars have been stopped this week by Red youths demonstrating along the highway.

The incidents appear to be reprisals for American refusal to permit West European Communist youths to pass through the American zone of Austria on their way to the Red youth rally in Berlin.

Mrs. Moore, who works in the American legation here, was forced to halt while riding in an official State Department car. Two youths came out of a nearby wood and walked directly in front of her vehicle.

"We either had to hit them or stop," she told reporters. "At first I thought they were students. They were well dressed and looked about 20 years old. We stopped the car, and several more boys came out of the woods. One of them went to the back of the car and started hammering a nail in the rear tire. I was afraid they were going to steal my luggage, which contained official documents I had brought on the plane with me from Frankfurt.

"I yelled to my driver, 'let's get out of here.'"

The driver backed the car, knocking the boys away from the rear, and quickly started forward, Mrs. Moore said. She continued:

"As we started to move, one of the youths threw a pamphlet into the car. Accomplices in the woods rolled a 15-foot log down the hill, which hit the side of the car but did no serious damage. We just kept on going."

On the pamphlet, Mrs. Moore said, was written:

"Dear American friend. We are sorry to delay you, but Communist youths are also being delayed at the American frontier."

Asked if she were frightened by the incident, Mrs. Moore answered:

"I'm a big girl now, you know."

When the youths stopped her Mrs. Moore was riding with her secretary and an Austrian driver.

CRIME HEARINGS TO BE RESUMED

Senate Officials Look Over List Of Witnesses To Be Summoned Wednesday

New York, Aug. 11. —(AP)—Senate crime committee officials worked over the week-end on their list of witnesses to be called when hearings are resumed in Washington Wednesday.

Irving Sherman, a reputed principal link between the underworld and powerful politicians, is scheduled to be the first witness.

The rest of the day is to be taken up with "ramifications" of his testimony a committee spokesman said here today.

The spokesman would not comment on whether these ramifications might lead to the investigation of any tie-up between gambler Frank Costello and former mayor of New York William O'Dwyer, now U. S. ambassador to Mexico.

Sherman was on friendly terms with both men.

The committee s tentative schedule calls for one day devoted to the distribution and importation of narcotics.

Testimony also will be taken on gangster influence in New Jersey.

In its probe of New Jersey crime, the committee is particularly eager to get testimony from Abner "Longie" Zwillman, a prohibition era figure, now in the tobacco business at Hillside, N.J.

The committee has been trying to locate Zwillman for two weeks. He testified before the committee in Washington last March, but his lawyer said he now is "on vacation."

A U.S. marshal in Boston reported today that Zwillman is at sea aboard a yacht and soon would be served with a committee subpoena. He did not identify the yacht.

Prospects Of Channel Swims Are Chilled

Wissant, France, Aug. 11—(AP)—Rain and wind chilled channel - swimming prospects of 20 aspiring paddlers who arrived today from England.

Their mass attempt to swim home is scheduled to start Monday but won't if the weather stays like this. The London Daily Mail is sponsoring their efforts.

Most of the 20 got seasick on the way over in a boat.

Also frustrated by the weather were Mrs. Betty Cohen, 51-year-old Brooklyn grandmother, four Frenchmen and Ernst Strobel, a 35-year-old Wiesbaden, Germany, mechanic, who lives in a tent on the beach. All plan individual attempts on the channel.

On the English side, Florence Chadwick, 32, of San Diego, Calif., is waiting for good weather. She swam the channel from France last summer and wants to make it a round trip.

Italian Town Built By Christians Inaugurated

Prali, Italy, Sunday, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A village called Agape, in whose construction people of many Christian denominations cooperated, is being inaugurated today by the Ecumenical (world - wide) council of churches.

The village's name, taken from the Bible, means "the love of Christ."

To Agape, henceforth, will come young men and women wishing to spend an outdoor vacation in the Alps and who will contribute by their labor to enlargement of the village.

It has been constructed about a quarter mile from Prali.

Many noted leaders have worked in Agape's construction, among them it is said here, Britain's Winston Churchill.

The village's construction was begun in 1948 by a young Waldensian pastor, Tullio Vinay, who was jailed by the Fascists in 1942 for preaching peace.

Vinay's dream for a village in which men of all denominations could be brothers becomes reality today when representatives of protestant churches from all parts of the world attend the ceremony formally opening Agape.

Among those who have worked on the village was the Most Rev. Bishop Neill, representative of the archbishop of Canterbury. The bishop rolled up his sleeves and loaded stones into a wheelbarrow and pushed it energetically.

He was followed here by Dr. W. A. Visser 't Hooft, who worked as a bricklayer and not in his capacity as secretary-general of the Ecumenical council in Geneva.

British judges, famed French attorneys, professional men from Belgium and Holland came and contributed their work. Most of them did so anonymously.

Among younger people still working here is Colleen Townsend, Hollywood film star who abandoned a screen career for theological studies.

She and her husband, Louis Evans, also a theological student, are among volunteers from 17 nations who have worked without pay on the village.

HERBERT HOOVER IS 77 YEARS OLD

Palo Alto, Calif., Aug. 11 —(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover was 77 today.

The ex-president, elder statesman of the Republican party, planned to observe his birthday on his brother's ranch in the Santa Cruz mountains. He said he would make no public statements.

"I will postpone any remarks that I might otherwise make until August 30, when I speak in Des Moines," a secretary quoted him as saying.

Mr. Hoover is going to Iowa to receive the newly created state of Iowa award presented by the Iowa legislature to distinguished Iowans.

He was born in West Branch, Iowa, in 1874.

Gov.'s Daughter Makes Apology

Montgomery, Ala., Aug 11 —(AP)—The 16-year-old daughter of Alabama's governor and eight other 'teen agers apologized today for throwing rocks at horses bearing two women riders.

All nine identified themselves at police headquarters after "Joe Doe" disorderly conduct warrants had been taken out by Miss Eraday Tyson, riding academy instructor.

After the apology Miss Tyson dropped the charges against the nine, including Elizabeth Persons, daughter of Gov. Gordon Persons.

Miss Tyson reported the rock throwing caused the horses, ridden by Clara Bill Casey and Mrs. Alice Gilvey, to rear and plunge, but that neither of the riders was thrown.

In her warrants Miss Tyson did not name the youngsters, but merely identified them as occupants of a car registered in the governor's name.

The youngsters appeared at police headquarters after a newspaper story appeared reporting the warrants had been taken out.

They gave no reason for throwing rocks.

awarded members of Dean's family the congressional medal of honor. It was the first such high honor for the Korean war.

The other two U. S. battle leaders aboard the transport U. S. N. S. Gen. E.D. Patrick when it docked here were Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, who commanded the Tenth corps in Korea, and Air Force Maj. Gen. Edward W. Timberlake, former vice - commander of the Fifth air force.

Some 400 troops and dependents from Japan and Korea were also aboard the ship.

The three generals agreed that the Koran peace talks now underway are providing the Communists "an excellent opportunity' to build up their forces on the peninsula.

"Our planes have been knocking out so many enemy trucks at night, there's just no question what they're up to," Timberlake declared.

General Almond remarked "we had just better be ready, that's all."

General Milburn is to report to Fort Monroe, Va., for undisclosed reassignment; General Almond is to head the army war college at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.- and General Timberlake is to assume command of the Ninth air force at Pope air base, Fort Bragg, N. C.

STEPHEN EARLY

write a book on his experiences. He regarded his knowledge as something that should be kept confidential because it came to him that way.

In pre-World War I days, Early was one of a quartet of Associated Press men who covered the state-war-navy beat. The others were the late Edwin M. Hood, Kirke L. Simpson, now retired, and H. Lamar Baukhage, radio commentator.

It was then that Early became acquainted with Mr. Roosevelt, who was Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Their friendship, in 32 years, never lessened, although Early was one of the few men known to stand up against the president when he thought he should.

The first Washington newspaper correspondent to enter the service in the First World War, Early became an expert machine gunner and was a captain when the war ended. He also served for a time on the staff of General John J. Pershing and helped edit the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes.

After the war Early helped with the campaign for the Cox-Roosevelt ticket in 1920, which was defeated by the Republican Harding-Coolidge slate.

Later, after he had rejoined the Associated Press Early scored a notable beat on the death of President Harding at San Francisco.

Another of his big assignments was the court martial of General "Billy" Mitchell, advocate of air power.

In 1927, Early became Washington representative of Paramount news reel and he went from this job to the White House in 1933 after losing this argument with Mr. Roosevelt: "You don't need me and, after all, in 1920 I helped you to be the worst defeated candidate in Democratic history."

It fell to him to announce the bank closings of the early Roosevelt days, various big new deal projects, the attack on Pearl Harbor, Winston Churchill's visit to America in 1941 and Mr. Roosevelt's death.

He stayed on for a while at President Truman's request, to smooth the way for Mr. Truman.

Later, in 1949, Mr. Truman drafted him for temporary duty as Deputy Secretary of Defense. Again, when Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, died, Mr. Truman called Early back to the White House until Ross' successor could be named. The job is now held by Joseph Short, who announced Early's death today.

Funeral plans have not been made.

Early had lived in Washington since boyhood. He was born Aug. 7, 1889, at Crozet, Va., and was a distant kinsman of Confederate General Jubal A. Early who raided almost to Washington in 1864.

DEATH TOLL

clothing, a belt buckle and a purse fastening.

Dr. Roberts said he believed the other woman, whose remains consisted only of a few charred bones, was an Alexandria, La., Negro but that the only possibility of identification lay in the hope someone might report missing some Negro woman known to have been a passenger at the time of the wreck.

Other dead, whose bodies were recovered yesterday, included seven crew members of the trains, and a passenger of the streamliner, the Southern Belle, who died of internal hemorrhages.

The 271 marines who escaped injury left Baton Rouge today to continue their trip from Camp Lejeune, N. C., to San Diego, Calif. They left 33 injured behind.

Blame for the tragedy was placed by KCS officials on the crew of the troop train.

R. R. Sutter, KCS superintendent of transportation, said the troop train was proceeding against the time card schedule of the Southern Belle in violation of printed instructions on that card. Sutter said all inferior trains are required to sidetrack at least 15 minutes before any superior train, such as the Southern Belle, is due on the same track.

He said the troop train should have taken to a siding at Batchelor, La., eight miles south of the collision scene, or, at the latest, to a siding at Lettsworth, La., two miles south of the scene.

He said responsibility for safety of the train was equally divided between the conductor and the engineer. Either of them, he said, could order the train taken off the main track at any time but neither had authority to keep it on the main track over the protest of the other.

All members of the troop train rescue crew were killed except Flagman M. Johnson, of Shreveport. Sutter said that the pressure of efforts and getting the main line cleared for traffic had made it impossible for him to question Johnson on the matter.

The crash occurred about 7:15 a. m. (CST) yesterday as the two trains, running at nearly 55 miles an hour, met head-on at a double curve in this flat cotton and timber country some 60 miles northwest of Baton Rouge, La.

Coroner Roberts said that he would conduct a hearing soon to place blame for the wreck officially.

shortage if people would use water for washing cars, watering lawns and gardens, etc. at another time of day.

The city has a plentiful water supply, the mayor said, but the main trouble is a bottleneck in getting the water into the residential section from the wells. "However," he explained, "when we get the new line put in, the supply will be doubled." He said the main delay in laying a new line had been a shortage of funds.

The city recently made arrangements for a right-of-way for the new line. The tubing has already been delivered.

Mayor Bell said the presently existing main, together with the new line when completed, would bring in enough water to meet the demand. "In fact," said the mayor, "Our current supply will be doubled."

In recent fires in downtown West Monroe, firemen have been hampered.

Under a bond issue, which will be submitted the property owners September 18, the city proposes to build a huge storage tank in the downtown area, where water will be stored for emergency uses.

The reservoir would be tapped in the event of a serious fire, in case of a dissruption at the pump station or should water mains from the pumping station be suddenly put out of commission.

gate, left the conference house in a huff.

Joy addressed his strong remarks directly at Nam for the Red delegation's stubborn refusal to discuss compromise on a demilitarized buffer zone. Nam inists that the military dividing line be parallel 38—the old political boundry between north and south Korea.

The Peiping radio, in a dispatch datelined Pyongyang, asserted the Allied delegation "avoided making any reply to General Nam Il's strong, straightforward reproach and criticism."

The broadcast said Nam criticized the U. N. truce team for "a rash and irresponsible attitude" on the buffer zone issue.

The Allied delegation wants a zone generally following the present battlefront, most of which is inside north Korea. However, Joy has told the Reds the U. N. is willing to discuss "posible adjustments."

It was Nam Il's refusal to comment on any adjustment that precipitated two hours and 11 minutes of unbroken silence during Friday's meeting.

Thus far agreement has been reached on only one agenda item —approval of the agenda itself. The buffer zone issue is item two. There are three others: A system of inspection behind rival lines, exchange of prisoners of war, and recommendations for eventual withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, Allied briefing officer, told correspondents that Admiral Joy's statement at Saturday's session was a strong attack on "the ulterior reasons" for Communist attendance at the truce talks.

"Namely," he added, "The political division of Korea even at the cost of continuous suffering of the Korean people — victims of the Communist refusal to discuss a military solution to a military problem."

At the Saturday morning session, Joy tried to get Nam Il to indicate on a map the Communists' "concept of a demilitarized zone based on the present battle line and the military zone."

Nam Il "brusquely rebuffed" the Allied delegation by suggesting that Joy had only to look at a map to see where parallel 38 extends across Korea.

Nuckols said "There was almost an absence of atmosphere" during Saturday's meeting.

It was a thoroughly deadpan conference on both sides," he commented.

However, Nuckols described Joy's statement as a "departure form the normally well - tempered coldly logical phraseology" the Admiral has used in previous meetings.

Nuckols declined to speculate on changes for an easing of the deadlock. He said Nam Il "appeared angry" when the conference adjourned and — as a parting shot — said the Communist's would continue to insist on parallel 38 for a buffer zone.

vilians, usually educators. They pay a formal visit each year to the academies.

In addition to this annual visit the law allows board members to drop in at any time and question officers, instructors and students on almost any topic.

Ellender and Russell agreed that this broad authority should and would be used. Both are members of the West Point board.

"It shall be the duty of each board," the law states, "to inquire into the state or moral and discipline, curriculum, instruction, physical equipment, fiscal affairs, academic methods, and other matters relating to the academy. . ."

"The boys guilty of cheating ought to be punished," Ellender said. "There probably are some leaders more guilty than others. That usually is true in a thing of this kind."

Ellender deplored what he called too much emphasis on football and suggested it might be wise if all congressmen used a standard system for selection of cadets and midshipmen.

"I should stress scholarship and leadership rather than football players," he said.

DEMAND FOR

for espionage after a "mock trial."

Cain wrote Mr. Truman:

"Your firm demand for the release of William Oatis, your determination that this must not happen again behind the iron curtain without swift punishment for the offenders, will echo and re-echo in millions of hearts, not only in our country, but throughout the free world."

The Washington senator said the new ambassador was a particularly appropriate figure to hear such a demand since Prochazka has been a lifelong Communist and the author of the present Czech constitution.

This document purports to establish freedom of the press, Cain said.

Cain said the Czechs probably would want to bargain for Oatis' release and asked:

"Will history record one more instance of our great country paying Red tribute?"

O'Conor said he thought the U.S. should try to strike a bargain because it probably was the only way to win Oatis' release.

The first point advocated by O'Conor, shutting off trade with the Communist nation, already has been adopted in part by the U.S. government. The state department announced July 31 all tariff concessions were being withdrawn from Czechoslovakia.

The other five steps urged by the Maryland senator:

1. "Get rid of all foreign Communist journalists assigned to the U.S." He said the Russian news service Tass "functions only as a Communist agency."

2. "Let's expect to sever diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia."

3. "Spare no effort to arraign the Communists at the bar of world public opinion." This should be done by newspapers, broadcasts, congressional resolutions and every other conceivable method, the senator said.

4. "Bargain for Oatis on our terms." The Czechs probably will demand "blood money" just as Hungary did for Robert Voegeler, American businessman imprisoned on similar charges, O'Conor said.

5. "Finally, let's keep up our rearmament program." O'Conor said he believed cases like those of Oatis and Vogeler would stop if the U.S. keeps on arming as it had for the past year.

O'Connor said he thought the Czechs had grabbed Oatis because he happened to be handy.

"For the Communists are telling the world this: 'Look — we've arrested an American," O'Conor said.

"'We've tried him and sent him to jail, and the American government hasn't been able to do a thing about it.'"

U. S. ALLIES

gotiations to bring a successful armistice agreement just before the conference opens, meanwhile sending a delegation to San Francisco to try to block the signing of the treaty from the inside. Alternatively, there is a somewhat more ominous possibility in the opinion of officials here. The Russians may try to deliver an ultimatum—there will be no peace in the Far East if the United States and nations Allied with it go through with the Japanese treaty.

Whatever Russia's overall purposes may be, the intention of Washington policy makers is to use every reasonable device to get the Korean war settled on the present battle line,which runs in some places 30 miles north of the 38th parallel.

If and when the Reds begin to yield in their insistence that an armistice buffer zone must center exactly on the parallel, the UN negotiators are expected to assist them in making an about face by adjusting the UN proposals in so far as possible to permit face saving. In fact some effort to do this has already been made; for example, one of the truce lines suggested by Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy would let the Reds have about as much territory south of the 38th parallel as the UN requires north of it.

Officials here are not dismissing altogether the possibility that the Reds may disrupt the Kaesong talks. If the Communists think that they cannot yield on the 38th parallel and if they believe the negotiations ultimately will fail anyway, it is just possible that they may want to end them in order to launch an offensive.

In that case, the weather would dictate that such a move be made quickly. The reason is that the rainy season which impedes the UN air force soon will end and increase air operations would make any Red drive even more doubtful of success.

SPAHT GAINS

to him. "In 1940, when I was a candidate for governor, the bitterest and most unjust campaign in the history of our state was waged. At no other time in my public career did I need or appreciate more those friends who stood beside me and supported my candidacy . ... I will always appreciate the fact that even then Judge Spaht was supporting me."

"Judge Spaht is well known throughout Louisiana as a distinguished and able jurist. The fact that he received the unanimous recommendation of the Baton Rouge Bar association in his appointment to his present judgeship in 1946, and his re-election in 1948 without opposition, is evidence of his recognized ability and integrity.

"His record of service and humanitarian concept of government convice me that he will unceasingly continue the present program which was begun upon my inauguration in 1948 as governor."

State Rep. John McKeithen of Columbia is Spaht's running mate as lieutenant governor. The governor said:

"I wholeheartedly endorse the Spaht - McKeithen ticket. Insofar as my health and the duties of the governor's office will permit, I expect to actively support and work for the election of this ticket."

As for his own record, Gov. Long said this: "Yes, sometimes our taxes do seem high, but the people of Louisiana are receiving tangible and lasting benefits."

"In 1948 when I was a candidate for governor and promised to pay a $50 old age pension, I was laughed at, ridiculed, and called a faker by practically every newspaper and all my opponents. Within 58 days after I was inaugurated, the first $50 pension checks were in the mails."

Touching on other features of his program, Gov. Long said teachers were paid as low as $80 a month when he became governor. He said he promised, and obtained a $2,400 yearly minimum.

Some state Charity hospitals, "were practically dormant when my administration began," he said. "The great Charity hospital of New Orleans had many of its floors closed.

"All of our Charity hospitals are now operating at full capacity, and we have restored free ambulances and free dental trailers for the unfortunate . . ."

"I am the first governor in the history of Louisiana," he went on, "to provide our municipalities with direct financial relief.

"As I promised," the governor added, "we have paid a bonus to every veteran in Louisiana."

He said "our drainage program is second to none in the nation. . . my administration more than doubled the appropriation for reforestation."

Gov. Long quoted from his campaign platform: "The only thing I expect to carry out of the governor's office is a good name, and the satisfaction of knowing that good people in all walks of life will say I was fair, honest and sincere in the administration of our state government."

SOVIET TELLS

We need no armed force. We need a peace treaty."

They presented a white book purporting to show that German "Imperialists" and former Nazi generals are teamed up with the western powers to rearm against the Russians. The book said Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters already has a plan for use of 24 infantry and two tank divisions of German soldiers west of the Elbe river in a new world war.

Past efforts by the East Germans to drum up unity talks have met with a cool reception in the west, though eventual unification is desired by most Germans.

The Communists propose that the 18,000,000 people of East Germany have an equal voice with the 43,000,000 of the west. The West German government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is wary of the Communist political and military structures in the east.

West Germans have said in effect that the Communists, including Grotewohl, should get themselves elected legally instead of by self-appointment before they pretend to represent any segment of the German population.

The eastern propaganda blast was timed to fill a hole in the 14-day-long youth festival. This day had been set aside largely for a million German Blue Shirts and 30,000 foreign visitors to rest.

Starting at dawn tomorrow, the German boys and girls will be assembled for a parade down Unter Den Linden. The parade is expected to last 10 or 12 hours. Clear, warm weather was forecast.

Top Communists from 50 countries, including Russia, will sit in the reviewing stand with East Germany' leaders on Marx - Engels Platz, the imperial Lustgarten which has been remodelled after Moscow's Red square.

Many young Blue Shirts visited West Berlin today, and left bugeyed at the looks of things in the capitalistic American, British and French sectors. More than 300,000 have made the trip this week, against the will of festival leaders.

West Berlin's mayor, Ernest Reuter, took to the radio tonight to congratulate the people for receiving the youths warmly, for feeding them and for showing them how "the free world lives."

A group of West Berliners beat up a Russian sector policeman who attempted to arrest some westerners distributing anti - Communist leaflets denouncing the festival at the border beween the French and Russian sectors. Knocked down, the policeman arose and scampered to refuge over the boundary.

among the best in the country.

Novelty acts planned for the rodeo include a team of the nation's best-rated trick riders, a Liberty act with four teams of well-trained palamino horses, an educated horse act, an acrobatic act and numerous other rodeo fetes.

The Ouachita Parish High school band will also play for the five performances of the rodeo.

Rodeo programs are now being prepared by the West Monroe Kiwanis club who sponsors the rodeo each year.

Posters are scheduled to be placed in the Twin Cities and surrounding towns announcing the dates of the rodeo this week, the association said.

Plans for the parade which officially opens the annual rodeo will be announced later, however all cowboys and cowgirls in north Louisiana are invited to take part in the parade and grand entry.

OIL TALKS

return to Tehran of Hussein Makki, firebrand nationalist who has been directing efforts at Abadan to carry out Iran's law nationalizing the British - controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Makki fiercely declared that agreement would be possible only on the basis of the nine-point law of last May which kicks AIOC completely out of the country.

Stokes indicated to newsmen that Britain is still holding out for management of the world's biggest refinery at Abadan, which has been shut down in the nationalization row.

However, he indicated Iranians would be given some sort of voice in deciding policy on production and refining and that the name of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company would disappear. AIOC has been loudly accused by the nationalists of interfering in Iran's governmental and internal affairs.

Stokes said he hoped to get tankers loading oil at Abadan again soon but first there must be a "positive acceptance" of an agreement.

Loading was stopped after negotiations broke down in the first 20 minutes last June. The Iranians at that time demanded that AIOC be stripped of all its profits.

Harriman finally succeeded in getting the two sides together to discuss nationalization under the law of last March which merely declared the oil properties belonged to Iran and left the way open for possible British partnership in the operations.

Because of natural friction at the banks, a stream moves more slowly at the sides than at the center.

Playgrounds Are Closing Here After Next Week

Monroe's eight summer playgrounds enter their final week tomorrow in what Jack Hesketh, Monroe Recreation Department head, described as a very successful year. Attendance so far has been about 15 per cent higher than last year he said.

On all playgrounds, operated all summer for both white and colored children, a variety of activities designed to satisfy all types of children is presented. Handicraft softball horseshoes, ping pong and other games are supervised by the two directors at each ground. Once each week a feature such as hobby shows, bicycle parades, doll and carriage exhibitions or dog shows is presented.

Mrs. V. S. Garnett, handicraft instructor, expressed great satisfaction in the work done this summer. She urged the public to view the work which is on display at Sherwin Williams for white playgrounds. All displays will be taken DeSiard street for the colored grounds. All displays will be taken down Wednesday night, she said. Mrs. Garnett stated that attendance this year was very good and all directors and their assistants have done an excellent job.

Hesketh listed the playgrounds and directors as:

White: Sherrouse school, Mrs. W. C. Buchanan and Louise Nelson; Barkdull Faulk, Mrs. D. Sweet and Mona Lee Ticheli; Lida Benton, Marilyn Kennedy and Connie Ticheli; Georgia Tucker, Beverly Martin and Jean Stovall; and Missouri Pacific, Mrs. Marie Pohlman and Ed Pohlman.

Colored: Bryant addition, Rosa Lee White and Minnie Alice Coleman. Booker T. addition, Delores Hil and Ethel Wheeler; and the Monroe Colored high, Willie Fisher and Gloria Conlee.

Governor Wright Supports White In Miss. Election

(By the Associated Press)

Gov. Fielding L. Wright Saturday threw his full personal support to former Governor Hugh White in the race for governor of Mississippi.

At the same time White opened his second primary campaign with speeches at Carthage and Philadelphia. In them he accused his opponent, Paul B. Johnson, Jr., with being friendly to President Truman's supporters in the state.

The second primary is Aug. 28.

Johnson's headquarters did not break the silence it has maintained since last Tuesday's balloting. The former governor's son has not issued a public statement nor announced plans for the second primary battle.

Wright, who defeated Johnson in the first primary in 1947, made it plain he did not intend to take an active part in the White-Johnson battle. He kept out of the first primary war.

In Mississippi a governor may not succeed himself in office.

"I do not believe that the people approve of one elected official trying to dictate the selection of another," Wright said in a statement written in longhand.

U.S. Sen. James O. Eastland's open support of Johnson is the only such action by any officials on a state-wide basis so far in the campaign. Eastland flew here Friday from Washington to confer with Johnson.

Wright said he would vote for White "because I know where he stands on the principles of States Rights. I know where he was and what he was doing when the going was rough in 1948. . I know what he will do in 1952. He does not have to promise what action he will take."

Wright first outlined the Democratic party rebellion that later became known as the States Rights movement in his inaugural address in 1948. Later he was vice-presidential candidate on the States Rights ticket.

White was a member of the Mississippi delegation that bolted the 1948 comuntion at Philadelphia and set up the States Rights movement in Birmingham.

Johnson has not claimed an active part in the States Rights fight. During the first primary he declared he "is a sworn States Rights supporter" and threatened prosecution of his opponents he said were calling him "a Truman man." He denied the accusation.

In his speeches today White said Johnson:

Received his appointment as Assistant U. S. Attorney for southern Mississippi "while Clarence Hood and other Trumancrats were in control of patronage in Mississippi."

Never attended a States Rights meeting and was silent on the issue until three weeks ago: and

"Went to bed with" Mississippi Trumanite leaders including Henry Debrow, Curtis Rogers and B. C. Beasley "all of whom were recently indicted for conspiring to sell federal jobs."

"I leave it to you to decide whether this man has spent his young life with the men who have been fighting for Truman's program," the ex-governor said.

"Do the people of Neshoba want to take a chance of turning the state over to that gang in Washington and destroying everything that this state has stood for?" he asked.

White hurled bitter criticism at administrators of the State Forestry Commission, charging a "little crowd" in that department with saying he is against "reforestation."

"I am against the manwho is head of that department," he said.

"I am against the man who is estation."

Albert Leggett is state forester.

White also promised to eliminate a state aid road program requirement that counties put up 10 per cent of the cost of their projects. It is the first time he has mentioned the requirement. Johnson was outspoken against it all during the first primary campaign.

Johnson's claim that "fly by night" industries had come into the state under White's BAWI program was denied by the former governor.

NEW PASTOR

Rev. Kenneth Chapman recently arrived in West Monroe to pastor the Free Methodist Church. He has been attending school in Illinois for the past four years. Although coming from the north, Rev. Chapman is a native of Louisiana. His last year has been a full year consisting of school at Chicago Evangelistic Institute, and pastoring a Free Methodist Church in Morris, Illinois on week ends.

The New Society of Free Methodists is meeting at a temporary location in the Millsaps school cafeteria. Rev. Chapman extends a hearty welcome for all to attend.

Russian Count Convicted In Yugoslavia Spy Trial

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 11—(AP)—Eleven defendants, including a Russian Count and opera singer, were convicted and sentenced today to stiff prison terms on charges of spying for Russia. One defendant was found innocent.

Spy trials have become almost commonplace now in Yugoslavia since the break, more than three years ago, between Premier Marshal Tito's independent Communist government and the Soviet-led Cominform.

The trial of the 12 began Aug. 1. Kirilo Sitarski, 42, a Russian born technician and alleged contact man with Moscow, was sentenced to 16 years in prison. His was the severest sentence.

Russian-born Count Ilja Colenis-cev-utuzov, 47, was sentenced to four years. Opera singer Leonid Markaresco received a six-year sentence.

Hailstorm In Texas Hurts Cotton Crop

Lubbock, Tex., Aug. 11—(AP)—The back of the historic Texas heat wave may be broken. But that's no comfort to C. E. Vandiver and dozens of other South Plains cotton farmers.

"Mister, it's just not there anymore," the Lubbock farmer said after surveying his irrigated cotton fields in neighboring Hockley county.

The rich irrigated cotton—10,000 to 12,000 acres of it—was wiped level yesterday by a vicious hailstorm. Part of it was Vandiver's.

"I've been here since 1924 and I've never seen anything like it," said R. L. Edwards, who lost about 700 acres nine miles west of here.

"My whole field was completely covered with ice. At some places the hail was three feet thick. When the sun came out later the whole field fogged up. Just like a refrigerator with the door open."

The storm which swept the Lubbock area was part of a cool front which knocked down high - riding temperatures which have killed at least 21 Texans in two weeks.

Today temperatures on the cool side of the front ranged up into the high 80's—in contrast to readings as high as 116 in the past two weeks. To the south, where the slowly drifting front has not reached, temperatures were edging near 100—still hot but not killing hot.

Along with the hail which caused up to $1,500,000 damage to South Plains cotton came widespread, though light, rains. They brought heat relief and fanned out beyond the hail area, boosting prospects in fields where cotton has been rapidly deteriorating from the heat.

In Lubbock at the neight of the storm it became so dark that car and street lights were turned on. Many cars were stalled as the sudden downpour of rain raised water hubcap deep. Thirty miles southwest of here, wind accompanying hail knocked over an empty cotton warehouse. Pieces were scattered over five acres.

The temperature fell from 85 to 69 in two hours.

All of Texas still needs rain. Many cities still are rationing water for lawn sprinkling and banning car washing. Streams are low, or completely dry, and water must be hauled for livestock.

GET WIDE POWER

Singapore —(AP)— The police of Singapore, already under orders to shoot at Communist terrorists who attempt to set fire to private or public property, are getting still wider powers.

Amended regulations under the state of emergency existing here make it an offense for any person to consort with another who is responsible for damage to property by means of fire or an explosive substance.

All police, too, now are empowered to effect the arrest by shooting of any person violating emergency regulations.

The Real Secret Of SUCCESSFUL MARRIAGE

Advice on how to be happily married was never so freely available as it is today.

Marriage problems are openly discussed in newspaper columns and on the radio. Marriage advice is available from the man next door, who speaks from experience... and from the psychologist, whose views come from study and research. There is no topic... from etiquette to fidelity... on which advice and counsel are not available.

Yet with all this marriage education, the modern divorce rate continues at an appalling high!

This condition obviously is not due to ignorance of the so-called "facts of life." It cannot be attributed to economic problems, for good times have been repeatedly marked by a high divorce rate. Nor can it be blamed on the excuse of personal "incompatibility," which so often appears in divorce petitions.

These and other practical problems undoubtedly contribute to marriage conflicts. But the basic, fundamental cause of marriage failures goes deeper. It is the failure of many people to realize the true meaning of marriage... to recognize that it is a life-long union of a man and a woman... to see that its main purpose is the begetting and rearing of children.

In Catholic eyes, marriage is, first of all, a contract which... as with all contracts... must be governed by justice. A purely sentimental and physical attraction between a man and a woman, which is not permeated by a sense of duty to each other and to God, is not the love upon which enduring homes are built.

But the Catholic Church teaches that marriage must be what God meant it to be... and He made it not only a contract — but a Sacrament.

When the marriage of a man and woman is a Sacrament, they receive title to all the divine helps necessary to overcome the disappointments and difficulties of domestic life. They are thus better able to overcome personality differences... better able to deal justly with each other... better able to understand the many practical problems of living together.

Marriage is not a strictly private affair. It is the concern of the whole community. It is the special concern of the Church, which is charged with safeguarding this Sacrament. That is why the Catholic Church strives to impress the true nature of marriage upon all who hear her voice.

GAPS REPORTED IN ROAD PLANS

Highway Skirting Louisiana Shore May Be Finished In Year

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Many gaps exist in the planned 73-mile coastal highway skirting the southwestern Louisiana shore, but it may be completed "in something over a year," Highway Director R. B. Richardson said today.

Some sections of the highway have been constructed, but not all the project has been financed, Richardson explained. "How fast it will go along depends on a continued extensive highway program."

The proposed route, running through coastal marshes and making use of high-ground ridges, cuts south from Forked Island, about 15 miles southwest of Abbeville and then strings along the coast to Sabine Lake at the extreme southwest tip of the state.

Most of the country is cattle and trapping territory.

"We still have gaps in Cameron and Vermilion parishes that haven't been constructed," Richardson said. Completion of the highway also would call for a ferry across the Sabine Lake which is bordered by Louisiana and Texas. The ferry would touch at Port Arthur Texas.

Richardson explained that some time ago a state department of highway engineer sat in on a conference of Cameron parish, La., and Jefferson county, Texas, officials to discuss the proposed ferry.

"Nothing has been decided about the ferry," Richardson said. "I think the discussion was on the basis of Cameron and Jefferson participating in operation of the ferry."

The highway would touch Louisiana beaches at Ocean View, Peveto and Holly Beach.

Meanwhile, Secretary Clayton Coleman of the Louisiana public service commission said members had postponed action—until the highway was near completion—on two applications for bus lines over the route.

Applicants, he said, were L. P. Hickman of Cameron, who already has bus certificates including service to Lake Charles, and Adam Desormeaux and Preston Delcambre of New Iberia.

Coleman said Desormeaux and Delcambre claimed they were entitled to the coastal highway bus permit, because of prior application.

Caffery Confers In Egypt

Alexandria, Egypt, Aug. 11.—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery conferred today with foreign Minister Mohammed Salah Eddin and Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League. Egypt's restrictions against shipping through the Suez canal were discussed.

A foreign ministry spokesman said Egypt stood by her position that she is within her rights in preventing war material from reaching Israel through the canal. The UN security council is considering the issue, which has been brought before the council by Britain.

Azzam Pasha was said to have informed Caffery that all the Arab states supported Egypt's stand.

MONROE PUNCHES OUT 18 HITS, WINS BY 12 TO 2 SCORE

Bill Knoke Goes All Way On Mound To Triumph With Eight-Hitter

The Monroe Sports, maintaining their margin at the head of the Cotton States League, made a rout of their final game of the season with Greenville here last night by pounding out 18 hits for a 12-to-2 triumph over the Class C circuit's cellar-dwellers.

The win shot the Sports six and a half games in front of their nearest rivals, the Greenwood Dodgers and Pine Bluff Judges who went into a tie for second place last night when the Judges shut out the Baby Bums, 5 to 0.

Every member of the Monroe lineup shared in the hit-feast at the expense of John Kenney who worked all the way for the Bucks. Carl Tucker, Jesse Van Winkle and Dick Anderson led the parade at the plate with three blows apiece, one of Tucker's going for three bases. Tucker and Anderson also batted in three runs each.

Bill Knoke, toiling the distance on the mound for Monroe, kept the Bucks under control with an eight-hitter. Jim Sinovic and Don Reimer were the only visitors to reach him wtih any consistency. They socked a pair of singles apiece.

It marked the seventh straight game in which the Men of Mazur had seen a starting pitcher go the full route without need of relief.

Four runs were clustered in the second inning to give the Sports an early start. Bobby Greene and Bill Knoke walked and a Dick Anderson lick loaded the bases with two out. Carl Tucker singled, scoring Greene and Anderson. Carroll Lemons, fielding the blow by Tucker into left field, threw wild to second, and Anderson romped home as Tucker took second. A single by Jesse Van Winkle scored Tucker.

The Sports added two more in the third. George Andrews and Harvill Jakes walked. Anderson hit into a double play with Andrews taking third. Knoke singled, scoring Andrews. Tucker smashed a triple into center, scoring Knoke. Tucker was thrown out at the plate trying to make it an inside-the park homer.

Van Winkle singled in the third, stole second and scored on a Greene single to give the Sports a six-run bulge.

Greenville broke up the shutout in the fifth. Kenny opened with a single. Hits by Jim Sinovic and Dick Kelly loaded the sacks. Kenney scored on a long fly to left by Jim Bynon.

The Men of Mazur powered the ball for four hits and three more runs in the sixth. John Paul Jones and Andrews were on with singles and two out when Jakes rammed a double along the right field line, scoring Jones. An Anderson single drove home Andrews and Jakes.

The Bucks tallied once more in the eighth. Lemons, and Manager Harry Bucynski walked. Eugene Grigiski singled, loading the bases with one out. Jack Gore forced Grigiski, but Lemons scored. Monroe tapered off with two in the eighth. Greene singled. Andrews walked. Anderson singled Greene home. With two out, Tucker walked. Van Winkle singled, scoring Andrews, and Anderson was thrown out at the plate attempting to score on the blow.

SPORTSPURTS: A number of the Sports are interested in obtaining winter jobs here. Anyone wishing to hire one or more of the fellows is requested to contact Business Manager Paul Manasseh at the stadium. . .Monroe's all-star Little Leaguers, winners of the La. - Miss. district title at Natchez, were guests of the ball club last night. A collection was taken up during the game to help defray the campaign to raise $750 to send the champions to the Houston regional tourney, the winner of which will go to Williamsport, Pa., for the national tournament... When George Andrews' lofted a fly to left field to allow Bob Hamric to score from third in the eighth inning Friday night, it marked the second time in the last three Sports victories that the shortstop had contributed to the margin of victory. In the curtain-raiser of Wednesday's double header, it was Andy's run-out single in the tenth which created the winning tally. . .The Sports' previous five games had ended in 2-1 scores, with the Pals winning two of them. . .New York Yankee Scout Atley Donald was an interested on-looker at Friday night's Monroe - Greenville thriller. Donald who makes his home in Delhi, La., is "high" on Cliff Coggin, 21-game winner for the 1950 Sports who was recently sold by Shreveport to the Boston Red Sox. Thinks he had a chance to become a great major league hurler. . .When "Arky" Bowden hurled the nine-inning route Friday night, it was the sixth consecutive full-game job turned in by a Monroe hurler and Bob Wiltse's nine inning chore was the fifth straight opposing hurler to go the distance against the Mazurmen. . . .The players were guests at a barbecue yesterday noon at Bernstein Park, given by the Dow Chemical Co. . .Lefty Al Point was called to Shreveport Friday night by the illness of his 11-year-old sister. She was scheduled to undergo an ear operation yesterday.

OILERS VISITING

The El Dorado Oilers, the early pacemaker of the Cotton States League, who are now fighting to win at least fourth place and a spot in the playoffs, invade Monroe for a three-game stand today, including a double header beginning at 2 o'clock this afternoon and a single game tomorrow night.

The Sports will be in Arkansas for four games Tuesday through Friday with two games at Hot Springs and two at Pine Bluff. The Sports return next Friday for a six - game stand, meeting Hot Springs and Pine Bluff here in three-game series.

Harrell Risks Mat Crown Against Laye Here Tuesday

FORMER CHAMP OUT TO REGAIN WORLD'S TITLE

Roland Meeker Battles Antone Leone In Semi-Finals At Kallio's

Young Henry Harrell, the rough-and-tumble mat artist from Vicksburg and Nashville, defends his recently won world's light heavyweight crown for the first time here Tuesday night when he squares away against the challenge of Charlie Laye, the ex-champ from Knoxville, Tenn.

Promoter Gus Kallio last night announced the signing of Harrell and Laye for the main event the regular weekly card at his Walnut street arena

Harrell a roughhouse specialist, won the title only a few weeks ago from "Buff" Serois, Buffalo, N. Y., after the latter had dethroned Jack Curtis a few months ago on the Pacific Coast.

The new kingpin and a favorite along the southern mat circuit has been reluctant to appear in a title scramble although Laye has been pushing him hard for the chance.

Twice Harrell met Laye in non-title scrambles here in the past couple of weeks. Henry won the first on a questionable decision by the referee who failed to note that Laye's feet were entangled in the ropes when Charlie was pinned.

Just to settle the fuss thus created, Harrell again faced Laye last week, and the one - time champion emerged the winner. On the strength of last week's victory Laye had little trouble talking Harrell into a title defense.

The match will have a 90-minute limit, two falls to win.

Appearing in the semi-final attraction will be Roland Meeker, fast rising favorite from Shreveport, and a newcomer, Antone Leone.

The curtain-raiser, due to open the show at 8:15 o'clock, will have an hour time limit, also two falls to win.

Bill Barney is billed to referee both matches.

ONE HITTER WINS WHITNEY STAKES

'Up And Down' Day For Atkinson; Jet Master Cops U. S. Hotel Run

Saratoga Springs, N.Y., Aug. 11.—(AP)— Ted Atkinson, one of the nation's outstanding jockeys, literally had his ups and downs today.

After escaping injury in a spill when Row Row Row bolted soon after the start of the United States Hotel Stakes, Atkinson came back two races later to guide One Hitter to victory in the 24th running of the Whitney Stakes.

One Hitter, one of the smallest stakes horses in training, continued the marked success of Green stable at the current session as he overpowered Brandywine stable's Cochise, recent winner of the $100,000 Arlington Handicap by a length and a half.

Gustave Ring's Lone Eagle, three lengths away, was third, while another half - length back came P. A. Markey's Piet, winner of the Whitney last year. Last to finish in the small field was Big Stretch, lone 3-year - old entered, which ran as an entry with One Hitter.

One Hitter, winner earlier in the year of the Massachusetts Handicap, covered the mile and a quarter under 120 pounds on a "good" track in 2:05. The Greentree pair paid $5.50 and $2.40. This was Greentree's fifth victory here, six for Atkinson, who is the leading the jockey parade at this point. One Hitter earned $15,300.

The U.S Hotel stakes resulted in a runaway victory for Marlboro Stud farm's Jet Master, fleet son of Jet Pilot.

Making his first outing since he bucked in the Tremont at Aqueduct, the colt displayed high speed as he carried Eddie Acaro to a five-length margin over Montpelier's Pintor. Old Ironsides was third, a neck away, with Mr. Turf saving fourth in the field of seven youngsters. Jet Master, which earned $16,225, paid $3.60 straight.

Soon after the start, Greentree's Row Row Row bolted through the gap which leads thorough breds across the infield. He hurdled another fence and scampered up the mile chute before being caught. He suffered injuries to his shoulder and left foreleg. Atkinson landed in the infield, but got up immediately and later complained of slight pains in the back and heel. However, he insisted on fulfilling his remaining engagements.

Thirteen members of Michigan State's football team are enrolled in advanced ROTC units.

BARNEY WILSON OUT AT W. AND M.

McCray, Grid Coach, Also Quits; Trouble Over Students' Records

Williamsburg, Va., Aug. 11.—(AP)—R. N. (Rube) McCray resigned abruptly today as head football coach and athletic director at the College of William and Mary.

McCray's resignation followed disclosures that college officials are probing alleged "malpractices" by members of the athletic department in the academic grading of student athletes.

Simultaneously, Barney Wilson, head coach of William and Mary's basketball team, handed in his resignation to President John Pomfret.

Both resignations are effective immediately.

News of the school's investigation into the grading of athletes came in a statement from Al Vandeweghe, a former member of McCray's football staff, who made public a letter from William and Mary Dean Nelson Marshall "absolving" Vandeweghe of any complicity in the "malpractices."

Vandeweghe's statement revealed that Dr. Marshall and other administrative officials here had evidence that the record of high school athletes have been altered in some instances to make them academically eligible to enter the college.

There was nothing in Vandeweghe's statement, however, which directly linked either McCray or Wilson with the "malpractices."

Both Dr. Pomfret and Dean Marshall were out of town when the twin resignations were offered and neither was available for comment. Other college officials declined to elaborate.

McCray himself declined comment on Vandeweghe's letter.

Concerning the alleged transcript changes, he said "I believe the administration should make the answers. None of them are here and it would not be fair to answer."

McCray's letter of resignation to Dr. Pomfret said he was "planning in the near future to take another position." He delcined to say what his future plans are or when he plans to leave Williamsburg.

Wilson wrote Dr. Pomfret that he was resigning "immediately in order that I may take advantage of an unusual opportunity to enter business after a brief vacation."

It was understood he would take a job in Kentucky, his native state.

McCray, currently in the second year of an almost unprecedented five-year contract at William and Mary, came here as head coach in 1944, succeeding Carl Voyles. His football team won the southern conference championship in 1947 and played in post-season bowls in 1947 and 1948.

He said today he regarded his current squad as potentially the best since his 1948 team which played in the Delta bowl. McCray never had a losing season until last year.

Wilson became basketball coach in 1948 and since his teams have won 81 games and dropped 39. His best season was in the 1949-50 campaign when the Indians won 23 and lost nine.

Oats' Stretch Drive Wins La Jolla Handicap

Del Mar, Calif., Aug. 11. —(AP)— Outduelling the favorite, Grantor, in the homestretch, J. A. Lyons' Oats captured the 10th running of the $10,000 added La Jolla handicap for three-year-olds here today.

Grantor, owned by William Goetz, hung on to take second, a length and a half in front of Mrs. T. F. Bledsoe's Mucho Hosso. The latter ,weakened near the end after leading from the start.

Today's attendance totaled 18,036 and the crowd sent $1,122.80 through the mutuels for Del Mar's second straight million dollar Saturday.

Lawmakers In Dither Over What To Do About Baseball Problems

Washington, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Lawmakers who have been learning about baseball as it is played in the front offices still don't know what ought to be done about exempting the game from anti-trust laws.

They've heard from baseball's big wigs, past and present, from oldtime players, from one bush-leaguer and other spokesmen for the minor leagues.

They've been told that the reserve clause in players' contracts is likely to be in conflict when the laws that provide curbs against monopoly—and that it is the gadget that keeps the sport going.

That is the clause in player contracts which says a player belongs to the club that signs him first and other teams will have to keep "hands off."

The lawmakers got a picture of the major leagues' use of minor leagues—through the farm system and working agreements — by which new performers are developed.

Baseball's spokesman explained their rules, how they are applied how the majors' regulations mesh with those governing the minors.

All in all, in the words of Chairman Celler (D.-N. Y.) of the house judiciary subcommittee on monopoly, the two weeks of hearings have been "interesting and informative."

The committee is in recess until October—after the World Series—but its staff will continue to dig for information.

Then there will be a lot more questions put to baseball folks—players now busy trying for series gold, some of the men who "jumped" into the Mexican League in 1946 and landed on baseball's suspended list for a while, sports writers, and possibly bleacherites.

Some members of the committee have indicated a distaste for the language of the bills presently under consideration.

They don't like the idea of giving exemptions from monopoly laws to all "organized professional sports."

And they have shown an interest in "pin - pointing" the baseball rules that might be worthy of exemption.

Too, they don't want to act before getting a good line on exactly what the effect of any change might be.

Especially have they shown a desire to learn more about baseball's relations with radio and television broadcasting, to study the rule that gives a club owner the right to bar the broadcasting of any baseball in competition with his own team's home play.

The atmosphere of the inquiry, thus far, has been largely friendly to the sport.

The study revolves around bills introduced by congressmen who are prompted by their "fan interest" in the game.

U. S. CUPPERS WIN ZONE NET CROWN

Easily Dispose Of Canadians In Doubles To Clinch Australian Trip

Montreal, Aug. 11. —(AP)— America's new Davis Cup doubles combination of Tony Trabert and Budge Patty made a slam-bang debut today with a 6-4, 6-3, 6-2 demolition of Canada's Brendan Macken and Henri Rochon that clinched the North American zone title for Uncle Sam.

The victory assured the U. S. team a trip to Australia next winter to try conclusions when Sweden in the inter-zone finals.

For the second day the crowd at the Mount Royal Tennis Club saw its champions hopelessly routed as the two American meshing their powerful games as though they had been playing together for years, ran the score in the series to 3-0 and took all the fun out of tomorrow's concluding singles matches.

Capt. Frank Shields' hopefuls didn't lose a set in the two days. Trabert, the individual hero of the rout, crushed Lorne Main in yesterday's opener, and Dick Savitt took care of Macken. To this point, in sweeping the boards on this continent, the Americans have won 13 straight matches against Japan, Mexico and Canada.

As tomorrow's singles will be merely for the exercise, Shields was granted permission by the Canadians to change his line-up and get a look at Art Larsen and Patty in singles. Larsen, the current American champion from San Leandro Calif., will play Rochon in one match and Patty will engage Main in the other.

Scogin's Midget Auto Racer Will Run Next Sunday

Otto Scogin, well-known Monroe auto salesman, has stated that he will enter his midget racing car in the races to be held in Shreveport, next Sunday. His car has already won races in Baltimore, Atlanta, and Miami.

His car, a blue and white number 14, will be driven by Bob Allison, crack racing driver who has recently moved to this city. Scogin said that Allison has driven on some of the best tracks in the country, with top cars from Dallas, Oklahoma City and Houston.

Allison, who moved here from Atlanta, Ga., is a 26-year-old air force veteran. He is married and has one child.

The race will be held in Shreveport Fair Grounds, and the trials will start at 1 p. m. The race will get under way at 2 p. m., with entries from Dallas, Oklahoma City, El Paso Houston and Monroe competing. There will be seven cars in all.

The midget race will be followed by a regular stock car racing program.

PEL GRID SQUAD STARTS TRAINING

Louisiana Training Institute Faces Heaviest Schedule In Years

Prospective candidates for Louisiana Training Institute's football team finished out their first week's training here yesterday and the boys are beginning to round into shape for their hardest schedule in many years. The Pelicans are pointing for an opening contest here on Sept. 8 against the Mississippi Boys' Industrial School of Columbia, Miss. The game will be the first to be played between the two neighboring state institutions. Following this contest will be twelve more games, including ten northeast Louisiana Class B district opponents, one from the northwest Louisiana district, and another interstate game with Junction City, Ark., high school, there.

Approximately forty boys have taken place in the initial week's workouts under Coach Kermit Youngblood and Coach Fred Lindsay. Work has been handicapped somewhat by the L.T.I. softball and baseball teams having to wind up their final week of play. During the past week football workouts have been held in the mornings but beginning Monday,.now that the baseball and softball teams have finished play, football workouts will be held in the afternoons. The L.T.I. baseball squad finished out its schedule in the Recreation Baseball League in the top spot that it held all summer, but has declined to take part in any plans for a playoff due to the conflict in athletic activities.

Much work is in order for the prospective Pelican gridders since few veterans are on hand from last year's team. Returning are Charles Sartalamacchia, quarterback and Jimmy Foster, left halfback, both regulars last year Squadmen returning are Dempsey Marsh, back, and Melroy Jaubert, end. Another back who lettered last year is Kenneth Crochet. Leading candidates so far are Fisette, Humphrey, and Brewer, ends; Mitchell, Wren, and Cauley, tackles; Cooper, Guy, and Roberts, guards; O'Quinn, Kuhn, and Deroche, centers Mine, Hall, St. Romain, and Kirtley, backs.

YANKEES BEAT A'S IN PRESSURE GAME, 7-4

BERRA'S TWO-RUN PINCH HIT BRINGS BOMBERS VICTORY

Eleven Inning Game Goes Three Hours, 14 Minutes With Kuzava Winner

Philadelphia, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The New York Yankees, always tough when the pressure is great, called on another old pro today for a clutch hit and Yogi Berra delivered with a two-run single in the 11th inning to give the Bronx Bombers a 7 to 4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

It took three hours and 14 minutes for the Yanks to turn back the stubborn seventh place Athletics in a game of humpback hits and sloppy fielding. When it was over, Lefthander Bob Kuzava, working in relief of chief Allie Reynolds, had his eighth victory of the season against five defeats, while seven time winner Alex Kellner dropped his 11th of the year, also in a relief chore.

Kellner ran into disaster at the start of the 11th when Phil Rizzuto hit a Texas League double that Leftfielder Gus Zernial missed a shoestring catch on. Kuzava tried to bunt, but failed and finally struck out.

Gil McDougald walked and Bobby Brown pumped his fourth single of the game to center.

That brought up Berra, who promptly belted a two-run single to center. A third run scored on the hit when Center Fielder Dave Philley threw wild over Catcher Joe Tipton's head.

NATS HALT BOSOX

Boston, Aug. 11. — (AP) — The Washington Senators combined a thirteen hit attack with Dick Starr's seven - hit pitching to down the Boston Red Sox 7-1 today.

Eddie Yost blasted his ninth homer into the left field net with two aboard in the fourth to share hitting honors with Mickey Vernon who had four singles in five times at bat.

Starr walked six in addition to giving seven hits leaving men on base — 12 in all—in every inning but the fourth When necessary he had the "stuff" and bore down hard.

Washington started right in on Chuck Stobbs, the Boston starter and loser, as Gil Coan singled and went to third on Irv Noren's single to right. Coan was out at the plate on Vernon's tap to Walt Dropo but Noren scored as Johnny Pesky's throw after Sam Mele's grounder broke through Dropo's glove.

In the Senator's third, a Pesky error on Yost's grounder opened the way for another tally. Noren forced Yost at second and in stealing second was hit on the jaw, losing four teeth, by Aaron Robinson's throw

Noren left the game and was taken to a hospital for further examination as Mike McCormick replaced him. Vernon then singled McCormick, who stayed in the game home with a poke to right.

Washington put the game on ice in the fourth with three runs on a single by Pete Runnels, a walk to Starr and Yost's circuit clout.

TIGERS TAKE BROWNS

Detroit, Aug. 11. —(AP)— Hoot Evers blasted a three-run homer and a two-run double as the Detroit Tigers licked the St. Louis Browns 7-4 today.

It was the Tigers' first win under their new General Manager Charlie Gehringer.

Veteran righthander Dizzy Trout gave up five hits in seven and two thirds innings — including a home run to Jim Delsing — to win his seventh game. Trout has lost 12.

Evers' blows featured three-run Tiger rallies in the fourth and fifth innings. The Tigers, who lost their debut under Gehringer to the Brownies last night, pinned starter Duane Pillette with his 12th loss. He has five wins.

INDIANS SHADE CHISOX

Cleveland, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Pitcher Early Wynn hit a home run in the seventh inning tonight for a 2 to 1 victory by the Cleveland Indians over the Chicago White Sox, keeping the tribe in a first place tie with the New York Yankees.

It was Wynn's first homer of the season.

Cleveland third baseman Al Rosen hit a one-run homer in the second to tie the score after Eddie Robinson leading off in the same inning, had raised a four-bagger over the right field fence.

It was the tribe's ninth straight win, and the second in a row over the Sox.

Cleveland had to win this one to stay level with the Yanks, who had squeezed out a 11-inning 7 to 4 victory this afternoon over the Philadelphia athletics.

A ladies night crowd of 70,119—paid attendance was 58,040— say Wynn handcuff the Sox on four hits. He walked only one batter, as two were out in the ninth, and struck out three.

The mound loser was Joe Dobson, off whom the Indians collected all seven of their hits in the seven innoings he worked. Dobson had beaten the Indians and Wynn twice this season.

ROJEK SIDELINED

St. Louis, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Shortstop Stan Rojek will be sidelined at least a month with a broken shoulder, the St. Louis Cardinals announced today. Rojek was injured Wednesday night during batting practice when he tried to dodge a pitch by George Munger. The ball struck the infielder on the left shoulder.

During his record 56 - game batting streak of 1941, Joe DiMaggio tagged 43 different pitchers for one or more hits apiece.

Monroe Little League Champions Point For Houston

TWIN CITY KIDS AFTER NATIONAL DIAMOND GLORY

Due To Appear In First Regional Game At Texas City Thursday

Monroe's Little League champions of Louisiana and Mississippi returned home in triumph yesterday afternoon from their invasion of Natchez, Miss., where they won the bi-state tournament, an plans were quickly began to send the club of nine-to-twelve-year-olds to the regional tournament at Houston, Tex.

At Houston this week the Monroe All-Stars, the pick of the best players from the six-club league here, will be pitted against the best from Texas and New Mexico.

But before the kids can make the trip there is a matter of $750 needed to defray their expenses for travel, hotel, and groceries. Twin City business men, coming to the aid of the kids, are already assuring donations and several large contributions were known to have been made during the afternoon yesterday.

If the Monroe club wins at Houston it will get an all-expenses paid trip to the national championship tournament at Williamsport, Pa.

If present arrangements are followed, the team will leave here Wednesday morning and arrive in Houston that evening.

Monroe's first game will be against the winner of the south Texas and coast region tournament at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Only two other clubs will be at the meet, winners of a tournament for central and north Texas and the champ of the west Texas-New Mexico playoffs.

Should Monroe win its opener, the kids will next appear in action Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. If beaten they will play the other first round loser in the consolation game at 4 o'clock Friday.

The Monroe Little League champs and the hometown clubs from which they were selected are Bruce Lee, catcher, and Jimmy Jordan, outfielder, Monroe Furniture Company, Terry Reeves pitcher, and George Smith, third base, Walter Reed Refrigeration; Wayne Hendricks, pitcher, Ronnie Gallion, catcher, and Dubba McKay, United Gas, Freddy Dollar, outfielder, Pat Hyland, Shortston, and H. V. Bennett, pitcher, Olcott-Stone Motors, Fred Southerland, first base ,and Mickey Yerger, pitcher and infielder, The Palace, and Lannie Johnson, second base, and "Spec" Lewis, catcher, KNOE.

Hart Faces Fry In Essex Finals

Manchester, Mass., Aug. 11—(AP)—Doris Hart, Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry, Akron, O., Wimbledon doubles tennis champions, will duel in tournament singles for the 13th time this year when they contest the Essex championship final here tomorrow.

The rematch—their 12th tournament final for 1951—came about as both won fiercely-fought semi-finals today.

Miss Hart, top-seeded tourney favorite, Wimbledon triple champion and Essex titlist in 1948, eliminated 16-year-old fourth -seeded Maureen Connolly, La Jolla, Cal., 10-8, 6-2.

Miss Fry, second seeded and ranking eighth nationally, won over third-seeded Nancy Chaffee, Ventura, Cal., the nation's sixth-ranking player, 6-4, 6-3.

The first finalist berth in the slow moving doubles was won by the second-seeded team of Miss Chaffee and Mrs. Pat Canning Todd. They were surprisingly pressed by the unseeded, unheralded team of Julie Sampson, San Marino, Cal., and Barbara Kimbell, Los Angeles, before winning, 7-5, 7-5.

The Misses Hart and Fry, top-seeded defending champions, moved into the doubles finals, defeating Betty Rosenquest, South Orange, N. J., and Miss Connolly, 6-2, 6-3.

Americans Capture Eight Events At British Games

London, Aug. 11. —(AP)— Led by big Jim Fuchs, who won the shot put and discus throw, American athletes captured eight of 17 events today in the British track and field games in White City Stadium.

Fuchs, representing the New York A. C., was Uncle Sam's only double winner in the international meet, witnessed by some 25,000 hardy fans who braved chill, misty weather.

Although the footing was slippery, Fuchs won both his specialties with ease. He put the shot 54 feet, 6¼ inches and tossed the discus :62 feet, 7 inches. Nobody was even close in either event.

The other American winners were Jack Davis, Southern California, 120-yard high hurdles; Jack Greenwood, Kansas, 220-yard low hurdles; Bob Smith, Los Angeles, pole vault; Herman Wyatt, San Jose (Calif.) State, high jump; Frank Held, San Francisco Olympic Club, javelin, and Guy Bryan, San Francisco Olympic Club, broad jump.

PLAY FOR DESIARD C. C. TITLE TODAY

Bill Jones (right) two-times winner and defending golf champion of the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, and Corbin Turpin, long-driving local linksman, tee off at 9:00 a.m. this morning at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club in the 36-hole finals, to decide the club titleholder for 1951. The afternoon round will start at 1:00 p.m.

College Stars, Pro Champions Blow Lid Off '51 Gridiron Season Friday

Rote, White Set To Lead Collegians Against Cleveland Browns

By Charles Dunkley

Chicago, Aug. 11. —(AP)— Football's first big kickoff of 1951 booms next Friday night.

The inaugural will pit the glamor boys of the College All-Stars, Kyle Rote and Whizzer White, against the awesome power and finesse of the Cleveland Browns.

The All-Stars, 60 college seniors of 1951, will collide with the professional champions under the floodlights of Chicago's Soldier Field before upwards of 95,000 gridiron fans. The Browns, who have lost but six games in five title-winning seasons, doubtless will be established as solid favorites in the 18th annual All-Star battle.

In the past the pros have won nine, lost six and tied two. However, the collegians have won three of the last five, the All-Stars a year ago defeating the Philadelphia Eagles, 17-7.

This time the All-Star hopes center around Rote, the dashing southern Methodist halfback, who weighs a solid 200 pounds, and White, the wraith-like runner from Arizona State, who never weighed as much as 160. White led the nation in rushing last fall, gaining 1,502 yards in 10 games.

Rote has been the powerhouse runner of two-a-day practice sessions in the collegians training camp at Delafield, Wis. White has been the jack-rabbit who romps around the big men of the gridiron.

Bob Williams, Notre Dame's talented T-quarterback of 1950, will lead the All-Stars as field general, passer and kicker. Don Dufek, Michigan's strong plunging fullback, rounds out the tentative first string backfield.

Head Coach Herman Hickman, who never saw such bulging muscles on the gridiron at Yale, is devoting long hours to pass defense. He fears the deadly accurate aerials of Cleveland's Otto Graham, whose favorite targets are the speedy ends, Mac Speedie and Dante Lavelli.

Hickman has been working diligently with defense in the secondary. Currently, it seems likely that Jimmy Hill of Tennessee will open at right half on defense, Paul Douglass of Illinois at left half and Chuck Ortmann, Michigan, at Safety. Outstanding linebackers have been Jake Rowden, Maryland, a leathery lad of 190 pounds; Irvin Holdash of North Carolina, a fast and mobile 200-pounder, and Frank Boydstun, Baylor, another 190 - pounder as tough as cowhide.

Hickman has an exceptionally high grade collection of ends. Bob Wilkinson of U. C. L. A., Bucky Curtis of Vanderbilt, Gene Schroeder of Virginia and Don Stonesifer of Northwestern have been waging a daily battle for offensive berths. On defense, Bud Sherrod of Tennessee, Harry Allis of Michigan Art Felker of Marquette and Henry Minarik of Michigan State lead the parade.

Notre Dame's Jerry Groom is slated to start at center. The All-Star linemen are not as big or as experienced as in 1950. They will be outweighed 10 to 15 pounds per man by the Browns.

"The All - Stars have shown wonderful spirit in training," Hickman said. "They've worked hard. We know how good the Browns are. I think we'll be ready for our best game—but maybe that won't be good enough to defeat the pro champions. But I hope so."

The broadcast of Friday night's game will be carried by 391 radio stations and telecast by 45 stations, probably a new nationwide record for coverage across the nation.

OKLAHOMA CITY SLUGGERS TOPS

Indians, Weak Sisters In Title Race, Have Leading Batsmen

Dallas, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Oklahoma City isn't getting anywhere in the Texas League race but the Indians appear destined to furnish the major leaders in the statistics.

The top hitters of the circuit are at Oklahoma City.

Bob Nieman added all points to his batting mark last week to take a nine-point lead. Nieman is clouting .320 on 116 hits in 362 trips to the plate. In second place is Grant Dunlap of Shreveport with .311.

The men with the most hits in the league also are from Oklahoma —Johnny Creel and Frank Keller each with 135 safe blows. Otherwise the individual leaderships are dominated by San Antonio.

Bob Balcena of San Antonio has the most runs with 78, Les Fusselman of Houston the most doubles with 29, Jim Fridley of Dallas and Omer Tolson of San Antonio are tied for the top in triples with nine each, Russ Burns of Dallas leads in runs batted in with 97 and Jerry Witte of Houston is the home run slugger by a mile. He has parked the ball 33 times.

The leading pitcher is Bob Turley of San Antonio with a 19-4 record and Duke Markell of Oklahoma City is the strike-out king with 188.

The league may produce four 20-game pitching winners, which would be the most in some time. Turley with 19, Bill McCahan of Fort Worth with 17, Harry Schaefer of Beaumont with 16 and Al Papai of Houston with 18 are close enough to indicate they'll make the charmed circle.

Tulsa leads in club batting with .258 and Oklahoma City is second with .256.

Frank Burns Will Coach At Hopkins

Baltimore, Aug. 11—(AP)— Frank Burns, former Rutgers star, was named head football coach at John Hopkins University today and $3,40. Oil Capitol posted prices chance to coach "where football is played as a game and not as a business"

Hopkins has a unique approach to intercollegiate athletics. Students are admitted strictly on their academic abiliy and if they also happen to be varsity-calibre athletes that is fine If not they can have their fun in the university's intensive inter-mural sports program. Everyone is required to participate.

Burns quarterbacked a Rutgers for four years and the past two has been freshman coach at the New Brunswick, N. J., school. He played in th annual East-West All-Stars game at San Francisco in 1949 and the same year was quarterback of the Eastern All-stars in their game against the professional New York Giants.

At Hopkins, Burns succeeds Charles H. Guy, who came here a year ago from the University of Virginia. Guy resigned.

Marlene Stewart Upsets Lenczyk In Canadian Play

Laval Sir Le Lac, Que., Aug. 11. —(AP)—Marlene Stewart, sensational 17-year-old from Fonthill, Ont., scored an upset 1 up victory over Grace Lenczyk of Harford, Conn., today to win the Canadian Women's Open golf championship.

The little Ontario girl was two up after the 18 hole morning round and held a three up lead after the 32nd. Miss Lenczyk, two time winner of the event, played brilliantly to win the 33rd and 34th holes. The 35th was halved in birdie threes but Miss Stewart hung on grimly to split the 36th and win the match.

Only nine mares have won the four and a half mile Aintree Grand National out of 115 runnings.

WHIRLAWAY DASH GOES TO WISTFUL

Favored Oil Capitol Finishes Second Behind Calumet Mare

Chicago, Aug. 11—(AP)— Calumet farm's five-year-old mare, Wistful, today duplicated the feat of her two stablemates in winning the $27,600 Whirlaway Stakes at Washington Park.

In keeping the triumph within the Calumet family, Wistful joined Armed, winner of the event in 1946-'47, and Coaltown, which won in 1949.

In a furious finish, Wistful strongly ridden by Jockey Steve Brooks, won by three quarters of a length over Oil Capitol, a 2-1 favorite with the crowd of 23,327. King Ranch's Curandero, winner of the race last year, finished third, a nose back of Oil Capitol.

Volcanic was fourth, and then followed Lithe, Ruhe, Mr. Fox and Bugle Drums. Longleat and Spur On were scratched.

The Whirlaway was Wistful's third victory in 11 starts this season and the race was worth $18,575 to Calumet farm. She won two stakes in Kentucky last spring. The Whirlaway was her third 1951 start in Chicago.

The Calumet mare, third choice behind Oil Capitol and the 3-year-old Ruhe, paid $9.60, $5.00 $3.40. Oil Capitol posted prices of $4.00 and $3.20. Curandero's show price was $4.60.

Dodgers Lengthen League Lead To Thirteen Games Despite Split

Brooklyn, Aug. 11—(AP)— The Brooklyn Dodgers stretched their National League lead to 13 games today as they split a double header with the Boston Braves, winning the opener, 8-1, but losing the nightcap, 8-4.

Big Ralph Branca turned in his tenth victory in the opener. Branca allowed only six hits and fanned ten in besting lefty Warren Spahn. Sid Gordon homered in the second inning for the lone Boston run.

Duke Snider launched the Dodger attack with a two-run homer in the first inning, his 25th of the season. The Dodgers picked up single runs in the fourth and fifth innings and salted the game away with three runs in the sixth on singles by Gil Hodges, Wayne Terwilliger, Branca and Carl Furillo.

The nightcap was a tight battle until the ninth when Gordon socked a two-out, three-run homer off relief pitcher Clem Labine to clinch the game.

Brooklyn rallied in the last of the ninth, scoring once and loading the bases with two out but Max Surkont fanned Gil Hodges to end the game. It was the third time Hodges struck out in the game.

Lefty Johnny Schmitz, making his sixth start for Brooklyn, again failed to last. Schmitz nursed a 3-2 lead until the sixth inning when the Braves scored three runs to take command. Johnny Logan's two-run single was the big blow of the rally.

Labine retired the first two Braves in the ninth but then walked Earl Torgeson and gave up a single to Bob Elliott to set the stage for Gordon's 22nd homer.

Surkont went all the way for the Braves and allowed nine hits including home runs by Snider and Andy Pafko.

PHILS CLIMB

New York, Aug. 11—(AP)— The Philadelphia Phillies edged a step closer towards second place today as Robin Roberts pitched the defeating National League champions to a 4-0, seven-hit victory over the runner-up New York Giants

The Phils, winners of nine out of their last 12 starts, are only 1½ games back of the Giants, who have dropped four straight games.

Roberts, in posting his 16th victory and fifth shutout, fanned three and didn't walk a batter. Whitey Lockman collected two of the Giants hits.

The Phils solved Jim Hearn, who usually beats the Phils, and George Spencer for ten hits including home runs by Andy Seminick and Ralph Cabellero.

Demaret Holds Own In Tam's World Golf Tournament

SNUBS PRESSURE TO NAB 3-STROKE EDGE OVER BEST

Betsy Rawls Continues To Set Pace In Women's Division Of Meet

Chicago, Aug. 11 —(AP)— Pacesetting Jimmy Demaret, rainbowhued dude of the fairways, today ignored the pressure of matching strokes with U. S. Open Champion Ben Hogan and whirled to a three-stroke lead at the 54-hole mark of the $50,000 "World" title golf meet.

Demaret, who sent a 190 - yard, three-iron shot screaming from the rough into the fourth cup for his third eagle in three brilliant rounds, wrought a six-under-par 66 for a three-quarter total of 202, 14-under-standard for the distance.

The 202 count for 54 holes matched Tam's 54 - hole competitive mark set by Byron Nelson in 1945, when Nelson established a course 72-hole record of 269, nineteen under par.

That put the 41-year-old Ojai, Calif., dandy three strokes ahead of dogged Clayton Heafner, the hulking pro from Charlotte, N. C., whose second straight 68 gave him 205.

Bracketed five strokes behind Demaret in the 64-player scramble for golf's biggest top prize, $12,500, were Hogan, Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead, and South Africa's Bobby Locke, whose 64 was the day's best round.

Demaret, the 36-hole leader at 136 and a co-leader of the first round with a 67, was teamed with Hogan in the last two-some off the tee.

Instead of wilting, as some suspected he might, playing along with the winner of three of the last four U. S. Open titles, Demaret boldly stroked 32-34 over Tam's par 36-36—72, 6,315 rolling acres.

It was Hogan who proved more affected by the pressure of trying to catch the already finished Heafner. Little Ben shot 36-34—70, his poorest round after 68-69.

Notched at 208, six strokes behind Demaret, were Pete Cooper, Lawson Little and Bob Hamilton. Huddled at 209 were four players, Jack Burke, Cary Middlecoff, Ed Furgol and Johnny Palmer.

Last year's world winner, Henry Ransom, was far outdistanced with 223.

Norman Von Nida, Sydney, Australia who was the halfway leader among the ten foreign entries at 141, fell four strokes behind the new international pace - setter, Locke, with a 70 for 211. Also bracketed at 211 was Walt Burkemo, Franklin, Mich., pro, with a third-round 69.

In the concurrent $6,000 Women's "World," Betsy Rawls, Austin, Tex., continued to show her heels to defending Champion Babe Zaharias.

Miss Rawls fired a third-round 76 for a 54-hole aggregate of 223, five under women's par and two strokes ahead of Mrs. Zaharias and Patty Berg, tied at 225. Babe picked up two strokes on Miss Rawls with the best round among the 19-player field, 37-37—74. Miss Berg shot even-par 76.

Five strokes behind Miss Rawls, 23-year-old national runner-up last year, was Louise Suggs, who perked with a 75 for 228 The pros of the femme contingent, including four outdistanced amateurs were shooting for top money of $2,100.

Gilbert Regains Perch Atop Cotton States League Parade Of Sluggers

By J. P. Friend

Blytheville, Ark., August 11.—(Special) — Jim Gilbert, slugging Natchez outfielder, regained the batting lead of the Cotton States League during the week ending August 7, according to the records of the Friend News Service.

Collecting 12 hits in 32 times at bat, the Indian star upped his mace mark three points to .350 and repossess the top rung he occupied for more than two months. In 106 games Gilbert has rapped out 136 hits in 389 times at bat. He has started a consecutive skein that already had reached 10 games thanks to seven straight last period.

Fred Boiko, Pine Bluff gardener, took over second place with a six-point gain to .347, hitting safely in seven straight games last week and increase his streak to 14 in a row. He strengthened his scoring lead with seven runs to break the century mark and three to spare.

George Ruzina, Natchez's sparkling third baseman, also is in the middle of a hot streak, as well as challenging the batting leaders. The little hot corner guardian bagged 13 more hits in seven straight games in which he has batted safely, stretching to 13, and took a firmer grip on the base hit department at 148. His five-point boost landed him in third place with .343.

Pelham (Pel) Austin, who wrested the lead away from Gilbert two weeks ago, was unable to maintain the rigid pace, dropping 12 points to .339 and fourth spot. He also failed to rap out a two bagger but still leads in that phase with 40.

In the No. 5 slot is Bill Jones, Natchez first baseman, with .332, a loss of 10 points. He is followed by Bill (Fibber) McGhee, El Dorado skipper with .331, a loss of nine; Bobby Greene, Monroe, .330; Carl Tumlinson, Greenwood, .320; Rex Carr, Hot Springs, .308; Bob Richards, Pine Bluff, .308; Rudolph Regelsky, Clarksdale, who jumped from .280 to .307 with 15 hits in 34 tries; Glenn Trugillo, Greenwood, .305; John Paul Jones, Monroe, .305; Jim Bynon, Greenville, .304 and Ben Cantrell, Pine Bluff, .302.

Three batters are deadlocked in triples at 12: Boiko, J. P. Jones and Leon Waszk, Pine Bluff. Pete Konyar, Pine Bluff, is the home run king with 22 four masters. Teammate Steve Molinari is close behind with 19, one more than John Gabos, Hot Springs, whose 18th was a grand slammer, his first but No. 16 for the season. Bill Jones, Carr and Konyar have batted in 85 runs each.

Monroe's Billy Muffett is a two-way pitching leader. The Sport star has won the most games, 17, and sports the highest percentage, .708. He has lost seven. Vachel Perkins, Pine Bluff, has recorded 16 wins and dropped nine. Jerry Gardner, El Dorado and Ira Moxley, Greenwood, hold 15-7 records; Bill Black, Pine Bluff and Don Ferguson, Natchez, 15-10. Cluade White, Monroe, has won 14 and lost eight. Black holds a slim 139,237 strikeout lead over Darvin (The Kid) Chrisco, Monroe. White has whiffed 133; Muffett 125.

Ten hurlers have handed out more than 100 passes, Black and Joe Kopach, Clarksdale skipper, the most generous at 125.

Cab Driver Dies For Girl

New York, Aug. 11—(AP)—A cab driver was killed today when he tried to settle accounts with two hoodlums who jeered at his sweetheart's singing and slapped her face in a Bronx bar.

The girl, Diana Lee, 23, an entertainer, was pestered during the night by the two patrons who kept scoffing at her voice.

Finally she walked over to their table and asked what was wrong. She was slapped.

Her intended husband, Hyman Kabinoff, 29, leaped to his feet and told the two to step outside.

Kabinoff was knocked to the sidewalk and died in a hospital of a skull fracture. The two men fled, unidentified.

Weeping, Miss Lee said she was singing in the place to earn money for the wedding.

SPECIAL SERVICE

Pfc. James C. Sisco, an accomplished composer and entertainer, recently arrived at Nellis Air Force Base and has been assigned to the special service section. Sisco, a native of Monroe, La., showed an interest in dancing at the age of three and began to take lessons. Last October, Sisco appeared in the Horace Heidt Youth Opportunity show in both Monroe and New Orleans. In November he was a guest at the Ted Mack Amateur Hour, which was both broadcast and televised.

CLIMBERS AT LAST REACH PLANE THAT KILLED 21

Leaders of the New Tribes Mission finally arrive at the wreckage of a plane which crashed on Mount Moran near Jackson, Wyo., last November and killed 21 members of their religious sect. Because of deep snow, the peak of the mountain could not be reached until last Monday. Bodies of the victims were found in the plane wreckage. Mission leaders decided to leave them there—and so funeral service was conducted on the crest of the lofty mountain near Yellowstone National Park. The tragedy overtook the plane while flying the religious workers from Chico, Calif., to Billings, Mont. (AP Wirephoto.)

MAN ESCAPES REDS, DIES

Vienna, Aug. 11. —(AP)— Seeking political asylum in the U. S. zone, Vojtch Kaha, a 34-year old Czech, made the dangerous flight across the Czech-Austrian border yesterday. This morning he was found dead in a bath tub from gas which had escaped from a defective water heater, the U. S. army announced.

Calls On Americans To Save Liberty

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 11—(AP)—Adm. William M. Fechteler, new navy chief, called on Americans tonight to work until they sweat to save their liberties from the threat of Communist warfare.

"If rivers of perspiration can save one drop of blood, then it is well worth while," said the recently-chosen Chief of Naval Operations.

"World Communism has shown its hand," Fechteler said in an address prepared for the West Virginia state convention of the American Legion.

"It is all too obvious now that they (the Communists) seek to rule the world, and that only strength can deter them. Therefore we must be strong and remain strong as long as there is any possibility for the Communists to capitalize on weakness.

"Our armed forces must be brought to adequate strength and kept at that strength as long as Communist military might is capable of threatening any part of the free world.

"Regardless of the outcome in Korea, we cannot afford to drop our guard for one instant, because that instant could well mark the death-knell of liberty throughout the world.

"To do this will require considerable sweat on the part of every American. Our factories must produce the necessary arms and equipment for our armed forces and for many of our free neighbors; our farms must produce food for America and for many of our starving friends."

Fechteler borrowed an old Chinese proverb to underline his message: "The more you sweat in peace, the less you bleed in war."

He said America has come a long way toward greater military strength since Korea but still has a long way to go. At the same time, he said he believes "that "America is mentally prepared for the formidable task that lies ahead." Then, warning against any relaxation, he said:

"We cannot consider the winning of one skirmish such as the Berlin airlift, or of one pitched battle such as Korea as signifying final victory in the overall struggle with world communism."

8 Arrested In Plot To Kill King

Amman, Jordan, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Eight men are under arrest and two others, outside Jordan, are accused with them of plotting the assassination of King Abdullah, who was slain July 20. Three of the prisoners are relatives of the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin El Husseini. Another is a Roman Catholic priest.

Premier Tewfik Pasha Abdul Huda announced the charges at a news conference today. He said the investigation has been completed and the case submitted to a special military court which will open the trial here in a few days.

Twenty-one persons once suspected of a connection with the death of the monarch at a mosque in the old city of Jerusalem have been freed. A young Moslem tailor who did the actual shooting was killed by Abdullah's guards at the scene. He was Mustapha Shurkry Ashsho, 21.

Tewfik Pasha said the men under arrest are Dr. Mousa Abdullah El Husseinc, Tewfik Saleh El Husseini and Dr. Daoud El Husseini. Father El Khury Ayad, a Catholic priest long prominent in Arab Nationalist circles in Palestine, Abed Mahmoud Okkeh, Zakaria Mahmoud Okkeh, Abdilkader Harhat and Kamel Abdullah Alkalouti.

The others accused were identified as Mousa Ahmed El Ayoubi and Col. Abdullah El-Tel. They presumably will be tried in Absentia.

El-Tel commanded Abdullah's British-subsidized Arab legion forces in the Arab-Israeli fighting at Jerusalem in 1948. He eventually denounced British influence in the legion, quarreled with the king and fled to exile in Egypt.

CHINESE RAIDERS BOTHERING REDS

Debate Strength Of Nationalist Guerrillas Battling Inside Red China

Hong Kong, Aug. 11. —(AP)— Every day reports come out of Red China that guerrillas are punching the Communists groggy, especially in the south.

In the past 60 days enough confirmation has come through to establish the truth of many raids. Even the Reds are beginning to admit some of them.

Are the guerrillas really getting strong?

Twenty stories about 20 guerilla raids can create the impression of a vast anti-Red movement.

When you add them up, however, they may come to an average of 100 men each.

Twenty raids therefore might involve no more than 2,000 men scattered over four or five big provinces.

Look at it that way, and guerrilla activity seems trifling.

Well, which is it, important or trivial?

The answer, so far, is "pretty small."

Wishful thinkers may make much of the rash of outbreaks, but dispassionate evaluation shows the guerrillas, at present, are no more than any annoyance to the Reds.

They may become more than that, depending on several factors, including the Korean war, but it is a mistake now to view them as a serious threat to the Communists, even to the Red provincial regimes.

I have talked to a number of persons from Red China, and not one takes the guerrilla movement seriously as yet. Even missionaries coming out from remote stations in the hill country say the guerrillas thus far have not been able to establish and hold a base.

The buildup of a resistance area by old Nationalist regular troops under Gen. Li Mi in the southwestern province of Yunnan is the only really sizable operation that is positively known to exist.

Even this may be more in the words of north Burma than on Chinese soil.

Generalissima Chiang Kai shek's Nationalist on Formosa put out hopeful reports about establishment of guerrilla control areas.

As time passes and fact is winnowed from fiction, it becomes apparent that these so-called guerrilla strongholds either never existed or were speedily wiped out by the Reds.

World War 3 May Start With Red Attack On Slavs

Stockbridge, Mass., Aug. 11.—(AP)—World War III could break this autumn with a Russian attack on Yugoslavia, former Assistant Secretary of State A. A. Berle, Jr., said today.

The said intelligence experts figure the chances of war about 50-50, although he personally thought "the climax will not come for another year."

Berle told the annual forum of the Laurel Hill Association, a community improvement society, that Russia plans a triple drive for world power through southeast Asia, Iran and the Balkans.

"We are in the shadow of a diplomatic crisis more dangerous than we have been willing to recognize," he declared. "This crisis is moving faster and more violently even than the headlines indicate. It could mean World War III this autumn, though I think the climax will not come for another year."

Berle said the U. S. is moving to block any Russian grab for the Middle East by strengthening its fleet and air power in the Mediterranean area and by encouraging the admission of Greece and Turkey into the North Atlantic pact.

As a further step in this "crisis diplomacy," Berle said the U. S. can knit together the small countries in the path of the Russian drives by encouraging their Nationalist desires.

"The Kremlin empire from within is not stable, not so strong, and perhaps, in the final account, not so dangerous as it looks from the outside.

"From practically all of the area between the Russian border and the Iron Curtain comes increasing evidence that the satellite armies if put in motion, are as likely to march against the Russians as for them—if only America gives them diplomatic reason and military possibility to do so.

"The Russians have at least learned that overt military action will precipitate conflict," he went on. As of the moment they are apparently not prepared to take that cosmic gamble—which gives America a breathing space in which to work."

Support Of La. Cotton Prices Asked

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Federal support of cotton priced at 45 cents a pound was urged today to prevent "financial losses and hardships" for growers.

Louisiana Agriculture Commissioner W. E. Anderson proposed that the commodity credit corp. be authorized at once "to make a 9 per cent loan of the ceiling price of 45 cents a pound on cotton, in order that farmers may place their cotton in the loan program and hold it there until such time as they can get a reasonable price for it."

His plea was contained in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Charles Grannan.

Anderson said the best farmer can hope for now "is the very low government loan support price of about 30 cents a pound."

Anderson stressed that cotton farmers responded to federal appeals for a 16,000,000-bale crop. "At the time this appeal was made, cotton was selling for about 45 cents a pound."

"Our farmers were confident," he continued, "that the U.S. department of agriculture would take the necessary action to hold the price of cotton at about 45 cents a pound, therefore they put their farm machinery and operations in motion to meet the goal set for 1951."

In the face of cotton production prospects, he said, the price of cotton has declined. "So far," he added, "there has been no indication that the U.S. department of agriculture contemplates taking any action that will prevent our cotton farmers from sustaining tremendous losses."

Brannan's actions recently easing export restrictions will not alleviate the current cotton situation enough to offset anticipated financial losses, Anderson explained.

"The harvest season is at hand," the commissioner said, "and, while our federal government ever tends to act in good faith with the farmers, whom they asked to produce this cotton, action should be taken at once. . .otherwise, much of this cotton will fall into the hands of speculators, and the farmers will still be the losers."

CUT IN MILITARY AID IS OPPOSED

Taft Says It May Be Cheaper To Provide Arms For Western Allies

Washington, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today he doesn't believe military aid to western allies can be cut any sizable amount by congress under present world conditions.

However, the chairman of the senate Republican policy committee called for a reduction of about one half in the proposed $2,200,000,000 foreign economic aid.

Taft told a reporter he thinks it will be necessary to authorize most of the $6,300,000,000 in foreign military assistance asked by the administration in a pending $5,500,000,000 bill.

"It may be cheaper for us to spend our money in providing arms for western Europe than to spend it on our own defenses," he said.

Administration witnesses stressed this point in testimony before the senate foreign relations and armed services committees, saying that European costs are lower than those in the United States.

Taft, a potential candidate for the 1952 Republicon presidential nomination, said he doesn't want to be party to any action which would make it more difficult for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to make a success of his efforts to bring north Atlantic Pact defenses into being.

Military leaders, including Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, have testified any cut in the funds requested would be directly reflected in the number of European divisions which could be brought into existence.

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB PROGRAM IS TOLD

Annual Convention Will Be Held Sept. 1-3 In Opelousas

The completed program for the annual convention of the National Federation of Young Men's clubs, to be held at Opelousas on Sept. 1, 2 and 3, was announced yesterday by A. F. Canizaro, Monroe, president of the state organization.

A number of Monroe members of the association will attend, with several holding important state posts. Charles Marsala, chairman of the Women's Auxiliary, announced that many members of that group also will attend the state meeting.

The official program is as follows:

Saturday, Sept. 1 — Registration, lobby James hotel, from 2:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. Cocktail dance, Cedar Lane Club, 9 p.m.

Sunday — 8 a.m., mass, St. Landry Catholic Church, with His Excellency Bishop Schexnayder, of Crowley, officiating, and sermon by Rev. Fr. S. J. Vitale. 10 a.m. to 12 noon, opening business session at Civic Center. 10 a.m., Ladies Auxiliary meeting, Cedar Lane Club. 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., air show, City Park. 12 noon to 2:30 p.m., barbecue and refreshments, City Park. Speakers invited to address the barbecue meeting are Gov. Earl K. Long, Lt. Gov. Bill Dodd, U. S. Sen. Russell Long and George Piazzi. 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., final business session and election of officers, Civic Center. 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., championship playoff sotfball game, City Park. 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., stag smoker, Cedar Lane Club. 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., ladies cocktail hour, Indian Hill Country Club, 8:45 p.m., Coronation ball, Cedar Lane Club, at which time awarding of trophys and $1,000 in bonds will be made.

Monday—10 a.m., motorboat riding and refreshments for Federation officers and wives, distinguished guests and wives and officers and wives of all chapters, Sheriff Clayton Guilbeau's camp on Bayou Courtableau.

Wildlife Group To Be Organized

Jonesville, Aug. 11.—(Special)—A Catahoula parish unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation may be organized at a meeting in the parish courthouse at Harrisonburg next Tuesday night.

The meeting will be for all those interested in wildlife and in hunting and fishing. Several movies on hunting will be shown by Charles W. Bosch, executive secretary of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation according to Sheriff Fred V. Fairbanks.

One subject to be discussed at the meeting will be a proposal to create a game reserve in the hilly section of the parish. Adjacent areas in adjoining parishes of Caldwell and LaSalle are closed to hunting, it was said at a recent police jury meeting, and there is considerable sentiment in favor of establishing a game reserve in the northwestern part of Catahoula.

3 Bids Received On Curing Plant

Jonesville, Aug. 11.—(Special)—Three bids received for the Harrisonburg meat curing plant will be studied Monday by members of the building committee and the school officials. Bids were opened at a school board meeting this week, and were from United Cork company of New Orleans, for $6,995; Passman Equipment Company of Monroe for $6,792 and Nick's Refrigerator Sales and Service for $2,689, refrigeration units only.

The new plant will be constructed in part of the new food preservation center, and will have complete facilities for cooling and curing meat. It will be 17 feet wide, 25 feet long and 10½ feet high. It will be financed from the $105,000 bond issue voted last fall for improvements in consolidated school district 5.

In the old days New Mexicans followed the proper custom of mounting a burro from behind and riding "astride the rump abaft the hips."

BUTTERFL(EYES)—Worn by Shirley Lewis at London's Optical Trade Exhibition are "Butterfly" spectacles of black plastic, the frame decorated with butterflies.

GETS AWARD

For performance of outstanding duty for his country in flying the Berlin Airlift in 1948-49 on Military Air Transport Service aircraft that carried hundreds of tons of food and supplies to the Russian blockaded city, Technical Sergeant Clyde L. Goss, son of George and Salle Goss, Route 2, Box 1, Lillie, La., has been awarded a cluster to the coveted Air Medal. Goss, an aerial engineer with the 1268th Air Transport Squadron, Hickam A. F. B., is now flying the Pacific-Korean airlift as engineer on giant Douglas C-54's carrying vital cargo to United Nations troops in Korea and returning war wounded to mainland hospitals. The sergeant and Mrs. Goss, the former Irene Boyette of Bernice, reside at 201-B, 14th Street, Hickam, with their three-year-old daughter, Patricia. Presentation of the award was made at a formal ceremony and parade in which 22 units of the 1500th Air Transport Wing took part. (DEFENSE DEPARTMENT PHOTO)

Third Candidate Is In Sheriff's Race

Ferriday, La., Aug. 11.—(Special)—The third candidate for sheriff of Concordia parish has announced. He is H. Alton Martin, Ferriday merchant, who said he would be in the race.

Others who have already announced for the January election are the incumbent Sheriff J. Hartwell Love and former Sheriff Noah Webster Cross.

Martin, who is a member of the police jury from ward seven, served for two years as its president. He was graduated from Louisiana Tech in 1936 with a bachelor of science degree in agriculture, and later received his M. A. from Louisiana State University in horticulture in 1938. He was employed by the federal government before coming to Ferriday to make his home.

OPEN HOUSE HELD AT PLAYGROUND

Tallulah Mayor Speaks On Value Of Wholesome, Directed Recreation

Tallulah, La., Aug. 11.—(Special)—Open house at the newly constructed recreational hut on the community playground here was held Friday night and was attended by a large group of adults and children. M. A. Phillips, who served as master of ceremonies, gave a brief history of the project, begun last spring and spoke of the accomplishments to date.

Mayor W. P. Sevier addressed the assembly on the value of wholesome and directed recreation for the youth and children of the town and J. D. Halbach, president of the Recreational Association told of the new hut as an important asset to the recereational program and of future plans for its expansion.

Coach Malcolm Stone, who has directed the activities for the summer presented Donley Wong with a trophy as winner of the pingpong tournament. Various interesting stunts were presented by participants in the program. The program was concluded with a watermelon cutting. During the summer approximately 2,200 children have attended the swimming classes in Delhi and the playground, baseball, tether ball, croquet and since the opening of the building, ping pong, horseshoe pitching girls' softball and tennis. Three teams have been organized, two boys' baseball and one girls' softball. The children and young people have made periodic visits to the Delhi swimming pool and playground and the Winnsboro playground. The concession stand in the recreational hut has been greatly improved. The program will continue through the remainder of the summer with the addition of arts and crafts every morning.

Members of the board of directors are J. D. Halbach, president; Mrs. R. T. Alexander, Dr. George Webb, Mrs. H. S. Provine, Mrs. W. R. Roper, Maxwell Yerger, Mrs. Dean Allen, Mrs. W. P. Sevier, Jr., M. M. Crothers.

Committee' chairmen are as follows: membership, Mrs. R. T. Alexander; finance, J. W. Love; purchasing, Bob White; grounds, Emmet Craig; public relations, Mrs. W. L. Rountree; social, Mrs. Chris Keller; chaperone, Mrs. W. Z. Adams; activites, Mrs. J. E. Neill, Jr.

FIRE ALARMS

Engine 105 answered a call Saturday morning at 9:23 for a grass fire which occurred behind the People's Gin on the Sterlington road.

The fire, caused by burning grass and trash, was doused within 30 minutes.

Ensuing damages were reportedly very slight.

Gross area of forest lands in New Mexico is 20,000,000 acres.

Catahoula Schools Will Open Sept. 5

Jonesville, Aug. 11—Special —Schools in Catahoula parish will open September 5, the school board decided this week. The date applies to all white schools with the exception of Central, and to colored high schools.

Central will open next Monday, August 13, in order to get a real good edge on the backwater which annually forces its closure.

All schools will run on a short schedule for a month or more to leave the afternoons free for children to help their families with cotton picking. The short schedule will last until most of the harvesting is done.

Current jet engines need two or three times the ordinary nickel found in reciprocating engines.

Principal Named At Sicily Island

Sicily Island, Aug. 11.—(Special)—Principal of Sicily Island High School this year will be Ralph P. Turner, of Marianna, Ark. He was appointed by the school board to take the place of Cameron B. Coney, on leave of absence to complete some survey work for the state department of education.

Turner is 32 years of age. He is a graduate of Arkansas State Teachers College and earned his master's degree at the University of Arkansas. He has a record of more than five years teaching experience and 45 months in the armed services.

Hey Kids!

you, too, DAD!

For 2-Good Used Tires We Will Give You $4.00 Plus An ALLSTATE Zoomerang gun!

AND KIDS!

It Really Shoots!

Pull the trigger and out comes a gay whirl of plastic with pictures on it. Perfectly safe!

HERE'S HOW TO GET YOUR ALL-STATE ZOOMERANG GUN

Ask Dad for those old tires that are out in the garage back of the corral. Or round up old tires from your neighbor's corral. If there are no breaks or holes, (if they are bald on top, that's O.K. partner) in the tires, bring them to Sears Service Station and let us look at them. We'll pay you $2.00 for each good used tire you bring in AND for every two tires we will also give you a ZOOMERANG GUN. So get on your horse, partner, and begin rounding up those strays. Be the first in your neighborhood to get a ZOOMERANG GUN.

A MESSAGE TO DAD

Dad, we need thousands of good used tires for our recapping program. (Does that old tire in your garage fit your present car?) If you have any tires without breaks or obvious defects, bring them to Sears Service Station, and we will give you 2.00 apiece for them. All tires will be individually inspected by our salesmen.

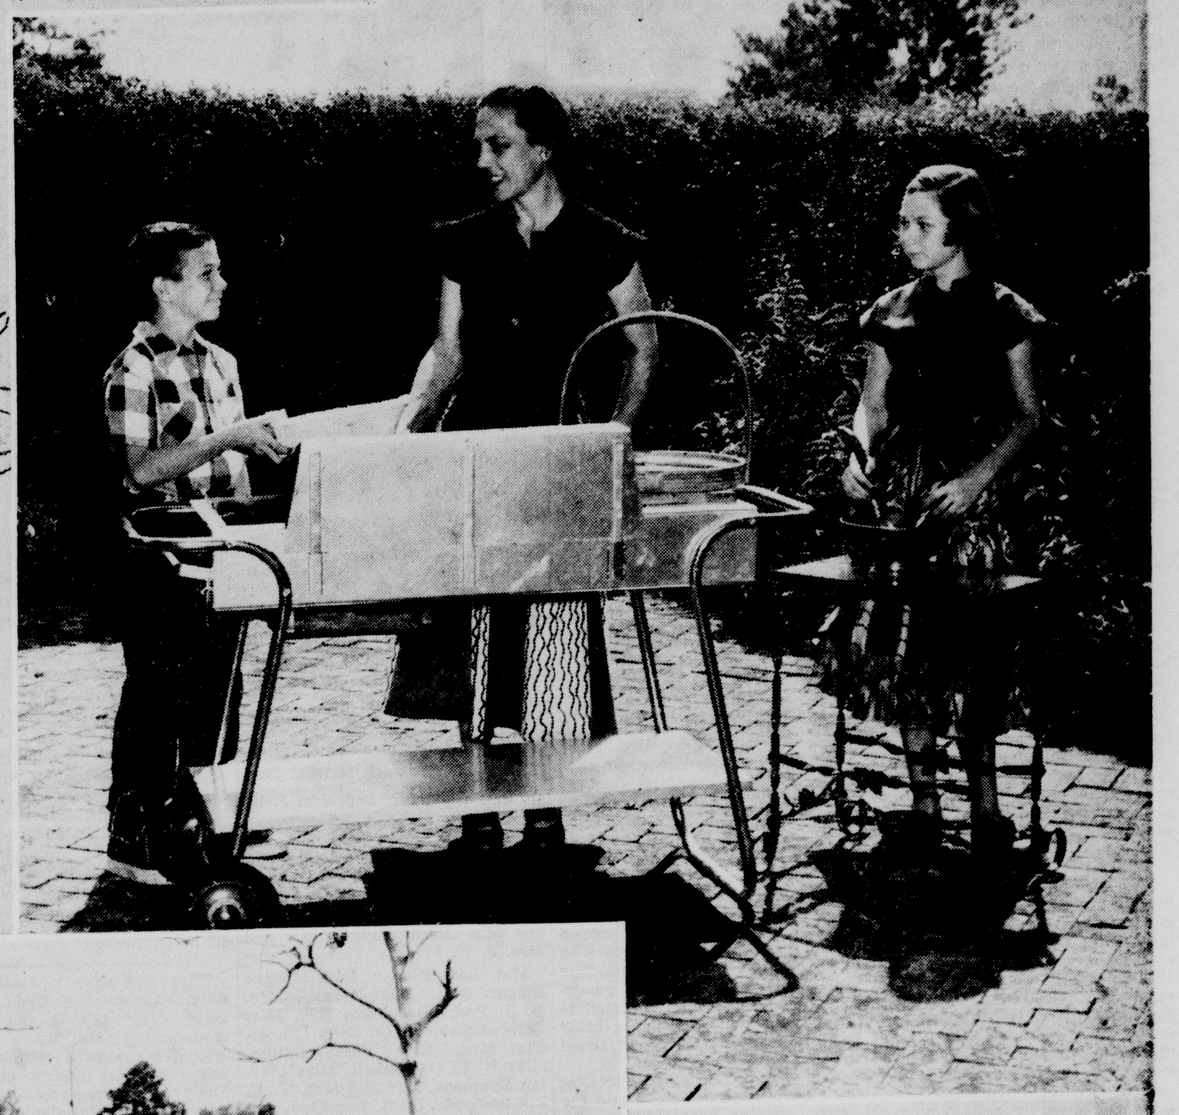
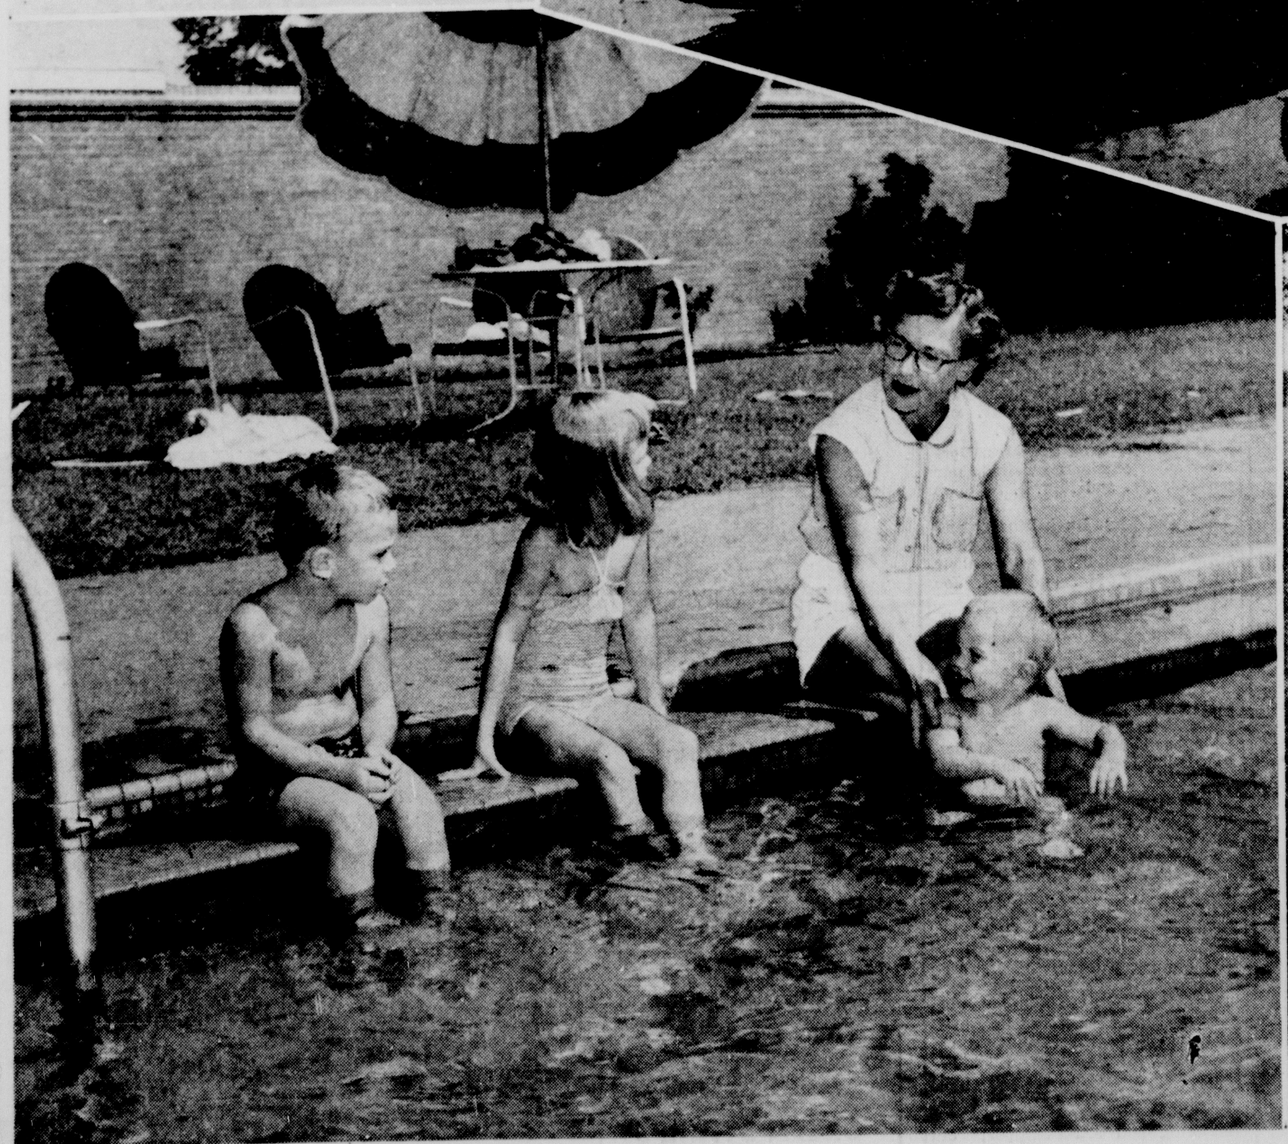
MONROE MORNING WORLD

August 12, 1951

Summer days find Monroyans interested in a diversity of activities as today's pictures reflect. It never gets too warm for a horseback ride, declare Marianna Altick, left, and Elstner Frazer, right, in above scene with Marianna's "Fella" and Elstner's "Pal," who make willing subjects for the photographer. To secure sheer comfort, nothing is more enticing than a boat ride, declare Mamie Jo Drouet, left, and Billy Harper, right, shown in center scene. Lower left, Mrs. H. W. McSherry takes her children for a dip into the pool at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.



Food can be such fun when it is prepared outdoors! Upper right picture shows Mrs. King Stubbs being assisted by two of her children, William King, Jr., and Sue, as they decide that the patio is the right place for supper. Lower right finds four golf enthusiasts taking time out for a refreshing drink on the grounds of the Country Club. Shown, left to right, are Mrs. Allen Barham, Mrs. Aileen Guthrie, Mrs. Walter Kellogg and Mrs. Carroll Summer. (Staff photos by Leon Noland, Jr., and Marvin DuBos.)



Verdue Netherland Becomes Bride Of Pfc. Robert Hardin

Couple Exchange Vows In Evening Ceremony At Crowville Baptist Church

In a candlelight service at the Crowville Baptist Church Miss Verdue Netherland became the bride of Pfc. Robert L. Hardin on July 14 in a double-ring ceremony, with the Rev. C. S. Wroten pastor, officiating. The couple exchanged their vows at seven o'clock in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Netherland of Crowville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hardin of Monroe.

Glistening magnolia leaves were employed as a verdant background against which white gladioli contrasted as they overflowed from tall white standards. The beauty of the scene was enhanced by cathedral tapers in seven-branched candelabra whose soft glow created a pretty effect.

The candles were lighted by Mr. Billy Netherland and Mr. Carl King, the bride's nephews.

Pre-nuptial music was played by Mrs. D. L. Walters, Jr., of Crowville, who also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Credel Simms of Monroe, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Bridal Attendants

Serving the bride as her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Phil Killian of Crowville. She was gowned in soft yellow nylon net over yellow taffeta. She wore a matching stole over the strapless bodice which was joined to a billowy skirt of floor length. She wore a taffeta headdress of matching yellow and carried an old fashioned bouquet of Marconi daisies.

Miss Doris Roe of this city was the bridesmaid. Her gown of pale green nylon net over matching cola taffeta was similar in design to the matron of honor's gown, and she also carried a bouquet of daisies.

The Bride's Gown

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown fashioned with a chantilly lace bodice and a skirt of nylon net over satin, which ended in a train. The waist featured a nylon illusion off-the-shoulder yoke and long sleeves which ended in points over the wrist. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a beaded pearl headdress, and she carried a bouquet of fleur de'amour. For something old, she wore a diamond ring made from the bridegroom's grandmother's ear rings; for something new, she wore a beautiful strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom; for something blue, she carried a handkerchief of Georgette crepe edged in tatting and made from her eldest sister's wedding gown.

The bridegroom's brother, Mr. J. F. Hardin, Jr. of this city served as best man. The ushers were Mr. W. C. Hardin of Monroe, brother of the bridegroom and Mr. P. N. Killian of Crowville, brother-in-law of the bride.

Wedding Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in the home of the bride's parents. Her mother, Mrs Netherland was wearing a navy crepe gown with black accessories and a corsage of Marconi daisies. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs Hardin, was gowned in brown floral sheer and her corsage was of pink carnations.

The decorative note in the reception suite was accented by yellow daisies arranged in artistic design and placed at vantage points.

The bride's table overlaid with an imported linen lace cloth, was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake surmounted by bride and groom figurines. Lighted tapers in candelabra were placed at either end of the table and cast a soft glow to create a pretty effect. From a large bowl at one end fruit punch was served by Miss Mary Alice Walters of Winnsboro and cousin of the bride. Miss Barbara Netherland, the bride's niece of Crowville, presided over the cake. Mints embossed in daisies and individual cakes were passed among the guests.

Presiding at the bride's book was Mrs. John Morgan of Monroe.

For travel, the bride chose a two-piece dress of blue crepe with pink trim, pink hat and matching gloves. Following a short honeymoon, the bridegroom reported to Camp Stoneman, Calif. The bride is residing at 800 St. John street in Monroe.

Mrs. Hardin is a graduate of the Crowville High School and the nurses training school at the St. Francis Sanitarium.

Private Hardin graduated from Neville High School and Northeast Louisiana State and he attended Louisiana Tech.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding included: Mrs. J. F. Hardin, Mr. Jack Hardin, Mrs. W. C. Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hammett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Seidenspinner Jr. Mrs. J. L. Seidenspinner, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilhuson and Billy, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Netherland and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Walters, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moak.

Mrs. Bess Biggar, Miss Miriam Biggar, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. B. S. Roe, Miss Doris Roe, Miss Carolyn Swain, Miss Betty Lou Alpha, Miss Ella Pearl Sutton, Miss D L. O. Puckett, Miss Marian Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Rowland, Mr. J. M. Hamilton, Mr. K. J. Jones, Mrs. Credel Sims, Mrs. H. S. Chilton, Miss Alice Chilton, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Trichel, Mrs. A. Keller, Mrs. L. M. Posey, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Folds and Mary Elizabeth, Mrs. Rose Campbell, Mrs. Lois Greer, Mrs. J. Williams, all of Monroe.

Miss Nelle Curphy of Vicksburg, Miss., Mrs. Alice Cruse of Alexandria, La., Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson of Baton Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Netherland and Alan of Lake Charles, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walters, Miss Alice Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Netherland, Mr. Billy Netherland, all of Winnsboro.

When you slice smoked tongue start at the small end and hold the knife diagonally so as to get good-sized pieces. When you get toward the middle of the tongue you can start slicing crosswise. Along with a vegetable salad and drusty rolls, the cold smoked tongue slices will make a delicious hot weather meal.

Miss Janet Washburne Gives Tea For Miss Jean Sproles

The attractive home of Miss Janet Washburne of Delhi was the setting for a miscellaneous shower on Friday, August 10. The occasion honored Miss Jean Sproles, whose marriage to Dr. Doyle Roach Hamilton will be celebrated this month. Miss Sproles is a niece of Mrs. A. D. Tisdale of this city.

The hostess employed gladioli and asters in pretty arrangements throughout the reception suite.

Miss Sproles was wearing a coffee tissue faille trousseau model and a corsage of spiced French carnations. The mother of the bride - elect Mrs. Henry Franklin Sproles, wore a brown voile and corsage of yellow carnations.

A color theme of lavender and yellow was developed in the dining room, where the decor for the tea table was a low bowl of asters in these shades. The same colors were used in the dainty confections which decorated one end of the table. A large bowl of frosted punch was placed at the other end.

Serving as tea girls were Miss Amy Lou Smith, Miss Zona Mae Morris, Miss Marianne Washburne and Miss Beverly Smith.

A special feature was the opportunity to view the display of lovely gifts in the adjoining room.

Miss Washburne presented the honoree with pieces of crystal in her chosen pattern.

LAKE PROVIDENCE

Announcements have been received in Lake Providence from Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. (Pete) Chaney, Jr., of Alameda, Calif., of the arrival of a daughter, Carrol Ann, on July 23. Mrs. Chaney, before her marriage, was Miss Betty Bolton. Both Mr. and Mrs. Chaney are former residents of Lake Providence.

Kappa Delta Members Enjoy Recent House Parties Here

Group Entertained At Varied Social Events In Fred Bennett And O. N. Reynolds Homes

Kappa Delta members from Louisiana Tech enjoyed a recent week end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett in their beautiful home in West Monroe and as guest of the O. N. Reynolds at their plantation home, "Synope."

Gathering at the Bennett residence for a salad and ice course in the sorority colors, green and white, proved a delightful beginning for a fun-packed party. Later the group motored to "Synope" on the Ouachita River.

A barbecue for the house party and their dates was given Friday evening. Saturday morning included swimming at Bayou DeSiard Country Club, followed by a picnic lunch, with the Bennetts as hosts.

The climax was a lovely dance at "Synope" to which other guests were invited. The patio was aglow with candles and hanging bird cages filled with flowers and greenery, with a "bird out of the cage" atop. Iced punch and other frosted drinks were served throughout the evening.

Interspersing planned events were tennis, horseback riding and delectable meals in the country dining room for diversion.

Sunday the party returned to Monroe where they were guests of the Bennetts for church and dinner at The Rendezvous.

Miss Betty Bennett and Mrs. Reynolds, who are members of Kappa Delta, were assisted in entertaining by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett, Fred Bennett, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, Misses Jennie and Jorenda Reynolds, Mr. Neal Reynolds, Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, Mrs. James L. Martin, Sr., and Mr. Forrest Martin.

On the occasion of their twentieth anniversary in June, Alpha Chi Chapter of Delta Kappa invited Mrs. Reynolds, a charter member of the chapter to be their guest speaker and special guest for the week-end.

Agent Describes Method To Employ In Securing Best Results From Nylon

Nylon fabrics are easily laundered, but there are a few precautions to be observed in order to get good results, warns Mrs. Mildred Swift, associate home demonstration agent.

Some people report that their white nylons have shown yellow or grey cast. This can be prevented by washing white nylons separately from colored articles, and by using a mild detergent or water softener and soap if water is hard.

Deposits from soap and hard water will give white nylon a grey cast just as it does other fibers. Although colors in garments may be fast, they often leave enough discoloration to give an "off-white" tinge to white nylon.

Strong bleaches will weaken nylon just as it will other fibers. They should therefore be used carefully and only when necessary. The amount recommended for a normal cotton bleach should be satisfactory for nylon. As far as nylon itself is concerned, any properly made nylon fabric is washable, but dyes, finishes, and trims may not be. So, if you find manufacturer's instructions of whether to wash or dry clean a garment, it is well to follow them.

Nylon is easy to store but make sure that it is clean and in a cool, dark place; nylon has no attraction for moths and silver fish; spots are often easily removed with soap and water, but, if some are resistant, the usual household cleaning fluids will remove spots from nylon too; some nylon fibers require pressing and these usually iron better slightly damp, but care should be exercised to always use a warm iron. High temperatures damage and yellow nylons.

Nylon gives long wear and satisfaction if handled properly.

'The Road To Bithynia'

Library Receives Fall Books

One of the first of the new fall books has arrived at the Ouachita Parish Public Library during the past week. It is "The Road to Bithynia' and the author is Frank G. Slaughter. This is a novel based on the life of Luke, the beloved physician.

Mr. Slaughter has written a number of novels with a medical background. Especially popular are his stories with Civil War settings, "In a Dark Garden" and "The Stubborn Heart." It is especially fiting that Mr. Slaughter should write the story of Luke. This novel is set against a brilliant barbaric panorama of the Middle East in the years immediately following the Crucifixion. It is the story of Luke's search for peace in a tempestuous age and of the many fascinating figures he meets in this quest: sturdy, humble Peter; Herod, licentious and treacherous King of the Jews; and strange fiery Paul, most zealous missionary of the New Gospel.

Luke witnesses the trial and stoning of Stephen in Jerusalem and blood curdling arena spectacles in Caesarea. He studies medicine in the charlatan Temple of Asklepios in Pergamum and marches with the Roman legions against the rebellious Paphlagonians. As a doctor and companion to Paul, he travels through the major cities of the biblical world.

In contrast to the violence which continuously surrounds the early Christians is the tender love story of Luke and the beautiful Thecla, one of Paul's followers. This is a most sincere religious novel and one that will take its place with "The robe" and "The big fisherman." Slaughter writes in a fascinating, readable manner and this book is well worth reading. There is a great interest in novels with a religious feeling and hope and this book should be an inspiration to every reader.

Because many people do not realize the greatness of the country in which we live and because the story of America is the curcial story of our times, the editors of Fortune magazine have prepared a fascinating book called "U. S. A. The Permanent Revolution." This is a book that should be read by every citizen of our country.

The first part of the work is concerned with the American way of live. It explains why we are the way we are and that the original ideas behind the American government are still valid and have served us well. The second part is devoted to the American system of capital and labor. American capitalism has left the European system far behind. Our political parties are not the traditional parties of left and right, and the United States labor movement has been a middle class movement.

The third part of the book is concerned with the problem of free men in a world that is not free. The key to social development lies in individual initiative. The foreign policy of the United States is examined with the feeling that if we define the ends, the means will come easier. This volume should be read by every thoughtful citizen of our country.

Because of the excellent of the Monroe Little Theatre there is a great interest in our community in all phases of the threatre. People who are interested will welcome the addition of a new reference book to the library collection. It is "The Oxford Companion to the Theatre." It is the definitive reference boon on the theatre as a living entity. It covers all countries and all periods. Of special interest are the long articles on the history of the theatre in each country. Information of all sorts concerning the theatre can be found in this book. It should be widely used.

Each month the Ouachita Parish Public Library is extending its services. In July 197 new regisrants were added to the library rolls. There are now 18,865 people who borrow books from the Ouachita Parish Public Library. These people borrowed 24,483 books in July. When this is compared with the circulation figure of 7,372 for July 1946, just five years ago, it can be seen how he library has extended its services over a five-year period.

Of the books circulated in July 1951, 10,450 were from the Monroe Branch 5,173 from the West Monroe Branch, 7,413 from the bookmobile, and 1,447 from the Carver Branch. The library has books and information of interest to people of all ages and types, Miss Frances Flanders, librarian explains. "It's your library," she says," and if you are not using it, you are missing a great opportunity for pleasure and education."

DOROTHY MOODY BECOMES BRIDE OF EDWARD PARMER IN LATE JULY

Miss Dorothy Moody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Moody of this city, and Edward Parmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McMullen, also of Monroe, were united in marriage on Saturday, July 21 at 8 p. m. at the Central Baptist Church.

The Rev. C. Roger Johnson performed the ceremony against a background of white gladioli. Tiers of tall white candles were lighted by the altar boys, Charles Wood and Gilbert Vascoco. Mrs. C. Roger Johnson played piano selections during the service and she accompanied Miss Charlotte Achord as she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride wore a floor -length gown of white organdy embroidered in tiny white flowers. The shoulder cape of the dress was trimmed in seed pearls. She carried a Bible on which rested white carnations and tube roses. For something new, the bride wore a penny in her shoe, and for something borrowed, she carried an imported lace handkerchief.

Mrs. R. A. Keller, the bride's sister and matron of honor was gowned in olive green satin with fitted bodice and ballerina skirt. She wore a picture hat of stiff net which matched her dress, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Ethel Myers and Miss Geraldine Vascoco served as bridesmaids. Miss Myers chose a blue dress with matching picture hat and she carried pink carnations. Miss Vascoco was gowned in yellow with matching picture hat. Both carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The flower girl was Marylynn Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hale. She wore a white organdy frock and carried a flower basket of pink carnations. George Robert Willis, son of Mrs. Lyeet Willis, was the ring bearer.

Serving his brother as best man was Mr. Jack Parmer, and the groomsmen were Mr. Bob Keller and Otis Hawthorne. Ushering were Mr. Roy Jones and Mr. Raymond Goza.

Mrs. Moody, mother of the bride, was attired in light blue sheer voile over blue taffeta with white accessories. Mrs. McMullen, the groom's mother, wore navy crepe with black accessories. Mrs. Moody's corsage was of white carnations and Mrs. McMullen's was of pink carnations.

The reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Welcoming the guests was Mrs. R. A. Keller, sister of the bride. The reception suite was decorated in lavender and gold flowers arranged in artistic fashion.

The bride's table featured lace doilies and satin ribbons. The large wedding cake was embossed in tube roses. The confection was served with punch from a large bowl presided over by Mrs. Lyeet Willis.

For her going away dress the bride chose a light blue tissue chambray with white accessories.

MISS MARGIE MARIE SIMS BECOMES AUGUST BRIDE OF NATHAN WILSON

Of interest to their friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Margie Marie Sims, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sims of West Monroe, and Mr. Nathan Edward Wilson, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Wilson, also of West Monroe.

The couple exchanged their wedding vows on Sunday afternoon, August 5 at 1:30 o'clock in the home of the bridegroom's parents, with only members of the two families and a few close friends attending.

The Rev. W. C. Mason officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a gown of pale blue lace with which she wore a white hat and veil. She carried a white Bible on which rested pink carnations with matching satin streamers.

Miss Margaret Wilson, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a sheer orchid dress with white accessories and a corsage of delicate pink carnations.

Mr. Dwayne Dowdy served the bridegroom as his best man.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony. The reception suite was attractive with arrangements of red roses and hibiscus.

The bride's mother was wearing sheer navy voile with matching accessories and a corsage of pink hibiscus. The bridegroom's mother was attired in dark gray sheer with white accessories and she wore a white carnation corsage.

The bride's table, overlaid with white linen cloth, was centered with white hibiscus. A pretty feature was the tiered wedding cake embossed in roses and hearts and surmounted by bride and groom figurines. At one end of the table was a large bowl from which frosted punch was served by Miss Jeanette Simmons and Miss Jane Hoffman.

Serving the cake were Mrs. C. B. Deskins, sister of the bride, and Mrs. C. E. McDowell. Individual cakes and other confections were passed among the guests.

For a honeymoon trip to Biloxi and other places along the Gulf Coast, the bride changed her gown for a navy linen with white accessories and white carnations.

The couple will be at home at 211 Lincoln street, West Monroe.

Doss-Gates Marriage Vows Said In Impressive Service

Late Afternoon Wedding Is Celebrated In First Baptist Church Of Simsboro

In an impressive candlelight ceremony, Miss Frances Edwina Doss became the bride of Glen Ray Gates in the First Baptist Church, of Simsboro. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doss of Simsboro and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Gates of West Monroe.

The couple exchanged their vows in a double-ring service at five o'clock in the afternoon, with the Rev. A. H. Johnson of Ruston officiating.

They stood against a background of beautiful pink gladioli and gleaming cathedral tapers in tall candelabra.

Mrs. Minnie Burt played a program of music as the guests assembled and she also accompanied Miss Olive Ann Sumlin, the soloist, who sang "Because" and "Oh, Promise Me."

The tapers were lighted by Mr. Billy Napper of Hico and nephew of the bride.

Matron of Honor

Mrs. J. R. Loper, the bride's sister who served as her matron of honor, was wearing a green organdy dress over matching taffeta. Another sister, Miss Wanda Faye Doss, wore a similar gown as maid of honor.

The bridesmaids, Miss Claudine Crawley, Miss Betty Jean Stuart and Mrs. Wallace Harrison, were gowned in pink organdy worn over matching taffeta. All wore floral bandeaux to match the shades of their dresses and they carried bouquets of pink asters.

The flower girl was Dotty Swilley of Shreveport and niece of the bride. She wore pink organdy over taffeta. Her twin brother, Robert Swilley served as ring bearer. He wore a white satin suit.

The Bride

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white slipper satin which ended in a long train. The gown was accented by a high neckline and long pointed sleeves, while lace medallions outlined the neck and shoulders. Her finger tip veil of illusion was edged in handsome lace and fell gracefully from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with white satin streamers.

Serving as the bridegroom's best man was Mr. Harold Kennedy of Baton Rouge. The ushers were Mr. Roy Gates and Mr. William Gates of Monroe, brothers of the bridegroom, Mr. Archie Doss of Dubach, brother of the bride, and Mr. J. D. Wink of West Monroe.

Following the wedding a reception was given in the social room of the church.

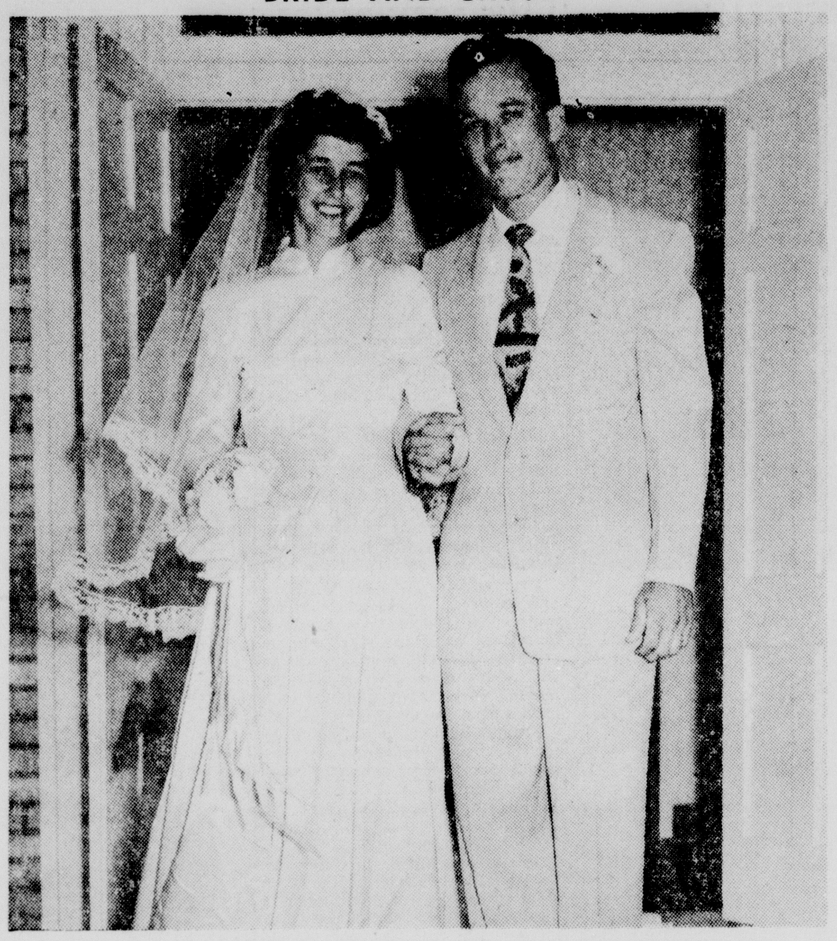
Bride's Table

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over pink satin and it held a beautiful pink and white floral decor. At one end of the table was the wedding cake, a three-tiered confection embossed with pale pink roses and surmounted by bride and groom figurines. Presiding at the cake was Mrs. Roy Gates of Monroe. At the other end was the large bowl from which frosted punch was served by Mrs. B. B. Gates of Monroe.

For a honeymoon in North Carolina and Washington, D. C., the bride donned a blue silk faille tailleur with which she used white accessories and white carnation corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Louisiana Tech, where she was a member of Alpha Pi Epsilon. The bridegroom also graduated from Louisiana Tech and he holds membership in Theta Xi Fraternity.

BRIDE AND GROOM



Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ray Gates are seen leaving the Baptist Church of Simsboro following their wedding in late July. The bride is the former Miss Frances Edwina Doss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Doss of Simsboro, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gates of West Monroe.

Yerger-Andre Marriage Vows Said In Impressive Ceremony

Reception At Tallulah Country Club Follows Church Nuptials In Vicksburg

A beautiful wedding of widespread interest in northeast Louisiana and west Mississippi was that of Miss Martha Hutcheson Yerger, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sizer Yerger, Jr., of Mound, and Carl Ferdinand Andre, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ferdinand Andre of Vicksburg, which took place at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Vicksburg on Saturday evening, August 4, at seven o'clock. The vos were exchanged in a setting of white gladioli, stock, asters and fever few in altar vases and floor baskets, illuminated with cathedral candles.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Maimo Minter played appropriate organ music and accompanied Miss Delores Kern of DeRidder, La. who sang in lovely voice, "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love." The traditional wedding marches marked the beginning and end of the ceremony. The impressive Episcopal service was read by the Rev. W. G. Christian, rector of All Saints College, and Rev. Robert M. Allen, rector of Holy Trinity Church.

Bridesmaids Wear Blue

The bridesmaids were Miss Emma Jean Myers of Glen Allen, Miss., Mrs. Pearce Bailey of Tallulah, Miss Ruth Parsons, Miss Helen Herring, Miss Jane Wailes, Mrs. Edley H. Jones, Jr., and Mrs. Hugh Nichells, all of Vicksburg. The junior bridesmaid was Miss Sigrid Andre, sister of the groom. All were gowned in blue nylon net over taffeta with full hoop skirts and strapless bodices worn with lace boleros. Their matching halo hats of shirred net were trimmed with tiny daisies, and they carried French bouquets of shaded carnations and maline tied with pink ribbons.

The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Yerger, sister of the bride, wore a yellow net and taffeta floor-length model with lace inserts in the full skirt and a lace bolero. Her hat was of shirred yellow net trimmed with daisies on either side and her flowers were shaded blue carnations, yellow heather, agapanthus with blue tulle and ribbons.

Bride Chooses Satin

The bride was beautiful in her wedding gown of antique ivory satin. The fitted bodice was trimmed with lace inserts in the yoke and the top of the long sleeves that were fastened with tiny covered buttons and ending in points over the hands. The long full skirt, also trimmed in Belgian lace, extended into a cathedral train. Her veil was of handmade Italian lace, a family heirloom, which was worn over illusion, and she carried a prayer book mounted with lilies of the valley and an ivory orchid from which ivory satin streamers fell.

The bridegroom had as his best man, Laurence J. Clark, Jr., of Vicksburg and the groomsmen were Andre Wise and John Wise of Hazlehurst, Miss., cousins of the groom, Robert Selby Louis Chatham, Richard Marcus, John Thomas Cooper and Edley H. Jones, Jr., all of Vicksburg. Charles Vernon of Hazlehurst and George Rogers served as ushers.

Mrs. Yerger, the bride's mother, wore a dress of mauve crepe with a purple orchid corsage and hat of lilac covered velvet leaves with net veil, Mrs. Andre, the groom's mother was attired in a gown of champagne colored net over gold taffeta with which she wore a net stole and hat to match. Her corsage was a purple orchid.

Reception at Club

Following the wedding a brilliant reception was held at the Community Club in Tallulah which was deocrated with bamboo vines, handsome pot plants, and floor baskets filled with a variety of white flowers. A lovely floral arrangement, flanked by branched candelabra holding white tapers, formed the centerpiece for the damask covered table where fruit punch and champagne were served with trays of dainty sandwiches and decorated cakes. The bride's table held a four-tiered cake in white and silver, surmounted with a miniature bride and groom and wreathed with valley lilies. There was also the groom's cake, a nut confection in a similar setting.

In the receiving line with members of the wedding party were the parents of the bride and groom, Mrs. George S. Yerger, Sr., of Mound and Mrs. J. O. Hutcheson of Magnolia, Ark., the bride's grandmothers and Mrs. C. F. Slyhart, the groom's grandmother. Assisting in the courtesies were Miss Ednah Margaret Yerger and Miss Dorothy Yerger cousins of the bride, Miss Marsha McClain, Miss Josephine McCrone, Miss Martha Ann Johnson, Miss Patricia Best, Miss Jean Moore, Miss Jane Workman and Miss Marie Ashford. Presiding at the bride's book were Miss Barbara Jean Sevier and Miss Leo Adams.

After the reception the couple left for a honeymoon trip. For traveling the bride was attired in a rose colored real silk dress trimmed with large self covered buttons and a hat of navy trimmed with rose colored flowers. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. On their return they will make their home in Baton Rouge.

A large number of out-of-town friends and relatives attended the wedding and reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ransom Give Fish Supper For Jean Gentry

Attractive Affair Held At The Ransom Camp On The Ouachita River

On the gently sloping banks of the Ouachita River is the hospitable camp of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Ransom which was the setting for an interesting and enjoyable pre-nupital party for Miss Jean Gentry and Mr. Fred Huenefeld, Jr., whose wedding will be celebrated this month.

The tables were placed on the moonlit lawn. The central decor of the bridal table was a unique bride and groom. The bride was fashioned from an ear of corn, complete with bridal robe and lily of the valley bouquet. A squash formed the bridegroom. The couple stood at an altar of garden vegetables.

Continuing this theme the hosts presented the honoree with a corsage of cleverly arranged radishes, cauliflower, carrots, peppers and onions, all which resembled seasonal flowers.

Trays of fish and other savory dishes were served. At the conclusion of the meal, Mr. and Mrs. Ransom presented Miss Gentry with gifts of sterling silver in her chosen pattern.

Those enjoying the pleasant outing were: Miss Gentry, Mr. Huenefeld, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gentry, Miss Sylvia Gentry, Mrs. Herschel Gentry, Jr., Mr. Fred Huenefeld, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McDonald, Miss Jeannette McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ransom, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rainwater, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Cruthirds, Mr. James Madison, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Ransom and Miss Jo Ann Ransom.

Jimmie Fidler In Hollywood

Hollywood, August 11. — If there is any real sincerity behind Hollywood's often - expressed anxiety to improve the movie industry's "public relations," it's high time to lower the boom on Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner who, by their blatant defiance of every convention, seem to be hell-bent on equaling the Bergman - Rossellini and Hayworth - Aly Khan scandals.

I can understand MGM's reluctance to crack down on Miss Gardner, for the beauteous Ava, in her last two pictures, has displayed the kind of ability that makes top-flight stars. But the question presented by her conduct with Sinatra is bigger than the value of any one star. It's an offense to millions of Americans — the same Americans whom the movie industry is frantically trying to lure back into the theaters. Those millions may be illogical if they damn the movie industry at large for Ava's actions — but they will be completely logical, it seems to me, if, after all of Hollywood's talk about the "protection of the industry's reputation, etc., etc. etc.," her studio fails to exercise its privilege under the "morals clause" which is part of every star's contract, and give her her walking papers.

Sinatra, not being under contract to any one studio, has no "morals clause" hanging over his head, and judging from his recent ill-tempered remarks in Mexico City, in which he attributed his fame to "my voice and the American public," has no sense of responsibility to the industry which has done so much for him.

The fact is (whether Frankie-Boy has intelligence and integrity enough to acknowledge it or not; that he owed both the motion picture industry and the American public a heavy debt of gratitude. He's violated that obligation by being a partner in precisely the kind of a scandal that has contributed so disastrously to Hollywood's poor public relations. If the studio bosses overlook his conduct, and put him before the cameras again, they will be strengthening the hand of every critic the industry has.

If he were ten times the star he is, Frankie's current headlines would still make him more of a liability to Hollywood than an asset.

Preview Nights: The best picture of a so-so week is 20th Century - Fox's "Meet Me After the Show," a Technicolored musical co-starring Betty (the lady with the legs) Grable and Macdonald Carey, and featuring Rory Calhoun, Eddie Albert, Fred Clark, Lois Andrews and Irene Ryan. It's another backstage yarn, but clever work on the part of its authors, Mary Loos and Richard Sale, have endowed it with a number of fresh "twists." Catchy tunes, eye-filling dance routines and some rather hilarious comedy situations combine to make it out-standing in its field—a best bet for any fan who likes filmusicals. . . . Paramount's "Rhubarb," based on H. Allen Smith's screwball novel about an alleycat that inherits a major league ball club, is the broadest kind of farce, and likely fodder for argument wherever it plays. Those who like it, will like it a lot; those who don't like it will pull out all the stops in condemning it. Ray Milland, Jan Sterling and Gene Lockhart head the human cast, but it's the cat, "Rhubarb," as tough a feline as ever looted a garbage pail, that pussyfoots away with acting honors. . . . Producers Pine and Thomas, who specialize in action melodrama, have a fast-moving, thrill-packed but not too believable entree in "Crosswinds," which co-stars John Payne, Rhonda Fleming and Forrest Tucker. The yarn deals with a search for a lost plane which, loaded with gold and the beauteous Miss Fleming, has crashed in the New Guinea jungles. Rate this one above-par for the Class B course — and I think you'll find it more entertaining than some of the Class AAA attractions with which it will be teamed. . . . "G.I. Jane," an independent offering, is a low budget musical with Jean Porter, Tom Neal and Iris Adrian in the top roles. It's cinematic fluff, bound together with a plot that will try your patience, but it does have a fair quota of good music and good chuckles. . . . Universal - International's "Little Egypt", co-starring Mark Stevens, Rhonda Fleming and Nancy Guild, is disappointing, trite in story development and static in direction. Despite its superb Technicolor photography, the average fan, in my opinion, will find it a very ho-hum item. . . . "Let's Go Navy," another comedy in Monogram's "Bowery Boys" series, is a decided improvement on its predecessors. It's a fast-moving, well-plotted and it packs a capacity load of laughs. . . . The most - disappointing - picture - of - the - week award goes to MGM's "The Strip," which has Mickey Rooney and Sally Forrest in the star roles and presents a long list of "guest stars" including Vic Damone, Monica Lewis, Louis Armstrong and Jack Teagarden. The plot is contrived and the characters are too artificial to be interesting.

To get a good buy in limes for cool drinks, see that the limes are heavy in size: This means they'll have plenty of juice. Large green limes are called "Tahiti" or "Persian;" smaller yellow limes are often called "Key" limes because they grow in largest quantity on the Florida Keys.

MRS. CHARLES C. DEAN

Mrs. Charles C. Dean is the former Miss Carolyn Gulley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gulley, before her marriage on July 22. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Karl Gaiser and Mr. W. T. Dean of Monroe.

DAVIS-TROSCLAIR WEDDING PARTY ENTERTAINED AT REHEARSAL SUPPER

Final in a series of lovely parties complimenting Miss Donna Marie Davis prior to her marriage to Boniface Trosclair of Reserve was the rehearsal supper, with Miss Davis' maternal aunt, Miss Margaret Jennings of Chicago, Ill., entertaining members of the bridal party, their relatives and a few close friends.

The Davis home was attractive with zinnias and potted plants, attractively placed throughout the living and dining rooms.

Guests to enjoy the hospitality of the hostess, and the beautifully appointed meal of delectable dishes attractively served by Miss Jennings were: Miss Donna Davis, Boniface Trosclair, Elizabeth Davis, Leon Minsky, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Donovan F. Davis, Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Collins, Mrs. Catherine H. Richards, Mrs. John Manson, Lumberton, Miss., Mrs. S. A. Seegers and daughter, Miss Kathryn Seegers, Logansport.

Mr. and Mrs. Dohlham Courtney Bernhardt, Monroe, Miss Jonnie V. Guitreau, Baton Rouge, Miss Valerye Land, Conway, Ark., Perry Guedry, St. Amant, John Russell Davis, Paul Rosenzweig, Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Brupbacher, Mrs. C. R. Brown and Mrs. H. T. Van Fossen.

LAKE PROVIDENCE

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Horne and son and daughter, David and Cissy, are expected home this week end after a week's motor trip which took them to Russelville, Conway and Wynne, Ark., and Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. F. H. Schneider, Jr., and daughter, Miss Sara Ann Schneider, in motoring to Monroe on Wednesday, were accompanied by Mrs. Schneider's mother, Mrs. Fred P. Regenold and Mrs. F. M. Terral.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shirey and children, accompanied by Mr. Shirey's mother, Mrs. Ruth Shirey of Logansport, left on a motor trip Sunday for a ten-day visit in Sigourney, Iowa, with Mrs. William Shirey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe O'Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Ward and children, Wanda and Warren, motored to Gueydan on Saturday for a visit with Mrs. Ward's mother, Mrs. Jewel Sirmon. Mr. Ward will return after a week-end visit leaving Mrs. Ward and the children for a longer stay.

From East Carroll Parish to attend the state convention of the Farm Bureau Convention in Alexandria were David M. Amacker, E V. Parker, C. A. Rose and J. G. Wyly, Jr.

Among the many from Lake Providence to motor to Greenville on Thursday to attend the final rites of the late Sidney Bernard Peskin were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Max Stockner, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Minsky, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Heiman Cohn, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Bass, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Herzog, Mayor and Mrs. J. L. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Zell Stockner, Mr. and Mrs. John Markey, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Rosenweig, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nevin, Mrs. Arnold Rosenweig, Mrs. J. N. Hill, Jr., Mrs. Nell H. Patrick, Mrs. A. B. Patrick, Jr., Borgia Hamilton, Luther Newton, J. E. Thompson, A. M. Higgins, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James L. Baur, Hardy O'Steen, Berneil Page and Bill Kosh, Mrs. Seymour Myers, Mrs. John Pace, Mrs. John Logan, Jr., Mrs. Gordon Bowers and Sam Levy.

Miss Margaret Jennings, maid of honor in the Trosclair - Davis wedding, in returning to her home in Chicago, was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. D. F. Davis, to New Orleans, where she entrained for the return trip.

JOHNSON TRIO TAKES A CLASS

Class work is a family affair for the Johnsons of Monroe. It's fair news when mother or dad goes to schoo. with daughter or son but it's a really good story when mother accompanies both daughter and son. The trio above believes in complete cooperation where education is the question. For best results the three schedule the same class in education during the summer term at Northeast Louisiana State. The scene shows the seniors reviewing for a final examination in Tests and Measurements. Left to right, are Miss Nancy Johnson, brother, Jase, and their mother, Mrs. Jase R. Johnson. Nancy and her mother are majoring in elementary education, and Jase is accenting physical education. They are working toward graduation next June. (Staff photo by Leon Noland, Jr.)

Donna Marie Davis Becomes Bride Of Boniface Trosclair

Lake Providence Is Scene Of Church Wedding Uniting Prominent Families

The First Methodist church of Lake Providence was the setting on Friday afternoon, July 28, for the wedding of Miss Donna Marie Davis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Farrent Davis of Lake Providence, and Boniface Trosclair, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Trosclair of Reserve. An event of wide social prominence, the nuptials were attended by relatives and friends throughout Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Chicago, and other points.

Unusually pretty details marked the setting of huckleberry foliage which also was used throughout the double chancel rails. Seven-branched candelabra and white floor baskets of white gladioli and fern gave added notes of beauty.

While the wedding guests were assembling, Mrs. Herman Schwartz played soft organ music, and just before the ceremony, Carl P. Brupbacher sang "At Dawning," "I Love You Truly," and during the ceremony "The Lord's Prayer."

The candles were lighted by Leon Minsky, Jr., and Elizabeth Davis, who wore a frock of blush pink embroidered in white. Her hair ornament and wrist corsage were of yellow carnations.

The stirring strains of "The Bridal March" from Lohengrin announced the entrance of the wedding party which formed a picturesque scene in semi - circle form about the altar. The bride had her maternal aunt, Miss Margaret Jennings of Chicago, as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Dehlman Courtney Bernhardt of Monroe, and Miss Valerye Land of Conway, Ark.

In pastel shades of orchid, blue and green, all wore identical models of starched marquisette, ballerina length, with matching floral headdress and fan - shaped bouquets of yellow daisies. Miss Jennings wore orchid, Mrs. Bernhardt blue and Miss Land, green.

Bridal Gown

Entering with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was beautiful in a chantilly lace gown styled ballerina length with Elizabethan collar framing the sweetheart neckline. The bodice was fastened with tiny buttons, the long, tapering sleeves ended in points over the hands. The circular veil of illusion, falling fingertip, fell from a satin bandeaux trimmed with clusters of grapes. For sentiment she added an onyx, diamond - set cavalier, which had been worn at each important occasion throughout her life. She carried a white orchid, surrounded by feathered carnations, with a cascade of ribbon looping the flowers.

The bridegroom was attended by Paul Rosenzweig of Lake Providence. The ushers were John Russell Davis of Lake Providence, and Jerry Guedry of St. Amant.

Mrs. Davis wore for her daughter's wedding a navy sheer with bands of matching lace, and navy velvet toque. Her shoulder corsage was a purple orchid.

Reception At Home

Immediately following the church ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, throughout the reception suite baskets and vases of white gladioli were the decorative theme.

The bride's table was centered with the bride's bouquet, which was flanked by the yellow daisies carried by the bridal attendants. Miss Phallie Evans served the wedding cake, a three - tiered confection surmounted by a miniature bride and groom and based with starched ruff interspersed with pink gladioli. Miss Kathryn Seegers of Logansport and Miss Jonnie V. Guitreau of Baton Rouge alternated at the punch bowl. Miss Dorothy White of Mer Rouge assisted in the dining room courtesies.

Elizabeth Davis and Leon Minsky, Jr., were in charge of the bride's book.

Wedding Trip

For a motor wedding trip to the Ozarks the bride donned a suit of turquoise blue faille with overlaid petal loops decorating the collar and peplum. She wore navy accessories and a shoulder corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Trosclair will be at home in Reserve, where Mr. Trosclair is a member of the faculty at the Leon Godchaux High School.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Russell Davis, Hughes, Ark., Mrs. John Manson, Lumberton, Miss., Mrs. A. B. White and Miss Dorothy White, Mer Rouge, Mr. and Mrs Dehlman Courtney Bernhardt, and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt, all of Monroe, Mrs. S A. Seegers and Miss Kathryn Seegers of Logansport.

Jean Heloise Thomas Will Wed Earl Winston Dorrell In Early Fall Ceremony

Of interest here is the announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Jean Heloise Thomas of Beaumont, Texas, formerly of Monroe, to Mr. Earl Winston Dorrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dorrell, all of Beaumont. The wedding will take place on September 1 in the chapel of Beaumont.

Miss Thomas is a graduate of Neville High School, Northwestern State College, and received her M. S. degree from Louisiana State University. She is an instructor at Lamar College.

Mr. and Mrs Harry M. Davis of Monroe will attend the wedding. Mrs. Davis, Miss Thomas' aunt, will serve at the reception which will follow the wedding in the Mirror Room of Hotel Beaumont.

When a snowy owl kills a small bird, it tears it to pieces before eating it. It will, however, swallow a mouse whole.

Americans in the military services consume an average of 288 pounds of meat per capita a year.

RECENTLY MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. Boniface Trosclair, whose marriage at the First Methodist Church, Lake Providence, was a brilliant summer event. Mrs. Trosclair, before her marriage, was Miss Donna Marie Davis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donovan Farrent Davis of Lake Providence. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Trosclair of Reserve.

MILDRED SWIFT TELLS WAY TO GET BEST SERVICE FROM HOME FREEZER

"A home freezer will give better service if it is defrosted before more than half an inch of frost forms over any large part of the cold surface," says Mrs. Mildred Swift, associate home demonstration agent. The agent points out that a freezer ordinarily will need defrosting once a year, but in damp climates and when the freezer is opened frequently, the job may need to be done two or three times a year.

Mrs. Swift recommends that frost which is not mixed with ice should be removed by scraping with special tools sold for that purpose or with a broad, stiff spatula, a putty knife, or a sharp wooden paddle. The frost may either be caught on papers or cloths or swept up from the bottom of the freezer with a whisk broom and dust pan. If the pan and broom are kept cold, frost will not melt on touching them. Food packages should be moved from one side to the other, but not taken out of the freezer.

On the other hand, if there is ice in the frost, it may be necessary to disconnect the freezer. Food packages should be put on trays or in baskets that have been well cooled in the freezer and covered with chilled blankets, newspapers or other insulating material. If the freezer has a drain, the frost can be removed by scraping and cold water poured over the freezer surfaces to melt the ice. Do not use hot water because there may be trouble starting the compressor again if the refrigerated surfaces are overheated. Sometimes an electric fan set so that it will blow room air into the freezer will speed melting of the ice.

While ice and frost melt, the water can be wiped up with cloths and the non - refrigerated surfaces cleaned. When the defrosting is completed and the freezer is clean, it should be connected and left to run about half an hour to lower the temperature somewhat before the food is replaced. An inventory can be taken while the packages are being moved. Call 3-2251 for bulletins on preparing foods for freezing.

Vail Delony Entertains Schoolmates At Outing

Enjoying social activities as a group of students from the Lake Providence High School and filling each day of the vacation period with enjoyable events, Miss Vail Delony, younger daughter of Representative and Mrs. Vail Delony, entertained on Tuesday evening with a hay ride.

Guests of the evening included: Jean and Robert Ray Earle, Jo-Rene Stribling, Sandra Hopkins of Topeka, Kans., Linda Davidson, D'Anne Hair, Joyce McDaniel, Carolyn Babb, Jere Land, Ann Pinkston, Tommy Sue Proctor, Jean Ragland, David Tschabold, Gary Walters, Claude King, Gerald Wayne Bowers, Stowe Harbin, Ernest Wilson, Jr., Albert Surles Bubber Minsky, and from Baton Rouge John Williams and Sonny Weldon.

Many Friends Add Gaiety To Birthday Anniversary Of Louis Paul Dalfiume

Louis Paul Dalfiume was a gracious host as he welcomed the guests who attended his formal birthday party at the Legion home on Tensas Bayou, in Lake Providence, on Wednesday evening at 7:30. Mrs. Louis Dalfiume assisted her son in receiving.

Throughout the spacious lounge of the home were tropical plants and potted ferns, giving a background for the vases of zinnias in many hues.

Alluring with appetizing foods was the refreshment table covered with heavy damask cloth and centered with the yellow and green birthday cake. The confection was topped with a miniature baseball diamond, with players on base and emblemed with ball and bat, and expressing the wish of "Happy Birthday Louis Paul." Surrounding the base of the cake was an attractive and unusual spray of pink gardenia shaped flowers and buds made of slices of apples and placed on legustrum leaves.

Aunts of the hosts dispensed the dining room courtesies with Mrs. David Cartleman of Tallulah and Miss Rose Marie Maggio served individual cakes and appetizing open-faced sandwiches on crystal trays.

A table of birthday gifts, remembrances from the guests, attested to the popularity of the young host.

Adding pleasure to the occasion was the presence of an aunt and cousin from Greenville, Miss., Miss Camille Valencino and little Sara Marie Valencino, and a friend of the family, Mrs. Frances Muffuletto, also of Greenville. One of the features of the evening was dancing.

To register on the birthday book as souvenir of a most pleasant evening were: Sharon and Billy Regenold, Corpus Christi, Tex., Suzanne and Martha Brown, Jean Earle, Dortha Farris, Justin Gross, Deanne Hair, Shirley Johnson, Jere Land, Conway, Ark., Joyce McDaniel, Leon Minsky, Jr., Bob and Dick Muirhead, J. V. Maggio, General and Mike Lensing, Terry Ann Dalfiume, Cecilia Nelson, David Perry, Dorothy Sitton, David Winters, Charles Zimmer, Jr., and Carmen Maggio.

Members of the family and friends who enjoyed the evening with the birthday celebrant were Mrs. S. A. Maggio, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Maggio, Jr., and young son Ronald, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perry and Mrs. H. T. Van Fossen.

A couple of tablespoons of chili sauce and two more tablespoons of finely chopped watercress added to a half cup of French dressing give the dressing zest. It's good served over a hard-cooked egg salad.

Lana Turner May Get Role Of Kane's 'Mrs. Blackford'

The glamorous Lana Turner of Hollywood is the latest candidate for the screen role of "The Scandalous Mrs. Blackford," Harnett T. Kane's sensationally successful new novel, it was recently announced in New York.

Mr. Kane, nationally recognized Louisiana writer, has made several appearances for book reviews in this city under sponsorship of the Pilot Club of Monroe.

"The Scandalous Mrs. Blackford" became an immediate best seller on its publication late in May and has remained ever since on the lists of the country's most popular novels. The novel has now gone into four printings and has been widely praised by the critics as well as by the public.

Mr. Kane, who returned lately to his home in New Orleans, is waiting word to go back to New York in the near future for final signatures for the film sale of "The Scandalous Mrs. Blackford." Negotiations are continuing with representatives of Ava Gardner and Marlene Dietrich, two film stars who had previously been mentioned for the part.

"The Scandalous Mrs. Blackford" is based on the life of an actual person. Hattie Blackford was a girl of southern background, whose mother came from Virginia. The daughter became a celebrated beauty, member of a gay international cafe society set, then went to Romanov Russia, where the Tsar's nephew tried to marry her and thus precipated an international sensation.

Mr. Kane's book her certain parallels to the story of Mrs. Simpson and the Duke of Windsor. Because of his romance with the American beauty, the Tsar's nephew was sent into permanent exile, much like the former king of England, and Mrs. Blackford was arrested by the Russian secret police.

"The Scandalous Mrs. Blackford" is soon to be translated in several foreign additions. It has received wide attention in radio, national columns, in television and other programs, and Mr. Kane has been asked to discuss the book on a series of national programs.

This is Mr. Kane's tenth book and it appears certain to have the greatest success of all that he has done. Like his others, it has southern scenes and characters, some of the early chapters being set in Virginia, West Virginia and nearby areas.

Mr. Kane is tentatively scheduled to come to Monroe in the fall for a talk. He will discuss his writing methods and experiences, as well as his latest book.

CHILDREN ONCE PUT IN BONDAGE

Sometimes Chained In Mills To Assure Work Many Hours Daily

In a radio broadcast, Mrs. Mollie O. Armstrong, labor relations representative for the fifth district of the enforcement division of the State Department of Labor, gave the following address:

One hundred years ago, children from six to fifteen years of age were driven by merciless overseers for ten, twelve, sixteen, and even twenty hours a day in the lace mills of England. These poor children lived and toiled day and night in noise and filth, sometimes in chains so that they could not escape until disease or death set them free. Or they were starved, cruelly beaten, or often crippled for life if they survived.

And children as young as six years of age, instead of going to school as they do today where they can learn, and play, and have a free hot lunch at noon, were sent down into the mines to work for ten hours a day. And children at eight or nine years of age were bound out to farmers or tradesmen to work for their keep until they were grown up.

For there were no child labor laws to protect them from their cruel employers and parents, and no school attendance laws to see that they got a fair chance at a good education. These good laws did not come all at once, either in England or in our country. Little by little wise and good people began to see that pale, thin, tired and often crippled children, unable to read or write or figure, did not make healthy, happy citizens. And it has taken a hundred years of constant struggle against ignorance and greed to get the laws protecting children that we now have. And while they are not yet all that they should be, the Louisiana Child Labor Laws are among the best in the nation. We are proud of them and want you to understand their provisions for your protection.

First you must get an education so that you can live intelligently and also be able to earn a decent living by doing something well. That is why we have a School Attendance Law which says that every child must go to school from seven to sixteen years of age.

Far too often in the past, children under sixteen have left school to work because they thought money more important than an education. And employers took them eagerly because they could get their work for less money than they would have to pay adults. So these foolish children, for the sake of a few dollars a week, were selling their birthright - their birthright to a good education - which would enable them to earn much better wages when they were old enough to leave school.

So now when I tell you something about our Child Labor Laws, I want you to think of them as having been developed over nearly a hundred years for your benefit and protection by people who were concerned about your welfare as the future citizens of our nation.

Recent studies have shown that the older people are, the less likely they are to cause accidents or incur injury in industrial plants, and that the younger the employee the greater the number of accidents and injuries. It takes years to learn to be careful. That is part of growing up.

Recognizing this, the child labor laws provide that no child under eighteen years of age may work in a service station, sawmill or logging operation; nor operate passenger or freight elevators; nor drive or ride in a truck or motorcycle in commerce; nor clean, oil or wipe machinery or be employed where liquor is sold or made or bottled. And no child under sixteen may work in a bowling-alley, in any cannery, factory, or in any mechanical or processing occupation.

And remember this always, if you are under sixteen, you may not work in any job while school is in session. That is how the Child Labor Law supports the School Attendance Law. So there they are, those two good laws, working together to protect you from the evils of child labor which we shall talk about in another broadcast, and to see that you have as good a chance to make a fine citizen of yourself as a good school can give you.

Obey the Louisiana Child Labor Law and the School Attendance Law. They are both on your side!

All-Woman Air Race August 15

Santa Ana, Calif., Aug. 11 —(AP)— Fifty women pilots arrive this week end for the August 15 start of the fifth annual all - woman transcontinental air race.

The dash this year, 2,348 air miles, terminates August 19 in Detroit, Mich., in time for the final stages of the national air races.

The light planes will be handicapped according to the manufacturers advertised cruising speed. Rules allows only stock models rated under 300 horsepower.

Winner of the race to Greenville, S. C., in last year's event was Jean Parker of Arcadia, Calif.

Officials require the women fliers to stop at Fort Worth, Tex., but many of the craft will make other refueling stops along the course.

Sponsoring the event are the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Los Angeles 99's, a woman's aeronautical club founded by Amelia Earhart. The Aero Club of Michigan and the Michigan 99's will handle arrivals in Detroit.

Squabble Over Air Force Installation To Be Put Near Truman's Home Town

By Ruth B. Cowan

Washington, Aug. 11.—(AP)— A squabble over a proposed air force installation in President Truman's home county in Missouri has temporarily delayed house action on a record $5,768,000,000 military construction bill.

The house may reach a vote next Tuesday on the measure which aims chiefly at keeping the United States safe from any Russian atomic attacks.

But first, the house must take a roll-call vote on a $19,019,000 project to expand the Grandview, Mo., airport in Jackson county, near the Truman family home in Independence.

The project is part of the military construction bill and was approved by the air force and the house armed services committee. It would permit the transfer of the continental air command from Mitchel Field, Long Island, to Grandview—an air force proposal aimed at strengthening the air reserve and air National Guard programs.

Representative Gross (R.-Ia.) moved yesterday to strike out the proposed expansion at a nearby air force base at Sedalia, Mo., which is due for a $22,000,000 expansion.

Gross' state is one of four in which no military construction in the bill is scheduled. The others are Connecticut, West Virginia and North Dakota.

After bitter wrangling, the gross amendment was defeated 56 to 16.

Gross then moved to send the bill back to the house armed services committee with instruction from the house that it eliminate the Grandview item. He insisted on a roll call vote.

But the house was under "a gentleman's agreement" not to have roll call votes on Friday or Monday. This is frequently done to permit members to take extended week ends.

Thus the house had to put over until Tuesday the roll call on Gross' amendment. In view of yesterday's vote, the amendment appears certain of final rejection.

Afterward, quick passage is expected for the bill which authorizes the largest single military construction program ever presented to congress in peace or war.

Gross said he was attacking the Grandview project not because Iowa had been left out of the construction bill but because he could not understand why the nearby air force base at Sedalia couldn't be used.

YOUNG BRIDE IN TROUBLE

Surprise Trip To See Husband Finds Him En Route Home

Tucson, Ariz. Aug. 11.—(AP)—Trouble is one thing an 18 - year - old bride has learned a lot about in the last two days.

Mrs. William Shriver travelled more than 1,000 miles from Spokane, Wash., to pay her sergeant husband a surprise visit at Ft. Huachuca.

But when she arrived Thursday afternoon, he wasn't there. He had received a furlough and had left for Spokane to surprise her.

So Mrs. Shriver started back for home. Her meager funds ran out when she got to Tucson, about 80 miles northwest of the fort.

She broke down and cried in the bus station here. Police officers saw her and she told them her story. She repeated it to Red Cross officials.

Then she became ill. She was rushed to the hospital at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base at Tucson. There doctors diagnosed her illness as appendicitis.

They operated yesterday and removed her appendix. She is recovering nicely, but her one big question is, "Where is Bill?"

Shriver of the 6018th area service unit at Fort Huachuca should arrive in Spokane today, ccording to estimates of officers at the fort. The American Red Cross is watching for him to tell him where his young wife is and what has happened to her.

DESIGNERS TELL FASHION TRENDS

Fuller Skirts And Puffed Sleeves Forecast For Autumn Modes

In a fashion article from Paris, famous fashion designers Christian Dior and Jacques Fath, whose lines are carried by the Style Shop made the following comments on this fall's fashions.

"The coming mode will ally all the tenderness of feminity to the severity of winter." It's straight from the lips of Paris fashion dictator Christian Dior, and it's absolutely all he intends to tell you about new styles before his collection is unveiled.

Most fashion kings are as close mouthed at this time of year as atomic bomb makers. The fashion forecasts usually go something like this:

"There will be colors and also materials. Skirts will be slender, when they are not very full, and hems will be longer if they are not shorter. Some dresses will have sleeves and collars, and some won't. There will be waitlines and necklines. Now I can't tell you any more, or you'll know all my secrets."

However, the following trends for the new fashions have been uncovered.

Jacques Fath:

"Lengths will remain the same, but skirts will be fuller, sleeves will be puffed, and afternoon dresses will be high - necked. We will use black, peacock blue, purple, red and green, and lots of tweed, even for afternoon wear. Coats will be in long - haired furry woolens, and jewelry will be heavy, with large rhinestones, etc."

The Style Shop has a collection of famous names such as Oleg Cassini, Ceil Chapman, Schiaparelli and many others.

Green stamps are now available at the style Shop throughout the store. The Style Shop will be the only woman's store in the Twin Cities authorized to issue green stamps redeemable for free merchandise at the S & H Green Stamp Store, next to Piggly Wiggly, it was announced.

Poland Explains Why U. S. Service Halted

Washington, Aug. 11—(AP)—The Polish embassy said today the United States Information Service in Warsaw was shut down Wednesday because it was putting out war propaganda.

Activities of the service, the embassy said in a press statement, "went far beyond the accepted scope of the normal information work of an embassy."

The character of the U.S.I.S. activities manifested itself most clearly in its bulletins, which devoted a major part of their contents to war propaganda directed against peaceful cooperation of nations and against countries — friends of Poland," the statement said in part.

Poland closed up U.S.I.S. without warning, the state department reported, adding that the Poles made no complaints or specific charges. The United States retaliated at once, ordering the Polish research and information service in New York closed by tonight.

It accused Poland of "an entirely unwarranted interference with the free exchange of information between nations."

Today's Polish embassy statement devoted three pages to what it said was a review of the contents of the note handed the U.S. ambassador in Warsaw Wednesday ordering the U.S.I.S. shut down.

The note charged the U.S. with violation of the 1931 treaty of friendship commerce and consular rights, listing what it said were economic and political "discriminations." According to the embassy, the Polish government complained that:

The U. S. license policy has developed into a virtual prohibition of exports to Poland.

The U. S. has discriminated against the Polish flag and submitted Polish vessels and their crews to "various indignities." This, the statement said, made it impossible for the motorship Batory to continue her sailings on the Gdynia - New York route.

"The U.S. government also hindered and eventually made impossible the work of the Polish repatriation mission in Germany," it said.

"Contrary to solemn pledges the U.S. government persistently refused to extradite to Polish justice war criminals guilty of murdering millions of Poles, and enabled those criminals to return to political life in western Germany under particular American protection."

It added that the U.S. is building bases for aggression and "is engaging in illegal acts and interventions."

Two Are Arrested By Monroe Police

Ormal M. Frith, 26, Collinston, was arrested Friday night by Monroe police officers on charges of fighting and disturbing the peace. He was placed under a $100 bond.

Jubs Samson, 23, was arrested Friday night by Monroe police officers caught in the act of stealing five gallons of gasoline from the Burk Motor Company. Officers were making a routine check-up.

For some time, Samson had been stealing gasoline which he converted for his own use, asserted Captain H. L. Tolbert.

Samson is being held in the parish jail and his bond has not yet been fixed.

The temperature in the earth's interior has been estimated at around 9,000 degrees F.

World War Two Cemeteries To Be Well Cleaned

New York, Aug 11.—(AP)—A government official says that in another year American World War 2 cemeteries overseas will be in "perfect condition'

"We're getting to the place where these cemeteries are ready for relatives to visit them," Harold A. Keats, of the American Battle Monuments Commission, said yesterday after a tour of the cemeteries.

Keats said the job of bringing the dead home at the request of relatives or transferring them from temporary burial grounds to the 16 permanent World War 2 cemeteries abroad, virtually has been completed.

He said about 40 per cent of the dead have been returned to this country, while next-of-kin of the other casualties chose overseas burial. Approximately 300,000 Americans were killed during the war.

Hal Boyle's Notebook

Hibbing, Minn.—(AP)—"Bus Andy" didn't drive the first bus in the United States.

But he did pioneer in establishing the modern bus industry in America back in 1914.

Today, at 68, "Bus Andy" — Andrew G. Anderson — still owns his old line and can take his turn in the driver's seat whenever he is needed.

"It is nothing now — compared to the old days," said Andy. He loves to recall those days when he and his first motor car struggled over dirt roads together on the first lap of his rise to wealth.

Andy borrowed money from his mother to come here from Sweden on a cattle boat in 1900. He was a farmboy of 18 and couldn't speak English. His only possession was a fine hand - made wooden suitcase. Figuring a boy might want to eat while looking for a job in the new land, he thriftily loaded his suitcase with herring from the ship's food locker.

"But it was spring," he laughed, "and the herring spoiled. The suitcase smelled so bad I had to drop it and theherring overboard before we landed."

Andy labored in the iron mines to earn enough to pay back his mother. Gradually he worked up to a job of machinest. Then, in 1914, he and a blasting powder salesman, Charles Wenberg, raised $1,250 and bought a seven-passenger, open - air Hupmobile.

"We got the agency for the car" he said. "But I guess I was a poor salesman, and my partner was, too. We didn't sell any cars. Everybody wanted to take a ride — it was a real thrill then to go 20 miles an hour — but nobody wanted to buy."

One night his partner's uncle suggested to the glum pair. "Why don't you run your automobile like a streetcar?"

That ten - word sentence made Anderson's fortune.

"It hit me like a stroke of lightning," he said. "I started out the very next morning."

He charged 15 cents for a two-and - one - half - mile ride between the towns of Hibbing and Alice. The first day he cleared $7.40 above fuel costs. Soon his seven - passenger car was carrying as many as 21 customers a trip.

Fearing the car would break down before it could pay for itself, Wenberg sold out. But "Bus Andy" stayed and gambled. He took in other partners and expanded his line, driving himself from six in the morning until eleven at night.

It was a haphazard industry at the start

"In the winter we had to go out at night and plow the snow off the road ourselves," he said. "And in the spring we had to keep two horses handy to pull us out of the mudholes."

"Once a man showed up with a trained bear. I told him the bus was for people, not bears. He said he would sit by the bear and it would take up no more space than he did. I finally agreed to take the bear for $5. On the way he broke out a window, and I made him pay for that, too. He was really angry — the man, not the bear. The bear didn't care."

A number of Andy's partners and drivers went on to executive posts in the mushrooming Greyhound Bus Company. He sold out most of his own extensive lines to the Northland Greyhound System in 1928. But he still operates about 100 public or school buses here and in three other Minnesota and Wisconsin cities.

"If a driver can't show up for some reason," said Andy, "I can still take the bus out myself. I do, too, sometimes."

But Andy now is about the best-paid driver in the country.

One Is Injured In Five-Car Accident

William Glasco, 44, 2714 South Grand, received minor injuries Friday night at 11:20 in an accident involving five cars, which occurred in front of the Twin City Trade School on Louisville avenue.

The accident resulted when a '51 Ford Victoria, driven by Glasco and traveling eastward, sideswiped another car also headed in that direction.

Glasco's car glanced off to the right, striking the left rear end of a '48 Ford Tudor, parked eastward on the same highway and owned by N. J. Yawn. The Ford then rammed into the rear of a third car and that car, in turn, hit the rear of a fourth vehicle.

Cars two, three, and four were all parked on the south side of Louisville about 24 to 30" off the pavement.

Glasco was taken to St. Francis Sanitarium in a Mulhearn ambulance, but was released after receiving treatment for minor injuries. The right front of his car was damaged.

The male of the firefly native to England has little light or "fire."

IN ARMED SERVICE

Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. Aug. 11.—(Special)—Marine Private First Class Frank G. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Brinning, 705 Georgia street, Monroe, La., recently completed his recruit training at the marine corps recruit depot, San Diego, Calif.

In recognition of this accomplishment he was promoted to the rank of Private First Class.

The young leatherneck has been thoroughly trained in basic weapons of the marine corps, first aid, field sanitation, map reading, military courtesy, infantry drill and many other military subjects. Almost one-third of this training was at the rifle range where he quickly became an efficient marksman with the M-1 rifle.

He will now be transferred to one of the numerous duty stations where marines are serving throughout the world or be assigned to a specialist school for further technical training.

DOROTHY DIX

Fomenting Quarrels Within Family A Childish Trait

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Some time ago my married sister had a misunderstanding with my mother that began with a small quarrel and has grown into heartaches for everyone. My sister has two lovely daughters, whom my mother has never seen. Mother is nearly 55 and has always had people do as she wants; she does not like to be crossed. She is a kind, generous person as long as people do things her way. Father is the silent type, so whatever mother says goes.

DOROTHY DIX

My sister lives in the same town as we do, and I love her very much, but mother says if I visit her I am a disloyal daughter. I am even forbidden to go to parties or small gatherings which my sister may attend. I am not afraid of my mother but if I don't do as she says there is always an argument. Am I wrong in loving my sister and my mother both, and trying to make mother understand that I can love both?

P. C.

ANSWER: Your letter belies your own words. You say you're not afraid of your mother—you're scared stiff of her and so, apparently, is everyone else within sound of her voice except your sister! If your mother can deny her own child because of a silly quarrel, what is she going to do to your own life if you ever decide to set out on your own?

DON'T BE COWED

I don't like to countenance filial disobedience but if your mother is going to win her own way in the matter of you seeing your sister, you will definitely establish the pattern of a cowed daughter. You don't state your age, and that of course has a bearing on the case. If you are under age, you have no choice but to go your mother's way, but if you have reached your majority, you'd better show a little independence before it's too late.

Every time I blast away at dominating mothers—or mothers-in-law—I get letters from perfectly normal mothers who accuse me of bias against all maternal parents. Nothing could be further from the truth, which is that I hold the entire estate of motherhood including mothers-in-law in such nigh esteem that I am riled to white heat by women who desecrate the title by rending families asunder instead of abiding by their God-given right of molding them together. Certainly no mother worthy of the name would estrange herself from a daughter and grandchildren over a silly quarrel—or even over a more serious one. She'd do everything she could to mend the rift and maintain a united family.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am planning to be married in September. My fiance has only two weeks' vacation for our honeymoon, and he intends to use a week of it to make an extended trip in August with a friend through Alabama and Florida, including a three-day cruise to Havana. He claims he is tired and would like to rest and fish on this trip. It is beyond me to understand a desire for rest of this kind on the part of a man who is supposed to be madly in love. What is your reaction?

A. C.

ANSWER: To quote Hamlet, "There are more things in Heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamed of in our philosophy!" But the sight of a man who would rather fish than go on a honeymoon is something new. I suppose any piscators among my readers will rise up in arms against me, but it is still a revolutionary idea.

Perhaps this is your betrothed's idea of a "last fling," a final adieu to carefree youth; the swan song of a bachelor. Whatever the reason, you have no choice but to let him go and get it out of his system. I hope you're sure of his devotion otherwise.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband works nights and I work days so I only have a short time with him. On his days off he goes out and stays until 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning. I try to make everything as nice as possible for him at home. We are buying a car together and he lets anyone take it out, day or night, without my permission. I don't think this is right when I have worked so hard to help pay for the car.

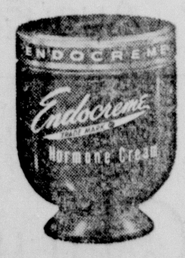
DIANE R.

ANSWER: Is it absolutely necessary for you to continue working? On the present schedule your husband really has no home-life and probably goes out simply for companionship. If your chief purpose in holding a job is to acquire a car, you would be better off letting the car go and spending more time at home. Even though you keep the place clean and comfortable, a home with no one in it can be very lonely for a man and the situation as it exists is bound to make you two drift further apart.

DOROTHY DIX helps solve a problem that comes up in every girl's family in leaflet D-15, "What Age for Dating?" To obtain a copy send a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Dix, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 98, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

What is the age of GLAMOUR?

The age of glamour is any age at which a woman's beauty and charm make her most fascinating! She's seldom under "30"...she's usually in her "40's" or older...and she invariably devotes time and care to keep her skin naturally lovely and youthful looking... without the use of "cover-up" cosmetics.



For over 15 years, thousands of women have achieved this naturally youthful look with Endocreme... because Endocreme, with its exclusive hormone ingredient "Activol" actually regenerates ageing skin cells and tissue for most women... smooths out lines and wrinkles... firms up the skin ...makes it look more youthful. Isn't it worth finding out for yourself? A full month's supply only $3.50 plus tax.

SURE, a trim new Buick makes a mighty pretty picture when you see it in your driveway, or watch it wheel by.

But if you could get a mechanic's-eye view of this big, broad beauty as it sits on a lift, you'd see an impressive picture of rugged brawn that makes good-to-look-at Buicks give such a good account of themselves on the road.

You'd see the full-length torque-tube drive that firms the whole power relay system, and steadies your going like a giant hand beneath you.

You'd see big sturdy wheels with really wide rims that provide surer footing, give better car control, make tires last longer.

You'd see all four wheels cushioned by stout coil springs that are completely service-free, practically breakproof – and a principal reason for the ever-level Buick ride.

But mainly, you'd see the massive foundation that backbones every Buick – the deep, wide, X-member frame that's rugged as a rock, and a brute for strength.

So when you look at the beauty of a Buick–the big mileage power of its valve-in-head Fireball Engine–and the moneysaving ability of its Dynaflow Drive*–don't overlook the tough stamina that goes with it all.

And don't overlook the fact that a new '51 Buick, with all its heft, costs less per pound than any other car of comparable size, structure and weight.

Better come see us first chance you get–and find out what a smart buy this is– from every angle.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.
Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.*

No other car provides all this!

Sunday School, 9:45 a.m.
Morning worship, 10:45 a.m.
Evening worship 7:45 p.m.
Prayer meeting, Thursday evening, 7:45 p.m.
Sunday was a great day for our church. All previous records were broken in Sunday school attendance and regular worship services. The pastor, Rev. Kenneth Chapman, occupied the pulpit at both morning and evening services. In the very first service Reverend Chapman and his wife endeared themselves to our congregation. Reverend Chapman is a clear forceful speaker while Mrs. Chapman has unusual talent as a musician. She also is very unique in the presentation of Bible stories and felt-o-gram work. Both pastor-and wife expressed themselves as being pleased with the outlook of the West Monroe church and plans are now underway to begin a building program in the near future.
If you do not have a church home we extend a cordial invitation to you to visit with us for all the above services. Our message is the gospel of John Wesley and Early Methodism.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. S.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, because an important hobby is a good sign of intelligence. Nearly all great men collected significant things in their childhood. Some writers began writing before they were five years old. Ralph Waldo Emerson's father wrote anxiously to a friend, "Ralph is now 3 years old but does not read very well." Maybe you've known such boys!

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, and I fear that he always will. The belief is based partly on his larger muscles, although women have greater vitality and live longer. Man also has a deeper voice and, since fear of a sudden loud noise is inherited, he uses it to scare the wits out of woman. The loud voice sounds to mar like intelligence, although it may be only an echo from his empty head. Man thinks he is superior, and most women find that the easiest way to manage him is to let him continue to think so.

Answer To Question No. 3

3. Most experts believe that no harm results if it is done very early and without letting the child notice. But, if done by scolding or tying the left hand, they feel that nervousness and frustration tend to set up stuttering. One psychologist changed right-handed rats to left-handers, and vice-versa. He could not tell whether this caused them to stutter because he had only learned rat language about as well as the average college student learns Latin.

Increase Your Word Power!

Words make a great deal of difference in how you impress people. Therefore, you can improve yourself and create a more favorable impression if you read our instructive new booklet. "How To Increase Your Word Power, Think Better and Spell Perfectly, with Vocabulary Test of Intelligence."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Use Your Head For This Hand

By Oswald Jacoby

A hand that was played recently in Philadelphia fits right into our discussion of penalty doubles. It's just as important to know when to keep quiet as to know when to double.

East showed a good hand when he jumped to three hearts. He added to his story when he doubled four spades. (North could have made four spades, but South can hardly be blamed for running out.) East would not have doubled four spades unless he hoped to beat any contract of five.

West had the chance to double five clubs, but he failed to do so. West's pass fairly shrieks "Don't count on me for defensive strength. I would double with the smell of a trick, but I don't have even that much."

East cannot be blamed for feeling hopeful, but he should know that he is not going to murder five clubs. The big question is whether five clubs can be beaten at all. A double in such a situation can gain only 50 points if the contract is set one trick.

It loses 150 points if the contract is made; and it loses 35 points if the contract is redoubled and made. It's foolish to gamble 50 points against 350 points when you're far from sure of the 50.

There wasn't the slightest play to beat five clubs. South had to give up two tricks to East's aces, and then he could claim the rest.

Of course East could run to five hearts, which might cost only 500 points. But a player who doubles and then runs out when he is redoubled exposes himself to psychic redoubles. East decided that his double was sound and therefore elected to gamble it out. The result is exactly what happens a good part of the time to players who double for a one-trick set.

CARD Series

Q—The opening bid has been: South, 1 Spade; West, Pass; North, 3 Diamonds; East, Pass.
You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-7-3, Hearts A-Q-J-5-2, Diamonds K-2, Club 3. What do you do?
A—Bid three hearts. You will eventually reach a slam in one of the major suits or possibly in diamonds, but there is no need to make a jump bid at this point. You will add to your story in further bids.

Today's Question

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-7, Hearts A-10-5, Diamonds Q-9-6-2, Clubs 8-4. What do you do?

Watch For Clue Before Melding

In our last article we discussed two of the various ways you might play the very same cards. Today we continue the discussion.

Your side has melded Joker-A-A-A-A, Joker -K-K-K and Q-Q-Q. You hold K-K, Q, 3, 2, (the three being black, of course), and you draw an ace from the stock. What should you do?

The answer may depend on the number of cards in your partner's hand, or on the way the melding has gone. If he has very few cards, to play on. Somewhere between a large number of cards, you tend to meld out. If he has these extremes you ask for permission to meld out.

For example, assume that you umade the initial meld with Joker-A-A and Joker-K-K. Your partner, at his next turn, added two aces, a king and three queens. He then discarded, and was left with only five cards. This type of meld asks you to meld out as quickly as you can.

If your partner were interested in fighting for the pack he would meld nothing. If he were interested in making one canasta but then staying in the game, he would meld the two aces but nothing else. In this situation, therefore, you meld out at once.

To take the other extreme, suppose that you have made the initial meld as in the last case but that your partner then picked up a large discard pile. He proceeded to melt the queens (which gave him the pile) and to add two aces and a king to your melds. He then discards, and is left with more than twenty cards. You don't dream of melding out in this situation.

It can't be denied that you will have some trouble finding safe discards. Your black three is safe for the first play. At your next turn, you may have to discard the deuce. Your partner cannot be kept out for very long since he has room in his hand for practically all the pairs in the deck.

The odds are tremendous that he can pick up the pile before you have to give it away; and there is a chance that you will get the pile yourself sooner or later, in which case you and your partner will have a field day.

It is especially important to play on if the opponents need 120 points and have not yet melded. They are going to have trouble finding an initial meld since they are nearly aceless and jokerless.

Take the same initial meld for your side and suppose that your partner picks up a very small pile. He melds the queens, adds two aces and a king, and then is left with only seven or eight cards. Now you're not sure whether to fight for the pile or meld out as quickly as possible. You therefore ask for permission to meld out and his answer gives you the clue.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Although water holes are gathering places for many of the animals on which a lion preys, he seldom makes a kill at these oases.

Bible Comment

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Thank God for what: Thank God, reader, that you live in a democracy, in which you are free to breath, and think, and speak, and act, in a state which is pledged to accord you these liberties and protect them.

In too many countries today, and they are not all under Communist domination, no such liberties for the individual exist. One of the world's best and greatest newspapers has been suppressed in Argentina, and Protestants in Spain have been subject to oppressive restrictions, And across the world, many Protestant and Roman Catholic leaders are suffering grave persecution.

No such situation, thank God, exists in the democracies in which we live. When the doorbell rings we may go to the door with no fear that a totalitarian agent has come to invade our home, or to carry us off to a concentration camp.

If we are living within the law, and morally correct lives, we can meet the day and the night with freedom from fear. It is not easy for usto comprehend that great numbers of our fellowmen in many parts of the world are living each day in the grip of fear and danger.

The fact that in some of these lands it was not always so, and the story of how liberties were suppressed, ought to make us zealous to see that no such subversion of liberty ever occurs in our land. We may conclude all too readily that "it cannot happen here."

All this emphasizes very strongly the question of the relation of the individual to the state, the rights and duties of citizens, and the nature of the government that they maintain, or allow to be in power.

It is obvious that under present world conditions great inequalities and great restrictions exist in relation to freedom, that under more normal conditions, such as existed a generation or two ago, would have been regarded as serious and unjustifiable invasions of personal freedom.

If you are a young man, of the right age, you may be drafted for military service in some far off land. If you would have gone in any case, you might be said to be free, but not if you went because the state compelled you to go. There is a matter of glaring, even if justifiable and unavoidable, inequality. It is justifiable and unavoidable on the ground that otherwise there might soon be no freedom for you or anybody else.

If you are a business man, you are subject to limitations, restrictions and regulations, which a few years ago would have been regarded as an unwarranted invasion of your private affairs; and if you are high-salaried or wealthy, the state takes a major portion of your income, in what would certainly fifty years ago have been regarded as sheer confiscation.

In the midst of the charges and counter - charges, warnings and counter - propagandism, of which tian leaers to say? What have they said? I propose to discuss this in my next comment.

Meanwhile, let us measure and treasure the liberties that we possess, and while we pray for others, thank God for what we have.

Baptist Children Given Big Watermelon Party

With the opening of school approaching a full program of vacation events at the Louisiana Baptist Childrens' Home is rapidly drawing to a close. The latest and one of the last of the enjoyable summer parties was the watermelon feast given the children by the Central Trades and Labor Council.

More than 250 children enjoyed the party, for which the council provided 75 ice cold watermelons. Superintendent D. C. Black expressed the appreciation of the home to the central council.

Winnsboro Revival Meeting Will Open

Winnsboro, La., Aug. 11.—(Special)—Dr. John J. Rasmussen, pastor of the Noel Memorial Methodist Church of Shreveport, will be the evangelistic speaker at revival services in the Winnsboro First Methodist Church, beginning Monday night.

Twice daily services, according to Rev. W. H. Bengtson, pastor, will be conducted at 10 a. m. and 7:30 o'clock in the evening. The meeting beginning Monday night August 13, will be continued through Sunday, August 19.

Mrs. Nolan C. Moore, director of music of the church will be in charge of the singing.

Doctor Rasmussen conducted a very successful revival here last year and Reverend Bengtson stated that everyone is invited to come and hear this outstanding minister of Louisiana Methodism.

Dent Tisdale Finds Europe Delightful

Son Of Dr. And Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Of Monroe, On Two-Month Tour Of European Countries

Each year thousands of Americans tour Europe getting glimpses of the continent, its people and historic architecture —but few adults comprehend the European countries and appreciate their beauty as do American students traveling abroad.

Among the young enthusiastic students now touring Europe is 18-year - old Dent Tisdale, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Dent Tisdale of Monroe.

Having sailed from New York on July 7 aboard the S. S. Washington, Dent is with a group of students who are being guided through the countries by Dr. Bradford Myers of New York University.

Dent writes that while on the ship he made the acquaintance of many of the 26 German boys aboard who had been in this country studying. He pointed out that most of these youths plan to return to this country and become American citizens.

Various Countries

Impressed by the various countries he's now touring, Dent, as many other travelers refers to Switzerland as "the wonder spot of the world."

"The Alps are intriguing," he explains, "and the people are wonderful."

Sweden, Denmark and Holland also held a great fascination for him. He described the countries as being very clean and orderly and the people most friendly.

One reason for his admiration of the Scandanavian countries, he explained is because "food is plentiful here, where as in England it is very scarce."

While in London Dent visited the festival of Britain which he described as most interesting. Exhibits of progress show that great plans are being made for England's future, the student said.

Points of interest visited in London included the British Museum, Piccadilly, Pall Mall, St. James, the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham Palace, Hyde Park Corner, Victoria and Albert Museum, houses of parliament, Westminster Abbey. Whitehall and Trafalgar Square, East Strand, Fleet street St. Paul's Cathedral, Cheapside, Bank of England, London Bridge, Tower Bridge, Tower of London, Thames embankment and the Strand.

From London the group traveled to Tilbury and sailed on the MS "Saga" to Gothenburg and one to Stockholm.

Here the students toured the town hall, the royal palace, Drottningholm Palace and Theatre Museum.

Other cities included in the two-month tour are Copenhagen, Amsterdam, Brussels, Luxembourg, Heidelberg, Interlaken, Lucerne, Munich, Salzburg, Cortina, Venice, Florence, Rome, Leghorn, Genoa, Nice, Avignon, Vichy, Paris and Le Havre.

Dent will spend his last few weeks in Italy and France before returning home around the first of September.

His ship will sail from Le Havre on August 25.

Studies Pre-Med

On his return from Europe, Dent will enter Washington and Lee University where he will study pre-med.

He graduated from Ouachita Parish High School in June and was a member of the International Honor Society, Key Club and Delta Sigma fraternity.

Interested in history, Dent has a very unusual collection of books on the Civil War. He spends much of his pastime playing golf.

After touring Europe, Dent as well as other students on the tour, will have a more vivid picture of our Allies and a deeper understanding of each country and its people.

TOURS EUROPE

Dent Tisdale, Jr. (above) arrived in Europe last month for an eight week tour of the continent. During his tour, he has written interesting letters home describing the countries, architecture and people of Europe. He plans to return home the first of September.

LOUISIANA FOREST FIRE FIGHTERS

Record Accomplishment Is Set By La. Fire Fighters

Last Year La.'s Forest Fire Fighters Were Able To Stop Fires Before Burning 51 Acres

Despite the fact that bone-dry weather conspired against Louisiana's forest fire fighters during the last fiscal year, the Louisiana Forestry Commission was able to stop the average fire before it burned more than 51 acres. For a bad fire year, this represents a record accomplishment.

A total of 8216 forest fires occurred over the state's pine lands last fiscal year, which ended on July 1, consuming a total of 415,283 acres of timber. Although there were more fires in that period than in 1948—that was the last bad fire year—the loss per fire was reduced by 72 acres.

According to State Forester James E. Mixon, the reduction in losses per fire is directly attributed to the gradual increase in manpower and equipment to the commission's forces. In 1947, state fire fighters had no effective fire plows at their disposal. Now there are 62 units equipped with medium tractors, transported on heavy trucks stationed throughout the 34 pine parishes. Until lately the Jeep with plow was a main weapon against fires, but it is gradually being replaced with the heavier tractor unit. There are 33 more medium tractors on order.

Mixon believes the days are gone when a million acres of timber land goes up in smoke during a year's time, as it did in 1947. With only 7079 fires occurring in 1942, a total of 1,194,793 acres burned. This represented a total of 169 acres lost per fire.

Asked if the dry year was peculiar to Louisiana, Mixon pointed out that it was about the same all over the South, with all states suffering from a continuous outbreak of forest fires. Louisiana's record, it was shown, compares favorably with that of other southern states, although the forestry program of Louisiana could be said to be in its infancy.

It wasn't until 1923 that the forestry movement began in Louisiana and it wasn't until 1944 that impetus was lent to the movement by forming the Louisiana Forestry Commission. Until then the forestry organization was known as the Division of Forestry within the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries. In those days, one man was shouldered with the job of protecting thousands of acres by himself. And in one year 1924, more than five million acres were burned over the state.

"Much money has been spent to inject blood into the state's forest fire fighting organization, "Mixon said, "and I feel that we are fast approaching the goal of adequate state-wide protection. However, the number of fires is increasing each year. The big problem every commission employee has now is how to stop the fires before they start."

On this problem, Mixon and his men have great hope that fires can be prevented, as over 99 per cent of all Louisiana forest fires are caused by man. Either through carelessness or maliciousness, men caused all but 12 of Louisiana's fires last year. Lightning was responsible for these 12. Debris burning was listed as the cause of 1089 fires and careless smokers caused 684. Enough campers neglected to stamp out their campfires to cause 46 fires.

As Mixon put it, "The people have only themselves to blame for the continued destruction of our forest resources. We can stop the fires after they start but only the people can stop them before they start."

Who had the most fires? Beauregard parish topped the list with 1005 fires, burning 125,340 acres. Livingston parish is second highest with 621 fires and Caddo parish is third with 520. More than half of the fires occurred in the longleaf-slash areas of the state.

Along with its fire-fighting accomplishments, the state's seedling production reached an all-time high this past year and surpassed that of any other state in the nation. The state nurseries produced 37,373,750 pine seedlings. About one-third of these were loblolly about one-half were slash and the remainder longleaf. In addition to these seedling a million and a half cypress seedlings are being produced for a private concern in a cooperative program of cypress reforestation.

A total of 53,081 acres of seedlings were planted by farmers industries and organizations over the state, making a total of 145,176 acres which have been planted since the commission's seedling program was revitalized in 1947. In the past four years, nearly twice as many acres have been planted than were planted before 1947.

A little-known fact is that the Louisiana Forestry Commission has the most complete two - way radio communication system in the state. For this reason, its facilities have been given the spotlight in setting up a Civil Defense network and Mixon has been named chairman of the CD communications committee. The commission network is responsible for much of the increased efficiency in putting out fires.

Since equipment and manpower is nearly adequate to cope with fires after they are started, the public can expect a bigger chunk of the commission expenditures to be diverted to fire prevention in the future.

Increased emphasis is planned on informing the public about state fire-raising laws and enforcement is being tightened month by month. Through the newspaper, radio and by just plain conversation the public will be confronted with the aspects of sound forest fire prevention. Parish and state fairs will carry the message through fire prevention exhibits.

In closing his report to the people the state forester recalled an incident which happened in the '30's when fires rampaged without break. A resident of one parish wrote the commission to "fire the ranger in the parish because all the lands have been burned up anyway and there's no further need for his services."

"There's grim humor in those words," Mixon said, "but they serve as a reminder to us all that neglect of our forest resources boomerangs and hits us in our pocketbook. The only fire which causes no financial losses to the state is the one which didn't start."

BRITISH SHOW NEWEST RIFLE

Impressive Tests, However, Fail To Win Allied Favor

Warminister, Eng., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Britain took the wraps off her new rapid firing .280 rifle in impressive tests yesterday, but she failed to convince western military men that it is the best weapon in its field.

The stockless weapon that looks much like a sub-machine gun was put through its paces before some 200 military attaches and 50 reporters.

The tests showed the new gun can be fired faster than either the United States' semi-automatic .30 caliber Garand or the old British .303 bolt action Enfield, but lacks their penetration and shocking power.

The new weapon will be thoroughly checked, however, by a committee of the Atlantic treaty organization. The group will report its findings to the Atlantic treaty foreign ministers this fall and they will decide whether to adopt the gun for pact nations. At present the Garand is top nominee for the infantry weapon in proposed standarization of western arms.

In yesterday's tests the new gun poured out 84 shots a minute as compared to 43 for the Garand and 28 for the Enfield, but its penetration through wood proved slightly less than the American gun.

The odd-looking machine has a small metal butt in place of the conventional stock, and carries a telescopic sight.

American observers objected to the new weapon on grounds that the ammunition it uses is too light to go up against enemy armor.

It also was pointed out that the complex mechanism of the gun has not yet been tested under battle conditions and no one knows yet how production models will stand up.

Final decision on whether to put the new gun into producion as the official British infantry weapon still has not been made. British generals indicated it might take "some years" to tool up and produce enough to equip British soldiers.

Meanwhile, in Ottawa, the Canadian defense ministry said the western allies have accepted a new anti-tank shell being made in Canada as a standard weapon.

The shell, called the "sabot" was described as the "last word" in armor-piercing effectiveness. It is being produced for the 17-pounder anti-tank gun, but can be made in various sizes.

Price Clinic Will Be Held In Monroe

The next office of price stabilization price clinic will be held in Monroe at the Chamber of Commerce all day on Tuesday August 21, according to an announcement by Raymond A. Tate, district OPS price executive.

Mr. Tate said that the extension of the OPS by congress has made price clinics more important than ever and that OPS was establishing several new clinics.

CATCHES 98-POUND TARPON

LAW LECTURES SCHEDULED

Tallulah, Aug. 11.— (Special) — The fourth in a series of law - enforcement programs will be conducted at the courthouse in Tallulah Aug. 14 when District Attorney Thompson L. Clark will discuss "Local Laws of Arrest" and Percy Landry, special agent of the New Orleans branch of the FBI will speak on "Testifying in Court."

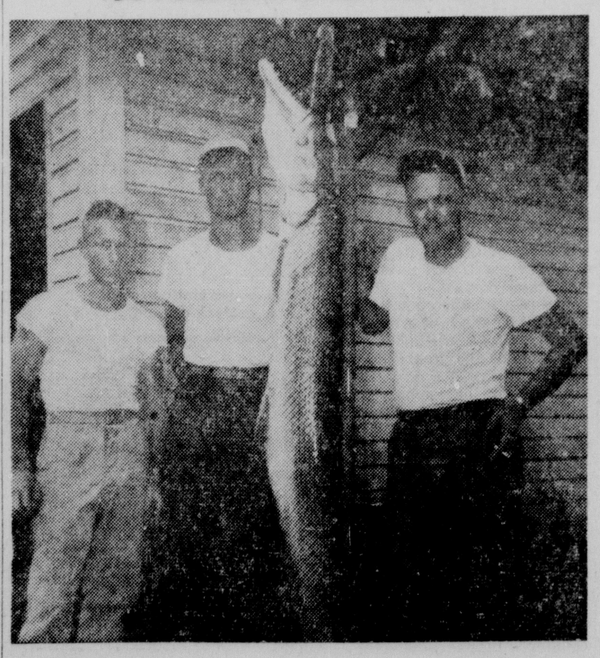
150-POUND ALLIGATOR GAR



Three fishermen who recently caught one of the largest gars ever taken from the Ouachita river are shown with their catch. The gar was cought by C. E. Lucas, 601 Stubbs; Joe McQuiestan, Prairie road, and R. W. Nelson of De Kalb, Ill., at 2:00 p.m. and landed at 2:30, after it was shot with a pistol. The trio was reported fishing in D'Graffinreid Lake below Monroe on the Ouachita river near Bosco. It weighed 150 pounds and was seven feet in length.

QUOTA IS RAISED FOR FLOOD RELIEF

Local Chapter Now Is Requested To Reach Goal Of 1,900

Additional contributions to the local Red Cross fund for relief of flood sufferers in Kansas were reported Saturday by McVea Oliver, chairman of the Ouachita parish Red Cross chapter.

New donors were Alberta Decatur, Field's Woman's Shop, United Carbon Company, F. Strauss and Son, Inc., Collins Electric Company, Inc., H. Mickel Dry Goods Company, C. E. Faulk, O. N. McNeil, Monroe Bearing Company, Mrs. V. O. Allen, Jr.

In order to afford flood - stricken families the necessary rehabilitation aid — such as repair and rebuilding and refurnishing of homes, medical care, and occupational needs — the local chapter has been asked to double its original campaign quota. The goal is now $1,900 of which $428 has been raised.

When flood waters receded in the Armourdale section of Kansas City, Kan., the interior of Stockton's Drug Store was a mud-coated shambles, typical of the devastation left in the wake of the four-state disaster.

Typical, too is the scene taking place within the shattered shop. Red Cross worker, Mrs. A. J. Renfro, discusses rebuilding and repair plans with the young owner. She provides ample demonstration of how the American Red Cross is assisting small businesses in which a family's entire livelihood is tied up. But whether it is a small business, a farm, or a home that is destroyed, Red Cross is on hand to give aid to victims of the catastrophe.

Latest figures reveal that about 26,000 families will register for emergency or rehabilitation assistance from the Red Cross. More than 7,000 of these families will require help in rebuilding or repairing their homes, while more than 11,000 will need assistance in replacing furniture. Mr. Oliver today again urged local citizens to give their fullest support to the disaster relief appeal.

Tallulah Lions Continue Active

Tallulah, La., Aug. 11.—(Special)—The Tallulah Lions Club continues to be active in its program of community service and participation in Lions Club activities. Representatives of the organization who attended the thirtieth anniversary in Monroe were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wall, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stewart and W. B. Adams. They were impressed by the well planned program and the interesting speakers, Miss Karleen Guilbeau of Sunset, La., and Roderick Beddow of Birmingham, Ala.

At the next meeting of the local club Emmett Craig of the Tallulah town council will speak on the various aspects of city government, past developments in Tallulah and future plans.

As an item of community service the club recently purchased a tricycle for a polio victim of Madison parish, stricken in 1949 and not yet able to walk but who is in need of the tricycle as part of the recommended therapy.

Bob Thomas In Movieland

Hollywood, Aug. 11. —(AP)— Josephine Baker, longtime toast of France, made a triumphant debut to Hollywood this week, netting $24,000 in a one-night performance.

The American Negress' performance contributed a considerable amount to the Damon Runyon memorial cancer fund, which is show business' principal charity. he sepia performer displayed her songs and talents in a one-night performance before the cream of Hollywood society at the showcase night club, Mocambo.

Among the viewers were Jane Wyman and Greg Bautzer, Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh, Lex Barker and Arlene Dahl, Tyrone Power and Linda Christian, Ann Sheridan, Margaret O'Brien, Joan Crawford and Cesar Romero, Dinah Shore and George Montgomery, and Mr. and Mrs. Van Johnson.

It was one of Hollywood's most gala nights. Among the celebrants were Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, who created an impromptu floor show, together with Emcee George Jessel. In a midsummer lull, Hollywood night life received a much-needed spurt.

The television networks are making big plans for their prize comics to do their shows from this end of the continent starting this fall. But no decision has been announced yet on a pesky problem: The time differential.

For instance, if Jimmy Durante does his show to be seen by the eastern audience at eight o'clock Saturday night, it would be five o'clock here. That's not a good viewing time for Pacific coasters.

Since the larger, eastern audience is always favored, it appears that the shows will have to be filmed and shown at a later hour for westerners. That won't please the Californians, whose major beef has been the poor quality of the kinescopes.

Perhaps the networks can come up with a better solution. .. .

New item: "Warners preparing third version of 'Desert Song.'" Oh, no! . . .

Among the silliest things about the movies are the ad lines to advertise them. Here's the one I noted on a theater advertising the latest Humphrey Bogart flicker: "He got what he wanted at night!" . . .

Job I wouldn't want: Frank Sinatra's press agent. . . .

I am not in the habit of swiping from other columns. But Irving Hoffman had an item which bears repeating. It's J. E. Williams' analysis of some stars sins: 1. Being too easy - going, accepting "walk-through roles" with no bite (Ray Milland, David Niven); 2. Being too choosey and mistaking a pretentious piece for a masterpiece (James Mason); 3. Acting a screen character while off-screen (Clifton "Belvedere" Webb); 4. Aging 25 years overnight (Charles Boyer); 5. Remaining adolescent for 15 years (Mickey Rooney).

Summer is a good time to wash feature pillows. Choose a dry, windy day when the sun is hot. For best results, empty feathers into a large muslin bag three or four times as big as the pillow to be washed. This is done by opening one end of the pillow ticking, and sewing the opening to the mouth of the muslin bag, which then is sewn together at the top. Wash muslin bag of feathers either by hand or in washing machine, using preferably a detergent, which leaves no soap scum. After thorough rinsing drain and shake out as much water as possible, but do not put through wringer. Hang bag to dry, shaking and fluffing several times during the process. The ticking is washed separately, and when both are dry, feathers are replaced in original cover and the open end is restitched.

Marmalade, made out of peaches or ripe tomatoes now, will come in handy during winter months. Be sure to store the marmalade in a cool, dry, dark place.

NOW AT PARAMOUNT

Not talking! Detective Regis Toomey listens for an explanation from Richard Erdman, whose alibi has freed Dick Powell from prison, but Erdman, apparently deep in drink, divulges nothing. The scene is from "Cry Danger" which opens a three-day engagement at the Paramount Theater today.

Dick Powell And Rhonda Fleming Are Co-Stars Of 'Cry Danger' Here Today

Exciting Story Of Man Sent To Prison On False Charges At Paramount

Opening at the Paramount today, for a three - day engagement is the exciting story of a man sent to prison on false charges, and who on his release sets out to find those who betrayed him, is developed in the Dick Powell-Rhonda Fleming starring vehicle, "Cry Danger."

An Olympic Production distributed by RKO Radio, this suspenseful film brings Powell back to the screen in the hard - bitten type of role that has featured his screen career since "Murder, My Sweet." Rhonda Fleming protrays the wife of a man who was sent to prison with Powell and is still incarcerated. It is a strictly modern dramatic role for Miss Fleming, in contrast with that of the princess in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" as Bing Crosby's romantic interest.

The supporting cast features four players. Regis Toomey portrays a tough yet sympathetic detective not sure of Powell's innocence, but ready to play along with him until the truth is proven and justice served. Dick Erdman, rapidly coming to the front as a film actor, plays a one - legged ex - marine whose testimony frees Powell from prison.

The sinister influence in the pictue is acted by William Conrad, who played one of the killers in "The Killers." Jean Porter, pert faced and tiny, is a gold - digging blonde who somehow manages to get a certain amount of sympathy for herself before the screen story is completed.

Directed by Robert Parrish from William Bower's screen play based on a story by Jerome Cady, the film was made under the aegis of producers Sam Wiesenthal and W. R. Frank.

If you serve sandwiches often for summer lunches try a new combination occasionally. Here are three suggestions for delicious sandwich spread: Chopped chicken and almonds with boiled dressing; delived egg mixed with devilled ham; cream cheese, chipped beef, and chives.

NOW AT TEM

Jane Powell and Vic Damone are the singing sweethearts of M-G-M's melody - filled Technicolor musical, "Rich, Young and Pretty," current attraction at the TEM Theatre. Damone, America's Hit Parade headliner, makes his screen debut in the new production, with the big cast also starring Danielle Darrieux, Wendell Corey and Fernando Lamas.

SHORTLY AFTER JACK TOOK OFF IN THE FLYING BOXCAR,

--HE SPOTTED THE CRIMSON HAMMER BOARDING AN OLD C-47 IN A VALLEY!

LOOK! THRU TH' BINOCULARS!

SMILIN' JACK

THEY'RE HEADING FOR TH' MEXICAN BORDER! ···THIS PLANE IS FASTER THAN THEIRS··· WE CAN OVERTAKE THEM··· BUT···

HOW CAN WE STOP 'EM?

···THERE'S NO ARMAMENT ABOARD THIS CARGO PLANE··· IF WE ONLY HAD A BOMB!

BOMB? SAY! DID I SAY BOMB?

···IT JUST DAWNED ON ME··· WE'VE GOT TH' BIGGEST BOMB IN TH' WORLD!

···THIS C-120 HAS TH' NEW DETACH ABLE BOX-CAR POD!

···WE'LL PULL UP DIRECTLY ABOVE THEM···

···AND DROP OUR BOXCAR ON THAT OLD C-47 AND SEND THOSE SUBVERSIVE AGENTS CRASHING TO THE GROUND!

···THERE'S NO TELLING HOW MUCH VITAL SECURITY INFORMATION THEY HAVE ABOARD THAT PLANE!

AS JACK STARTS TO PULL THE LEVERS THAT WILL DROP THE BOXCAR ON THE C-47···· LITTLE DOES HE REALIZE THAT···

ZACK MOSLEY

···HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW, HOT-ROD HAPPY, IS ABOARD THE C-47, ALONG WITH THE CRIMSON HAMMER AND HER SUBVERSIVE GANG!

The PHANTOM
By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY

HE DIDN'T PICK IT UP! HE DUG AWAY THE EARTH~
~AND GAVE IT A LITTLE SHOVE~
~AND LET IT ROLL DOWN THE HILL!
THE PHANTOM IS TRYING TO PROVE TO THE CANNIBALS THAT HE IS THE PHANTOM~BY DUPLICATING HIS GRANDFATHER'S FEATS!

HE DIDN'T DO IT!
HE DID!
THE LEGEND SAYS THE PHANTOM MOVED THE GREAT ROCK FIFTY PACES~AND THIS ONE WHO CLAIMS TO BE THE PHANTOM~HAS DONE IT.

NOW, IF YOU ARE THE PHANTOM~YOU WILL KILL A TIGER WITH NO WEAPONS~NOT EVEN A ROPE!
AND OUR SCOUTS ARE BEATING THE BRUSH TO FIND A BIG ONE FOR YOU~WHO CLAIM TO BE THE IMMORTAL PHANTOM!

THAT STONE TRICK SAVED US FROM THEIR STEW POTS FOR A FEW MINUTES MORE~HOW MUCH LONGER~~?
HOW CAN WE THANK YOU FOR DOING ALL THIS TO SAVE US?
SAVE YOU? IT'S PARTLY FOR THAT~AND FOR ANOTHER REASON~~

"BECAUSE OF THE PHANTOM LAW, MOST OF THE JUNGLE IS SAFE AND HAPPY. IT TOOK THE PHANTOM FOUR CENTURIES TO DO THAT~~

WILSON McCOY 8-12
"IF I FAIL HERE, LAW ENDS~THE JUNGLE WILL RETURN TO SAVAGERY."

DOES THAT MEAN~THAT YOU'RE REALLY~FOUR HUNDRED YEARS OLD?

BRINGING UP FATHER

by GEO McMANUS

JIGGS-DO YOU REMEMBER IN TH' OLD DAYS WHEN KATY KIKATY HAD TO DRAG HER KIDS TO SCHOOL IN THE MORNIN' AND HAD TO DRAG HER HUSBAND HOME IN THE EVENIN'?

AN' "MOOSEHEAD" HOGAN ALWAYS HAD HIS COLD FEET IN TH' STOVE- AN' EVERY TIME HE WAS OFFERED A JOB HE PRETENDED HE DIDN'T HEAR-BUT HE'D HEAR A WHISPER IF IT SAID-"I'M BUYIN' - WHAT'LL YOU HAVE?"

AN' LIZZY McDUGAN FELL IN LOVE WITH MIKEY HAGAN BECAUSE HE WAS AT HOME ON A FENCE-HE MARRIED HER-NOW HE'S ON THE DEFENSE!!

WHEN THE CITY REMOVED THE LAMPPOSTS-"BUTCH" O'RYAN QUIT THE FORCE AN' HE NEVER HAD A LEANING FOR WORK AFTER THAT--

AN' POOR LITTLE MARY ELLEN O'HUGHKID'S JOB EVERY DAY WAS TO LACE UP HER SISTER "TINY"-NOW SHE IS GROWN UP AND HAS LEARNED TO DO THE HULA-HULA PUTTIN' ON HER GIRDLE!

BUT BASEBALL HASN'T CHANGED MUCH-SAME YAK-YAKS FROM THE BLEACHERS AN' TH' SAME LANGUAGE FROM TH' PLAYERS- OLD UMPIRES NEVER DIE- BUT SOME ARE NEARLY KILLED-

AN' "BIMBO" McGILLAN WAS THE LEADER IN HIS DISTRICT-THEN HE GOT MARRIED AN' HIS LEADERSHIP ENDED-

GEO McMANUS

AN' AT OLD TIMMY O'TOOLE'S TAVERN- IF ALL THE FISH BALLS AN' PRETZELS WERE GONE ON THE FREE LUNCH COUNTER-YOU KNEW "EAGLE BEAK" TUTTLE HAD BEEN IN AND GONE!!

AN' AT THE OLD CLAMBAKES-THE DANCERS STOOD SO FAR APART SOMETIMES THEY DIDN'T KNOW WHO THEY WUZ DANCIN' WITH- AN' YOU'D LOOK AS IF SOMEONE THREW A CAT IN YOUR FACE FROM TH' HAT PIN SCRATCHES!

WHEN JERRY TH' BARBER WAS ABOUT TO POP TH' QUESTION- HE SAT TOO CLOSE TO TH' GAS JET AND HIS CELLULOID COLLAR EXPLODED-BEFORE HE GOT OUT OF TH' HOSPITAL SHE HAD SENT TH' MAN SHE MARRIED TO TH' HOSPITAL TWICE!

THAT BIG EAGLE CARVED ON THE CLIFF IS HOLDING AN ANCIENT TEMPLE IN ITS CLAWS!

COME ON, SPUD...LET'S GET AWAY FROM THESE BOILING MUDHOLES!

IT'S A CINCH SNOWBALL DIDN'T COME THIS WAY!

HE PROB'LY HEADED FOR THAT GROVE OF TREES! LET'S GO!

IT'S FUNNY WE CAN'T PICK UP SNOWBALL'S TRAIL...

SNOWBALL'S TRICKY, BUT AN ELEPHANT SHOULD LEAVE SOME TRACE!

I SMELL SMOKE!

THERE IT IS! A CAMP!

THAT'S WHAT YOU THINK! LOOK BEHIND US!

THERE'S NO ONE AROUND!

REACH, BOYS! WHO ARE YOU LOOKING FOR?

SN-SNOWBALL, OUR PET WHITE PIGMY ELEPHANT!

AN ELEPHANT? ARE YOU SURE YOU'RE NOT LOOKING FOR SOMETHING ELSE?

HONEST, MISTER ...WE'LL LEAVE RIGHT AWAY!

YOU LADS CAN PUT YOUR HANDS DOWN... I-I HAVE TO BE CAREFUL OF STRANGERS ...MY NAME IS DUNEDIN, AND I AM HERE ON A VERY IMPORTANT MISSION! TAKE A LOOK IN THAT LITTLE BOX ON THE TABLE AND YOU'LL SEE WHY!

IT'S A BRILLIANT LIGHT!

AND IT'S COMING FROM A TINY ROCK IN THE BOX!

FLASH GORDON

by MAC RABOY and DON MOORE

REALIZING THAT THE MARTIANS ARE DRAINING THE AIR FROM THEIR PIRATE SHIP, FLASH ORDERS DALE AND GINGER TO DON THEIR SPACE-HELMETS. "ALL TOGETHER, JUMP!" HE DIRECTS, AS HE OPENS THE PLASTIC EXIT-TUBE.

"HOLD FAST!" FLASH URGES, "THIS ONE-MAN ROCKET-DRIVE HAS TO PROPEL ALL THREE OF US TO OUR SPACE-ISLAND." HE SETS THE ROCKET-EXHAUST FOR FAST PICKUP, HOPING TO OVERTAKE THE DISTANT EARTH-SHIP.

FROM THE INVISIBLE MARTIAN PIRATE SHIP, A COSMI-CANNON FIRES AT THE FLEEING PRISONERS. "IT FELL SHORT--UNDERESTIMATED OUR SPEED," FLASH SAYS, DRAWING HIS RAY-GUN. "I'LL TRY TO SPOIL THEIR AIM!"

FLASH'S RAY-BLAST SCORES A LUCKY HIT ON THE ELECTRO-SCREEN THAT KEPT THE MARTIAN SHIP INVISIBLE TO SIGHT AND RADAR. "THAT MAY SCARE THEM," HE SAYS. "THEY DON'T KNOW WHAT SECRET WEAPONS WE CAN USE NOW THAT THEIR SHIP IS VISIBLE."

THE MARTIAN SHIP EDGES AWAY. "CALLING DR. RUFF ON SPACE-PLATFORM," FLASH RADIOS. "OPEN THE AIRLOCK FOR US -- BUT HAVE WEAPONS READY. THERE'S A SPY FROM MARS ON DECK." PIRATE CAPTAIN TOXO GRINS IN AGREEMENT, AS HE AIMS HIS SPACE GUN AT FLASH!

SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE THAT IN 7 OUT OF 10 CASES, COLGATE'S INSTANTLY STOPS BAD BREATH THAT ORIGINATES IN THE MOUTH. AND NO OTHER TOOTHPASTE DOES A BETTER JOB OF CLEANING TEETH. COLGATE'S CLEANS TEETH THOROUGHLY AND SAFELY—BRINGS OUT THEIR NATURAL SPARKLE AND BEAUTY. COLGATE'S IS FAMOUS FOR ITS WONDERFUL WAKE-UP FLAVOR, TOO!

READER'S DIGEST Reported The Same Research Which Proves That Brushing Teeth Right After Eating with

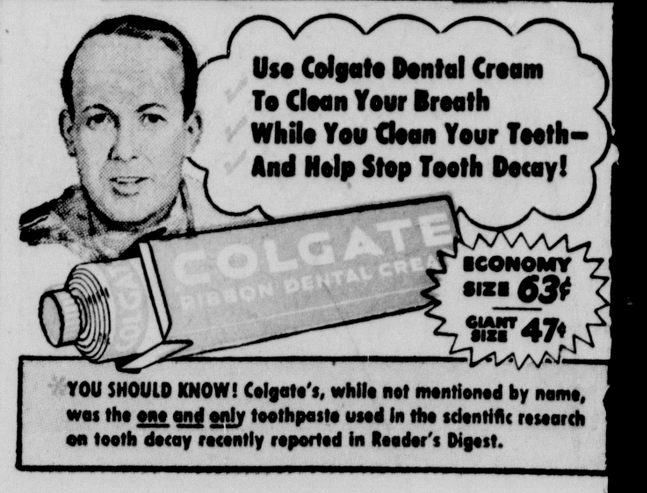
STOPS TOOTH DECAY BEST

Most Thoroughly Proved and Accepted Home Method Of Oral Hygiene Known Today!

Reader's Digest recently reported the very same research which proves that the Colgate way of brushing teeth right after eating stops tooth decay best! The most thoroughly proved and accepted home method of oral hygiene known today!

Yes, and two years' research showed the Colgate way stopped more decay for more people than ever before reported in all dentifrice history! No other dentifrice—ammoniated or not—offers such proof—the most conclusive proof ever reported for a dentifrice of any type!



YOU SHOULD KNOW! Colgate's, while not mentioned by name, was the one and only toothpaste used in the scientific research on tooth decay recently reported in Reader's Digest.
